Madrid Studies Franco's Terms for Peace

DEFENSE CHIEFS CONFER ON PLAN FOR SURRENDER

Envoys Pleased by Parley at Burgos.

MADRID, March 24.—(AP)—A Republican peace commission returned to Madrid from Burgos tonight with Generalissimo Francisco Franco's conditions for surrender of Republican Spain. The defense government of Gen. José Miaja met immediately to consider them.

Informed sources said that the negotiations were incomplete and that the mission was expected to return in the near future to Burgos, the Nationalist capital, where it had gone by airplane yesterday.

These sources denied reports that Franco would enter Madrid tomorrow and said it was highly improbable that the Nationalist leader, despite his advance arrangements for that purpose, could be ready to do so by that time even if his terms were accepted.

"Close to Final Accord."

[Dispatches from Burgos said there was no confirmation there that peace negotiations were under way and added that Franco was ready to launch a huge offensive if Madrid did not surrender. A Hendaye report, however, quoted the Irun Nationalist commander as saying the two factions were close to a final accord. Italian dispatches from Burgos reported surrender of Madrid was imminent and said Nationalist troops might march into that capital tomorrow.]

The peace commission was reported pleased with its reception in Burgos by the Nationalists, but the nature of Franco's terms was not disclosed. The generalissimo always has demanded unconditional surrender and has decreed penalties against Republicans found guilty of crimes and other offenses.

The Madrid government has held out for an "honorable peace" and for permission to evacuate those who fear they may be on Franco's "black list."

Promise "to Disband Army."

[A Bordeaux, France, newspaper reported that the Republican peace mission had promised to recognize Franco as the legitimate ruler of Spain, disband the Republican army, and remove mines set to blow up strategic centers in Madrid. The Nationalists were said to be considering the delegation's request that some Republican leaders be allowed to leave Spain.]

Madrid tonight still was on rations, and they were scanty ones. In Valencia food was a little more plentiful because it is in an agricultural region and on the coast, where some ships still evade Franco's blockade.

Chance for Mussolini.

ROME, March 24.—(AP)—Surrender of Madrid to Generalissimo Franco was reported imminent tonight in Italian dispatches from Burgos.

Reports of the negotiations for peace brought Italy's territorial claims on France to the front of Europe's tense situation, since consolidation of the remaining one-fourth of Spain under Franco might give his backer, Premier Mussolini, the occasion to announce Italy's plans of future action in a speech scheduled for Sunday.

Franco Receives Petain.

WILD MOUNTAIN KILLER SLAIN AS HE LOOTS BANK

Cody, Wyo., March 24.—[Special.]—Earl Durand, the mountain wild man who had been on a killing rampage for more than a week, put a bullet through his own head today after he had been shot through the chest in a gun battle with his home town folk at Powell, Wyo.

The raw meat eating desperado was shot down as he attempted to rob the Powell First National bank. A bank employé was killed in the wild shooting affray which followed. He was the fifth victim of the outlaw's murder craze. Durand previously had shot to death four Wyoming peace officers.

Durand slipped into Powell while the remnants of a posse of 100 men he had held at bay with his savage gunfire were still hunting him in the mountains about forty miles northwest of the little town he invaded to get funds.

Banker Describes Raid.

"Durand, whom I had known for years, stepped into the bank about 1:30 p. m. and remarked, 'Hello, Nelson,'" said the banker. "He looked a bit wild, but his hair, which he usually wore long, had been cut some time this winter.

"'Stick up your hands,' Durand told us. He had a 30-30 rifle in his hands, a six-shooter in his holster, and his pockets were bulging with ammunition.

"'I won't kill you if you do what I say, but no monkey business,' he ordered. 'Get over there and line up.' There were five customers in the bank and three other employés besides myself, John Gawthrop, teller; Maurice Knutson, cashier, and Edgar Swallow, vice president.

Forces Nine to Line Up.

"He made the nine of us line up with our faces to the wall. Then he grabbed all the money in the cash drawers, between $2,000 and $3,000, and put it in money bags.

"He told Knutson to open the safe in the vault. As the cashier went over to the vault, Durand started shooting with his rifle. He didn't aim at any of us, but fired into the walls and knocked out the windows. He fired at least forty or fifty shots while he was in the bank.

"'Open up that safe or I'll shoot, he told Knutson. Knutson said he couldn't open it. Durand then took a rawhide thong out of his pocket and tied three of us together—Gawthrop, Knutson, and myself. Tugging on the thong, he said: 'Come on boys; we're going out.'

Gathers Up Money Bags.

"Gawthrop was in front as he pushed us toward the door and gathered up the money bags.

"All of a sudden bullets started flying from outside. Durand's shooting had attracted the citizens of Powell and they had come with their guns. Durand started shooting around Gawthrop. A moment later Gawthrop dropped, fatally wounded, apparently hit by a wild bullet."

The story is taken up at this point by Tipton Cox, a high school boy of 17, whose shot brought down the desperado.

Boy Tells of Shooting.

"I was on my way back to school after dinner when I saw a lot of people running down the street," said young Cox. "Somebody yelled to me from Otis Roulette's filling station: 'Get inside before you get shot. Earl Durand's in the bank.'

"I ran inside the filling station, where six or seven men were standing. Just then the shooting started inside the bank and we all ducked. Roulette took down his 30-30 rifle and loaded it.

"Durand came out to the bank door. Standing there, he shot across the street into the drug store. Then he turned and started shooting at the filling station. Roulette handed me the rifle. I was kneeling in front of the others, inside the station door.

"Resting my elbow on my knee, I

TOO MUCH PROTECTION

Jurors Acquit Konkowski in Bribery Case

Ald. Frank E. Konkowski [26th] and Stephen Idzikowski were found not guilty by a Criminal court jury early today on charges that they accepted bribes for promises of police jobs.

The verdict was returned at 2:10 a. m., only five minutes before Judge William J. Lindsay, who presided at the trial, had intended locking the jurors up for the night. On being notified by the judge that they were to be locked up the jurors sent back word that they would have a verdict in a few minutes. Shortly afterward the verdict was reached. The jury had been out nine hours.

Both Elated by Verdict.

Only a few persons were in court. Ald. Konkowski grinned widely as he heard the words "not guilty." Idzikowski, at one time his precinct captain in the 26th ward, also showed elation. Idzikowski's wife and daughter hugged him. Both men thanked the jurors.

Although William E. Saunders, 3802 North Western avenue, the foreman, and his fellow jurors declined to discuss the trial, it was reported that they at one time stood six to six.

Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Bugan, who prosecuted the case, was admittedly disgusted with the verdict. In his closing argument he had told the jury that "your verdict will be either a message to those in political life to conduct themselves honestly or to run riot."

"What's the use?" he exclaimed after the verdict. "What's the use of trying these cases if the public and the juries feel this way?"

Accused of Taking $600.

The specific charge against the alderman and Idzikowski was that they accepted $600 from George Fronskawicz, 2432 North Springfield avenue, to get him on the police force. Fronskawicz testified. He said the men promised he would be in a favorable position on the police list. But when the list was posted last September his name was not on it. Other witnesses testified to two other alleged bribes.

Konkowski and Idzikowski testified and denied the accusations. Their attorney, James M. Burke, in his closing talk, characterized the case as a political frameup.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE FOUR LETTER WORD CAN MAKE IN A CAT!

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 24.—(AP)—When a woman called for a policeman today to "get a cat from under the house," Officer Vincent Moncrief rushed out to do his duty. Returning to the station, Moncrief reported he did not remove the cat. "She didn't tell me it was a pole cat," he protested.

SUSPECT OBLIGES AT SHOWUP; FACES ROBBERY CHARGE

Charles Franklin Oldham, 28 years old, of Jonesboro, Ark., faced a robbery charge yesterday because he is too obliging.

Oldham was arrested Thursday on a shoplifting charge. At showup time a policeman asked for volunteers. Oldham agreed to be viewed. As he was strolling across the platform Michael Witrykus, whose restaurant at 2615 West 35th street was held up Monday night, identified Oldham as the robber.

Oldham admits the shoplifting charge, police said, but denies the holdup. On Monday night, he said, he panhandled the Union station from 6 to 9:30, made $1.60, and went to a flophouse. He was sleeping at 10:30, he said. The holdup was at 10:35. Witrykus signed a complaint against Oldham.

Cowboy Wins 2,000 Mile Horse Race and 4 Kisses

Oakland, Cal., March 24.—(AP)—Shannon Davidson, 23 years old, Texas cowboy, won a 2,000 mile pony express race today and received four kisses from a pretty girl. He left Nocona, Tex., March 1, and defeated seventeen other contestants in the horseback marathon. At Treasure Island Miss Enid Justin of Nocona presented him with 750 new dollars and added the kisses for good measure. A crimson blush surged through Davidson's tan.

This Item Will Interest Chicago Criminals Only

Notice was served on criminals yesterday that things will be even tougher for them in Chicago from now on. The city council authorized the police department to purchase sixty-three new police squad cars at a cost of $50,338 and to spend $11,425 for 631,000 bullets.

Boy Drowned; Pal Saved by Hero Swimmer

Two boys took a tiny sailboat without a keel into the lake off 54th street yesterday afternoon. It was a crude craft, with a curtain pole for a mast, a bed sheet for a sail and safety pins for fastenings.

James Emmons.

A puff of wind came and the two amateur sailors were tossed into the calm but chill waters. One was drowned. The other was saved by the heroic action of a youth who swam a quarter of a mile out and dragged him ashore.

The lad who lost his life was James Emmons, 15 years old, of 6609 Drexel avenue. Russell Benson, 17 years old, 4965½ Lake Park avenue, was rescued. The hero is Clifford Youmans, 18 years old, 5109 Kimbark avenue.

Watches Boat Capsize.

Youmans, resting on the shore after he had spent hours looking for a full time job [he has been a newspaper boy since he graduated from high school last June] saw the capsizing of the boat. He saw Emmons attempt to cling to its stern. He saw Benson, none too good a swimmer, start slowly toward land.

Without hesitation he shed his jacket, his shoes and his trousers and plunged into the lake. He seized a piece of driftwood, and pushing it ahead of him, drove his six foot two inch frame with powerful strokes toward the boat.

Crowd Cheers Rescuer.

The Emmons boy sank before his arrival, but he thrust the driftwood into Benson's hands and pushed and pulled him through the surf to safety. A cheer rose from the crowd of hundreds that had gathered.

Benson collapsed. He and Youmans were taken to the Illinois Central hospital, where it was said Benson's condition, because of the exposure and his exhaustion, was such he could not be moved.

Spurns Bribe; Saves Bishop's Grandchild

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—Two kidnapers attempted tonight to abduct Elizabeth Coale, 3 years old, granddaughter of Bishop William T. Manning of the Episcopal church, but were foiled by the colored butler in the Coale home.

Police guard immediately was established at the Coale home, an old fashioned brownstone building at 125 West 11th street in Greenwich Village. Bishop Manning, who is rector of the huge cathedral of St. John the Divine on Morningside Heights, and leader of the New York Episcopal diocese, was notified.

Daughter of Noted Artist.

The child, who was saved from harm, is the daughter of Griffith B. Coale, noted landscape artist, and the former Miss Elizabeth Manning, one of Bishop Manning's two daughters.

Elizabeth was in her nursery on an upper floor with her nurse about 7 p. m. when the kidnapers appeared at the front door. They rang the doorbell. Thomas Wilson, the colored butler, responded.

"Is Mrs. Coale the daughter of Bishop Manning?" asked one of the men.

The butler replied "yes," then noted that the men were strangers.

"She's got a little girl, hasn't she?" the man asked. "Is the little girl asleep with the nurse?" Wilson nodded.

Tries to Bribe Butler.

Then the man took a wallet from his pocket. He drew two $500 bills, pushed them toward Wilson, and whispered: "Play ball with me, fellow. There's $1,000 in it for you if we get the child."

"Get away," cried the butler, "or I'll call police." Then he slammed the door. The men fled, and escaped in a car. Wilson immediately notified police, and then called Mr. and Mrs. Coale who were at dinner at the time with Newbold Morris, president of the New York city council.

Double Hero to Child.

Mr. Coale after hearing the butler's story said he believed the men were cranks. He said he never had been threatened, nor had he received extortion letters. He voiced utmost faith in Wilson who by tonight's event became somewhat of a double hero to Elizabeth. Last September when the hurricane struck the Coale summer home in Connecticut he saved her from drowning.

Police accept the story at face value and in addition to placing a guard at the Coale home detailed a detective to accompany the child outside the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Coale were married in 1933. Bishop Manning officiated. The Coales are socially prominent.

Jimmy's Lost Goldfish Turns Up a Mile Away

Philadelphia, Pa., March 24.—(AP)—It was something like looking for a needle in a haystack, but James Kelly, 12 years old, found the goldfish he let slip down a drain. Jimmy told his loss to the chief engineer of the city disposal plant, a mile from the Kelly home. He found the fish—alive, too—while making a sedimentation test.

OFFER TO SPEND 250 MILLION TO WIN WPA FUND

Democrats Resort to Logrolling Tactics.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Congressional economy advocates who have been demanding that President Roosevelt assume leadership or at least coöperate in an effort to curtail federal spending were disillusioned in the house of representatives today.

With the sanction and connivance of administration leaders in that body, Democrats from large cities were offering members from the south and west 250 million dollars in farm parity subsidies in return for support of the President's request for a 150 million dollars deficiency relief appropriation.

Logrolling is one of the oldest of legislative expedients for raiding the public treasury, but seldom is it done openly, with appeals for a quid pro quo on the floor of the house, as it was done today.

Debate Appropriation Bill.

The big city Democrats made their offer as the house debated the 1 billion 67 million dollar agriculture department appropriation bill. The appropriations committee increased the budget allowance for so-called soil conservation farm subsidies from 485 million to 500 million dollars and then went entirely outside the budget to add 250 million dollars in parity payments for good measure.

Representative Adolph J. Sabath [D., Ill.], veteran farmer of South Ashland avenue and the Graemere hotel, in Chicago, who is chairman of the rules committee, was the first administration leader to promise support of the 250 million item for parity subsidies.

Mr. Sabath said he had supported farm bills for thirty years. He took the position, however, that there should be some reciprocity between the farmers and the city dwellers.

Urges Help for Cities.

"If men from the farm states want our help on parity payments they should help us get the 150 million dollars for relief," he told the house.

House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.] was more discreet but just as active in assisting the great logrolling operation. As a representative from the great cotton producing state of Texas it was to his interest to get the quarter of a billion for the farmers, and as the Democratic leader it was his duty to President Roosevelt to get the 150 million for the WPA.

The logrolling appeals, however, were coming mostly from the big city members. The farm state representatives appeared to have all the votes they needed to retain the 250 million dollar parity item and were not making any unnecessary promises. The parliamentary situation was all in their favor.

Vote on Subsidies First.

The house will vote first on the farm subsidies, and then the southerners and westerners can do as they please when the relief bill comes up. Also, there is no way they can be put on a spot by a roll call if the committee amendment, adding the quarter billion, is unchanged. If it should be cut by the committee of the whole house, a separate roll call vote could be demanded later.

Representative Michael J. Bradley [D., Pa.], who comes from Philadelphia, made one of the frankest logrolling speeches. He said there was more than 1 billion dollars in the agriculture department bill that didn't benefit his district one cent.

"We don't even have as much as a flower pot in our district," he said. "We would like to go along [with the farmers], but we would like to have some assurances that if we do we will get a real consideration from the appropriations committee [on the relief bill]."

Representative Malcolm C. Tarver [D., Ga.], a member of the appropriations sub-committee considering the President's 150 million relief request, reproved his colleagues for engaging in "what is commonly referred to as logrolling."

GREEN CHARGES KELLY PLAYS ON HUMAN MISERY

Raps 'Regimentation' of Needy Voters.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Dwight H. Green, Republican nominee for mayor, yesterday reiterated charges that the Kelly-Nash organization has made a political football of relief in Chicago. In a radio address and later at four ward meetings Green said that in February one of every five persons was receiving public assistance, and that all relief agencies had been regimented into a huge vote getting machine.

"The Kelly-Nash machine has made a mockery of relief," said Green. "It is deplorable that people on relief are subjected to humiliation. Even on primary day, when every American should enjoy his fullest freedom, these people were forced, regimented, coerced, and intimidated.

Finds Conditions Bad.

"I have cited the reports of teachers to show that school conditions are bad. I have cited reports of policemen to prove the situation in their department is also bad. I have cited reports of doctors to bear out statistics showing that some of the health conditions are worse in Chicago than in any other city in the country.

"Another authority shows that more industries are moving out of Chicago than are moving in. The Association of Commerce recently announced that high taxes and fear of racketeers have driven many industries from the city. The result is excessive unemployment. Federal statistics show there are more persons unemployed in Chicago today than at any other time.

"With honest, efficient, and economical government in Chicago these people could be holding down good jobs in those industries that have been driven away or kept from coming here.

Promises Cut in Taxes.

"When elected I will bring about a drastic reduction of taxes. I will do this by adopting and enforcing a business-like government, free from graft, extravagance, and padded pay rolls. I will give every assistance a city government can to new industries and to industries already established. Introduction of these business-like methods, combined with a systematic reduction of taxes and restoration of confidence and coöperation between industry and government will inevitably result in the creation of more honest, substantial jobs.

"Relief is no longer sympathetic. It has become an agency of a political machine built by men who seek only to perpetuate themselves in office. The whole system has been turned into a vehicle of the Kelly mechine."

Green said high taxes have had disastrous effect on small business men and manufacturers, on building, and on expansion of industries.

Cites Building Outlook.

"Building of homes in Chicago," he said, "has been reduced because people fear their taxes will go even higher. Until we destroy the political machine that has created this situation we will have fear, tremendous taxes, and no building, which means unemployment.

"Official reports for February show one of every five persons in our city received public assistance. At the time the city administration issued this official report it claimed in another statement that industries are moving into Chicago. One report proves the other unfounded. The Kelly machine will continue to keep you unemployed if it can. It wants you to be a slave to this monster machine which fattens on human misery. If all the unemployed were put back to work the machine would collapse of its own weight."

GENOA RESIDENT DIES AT 73.

Surprise Job

MRS. FLORENCE LYNCH.

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—Mrs. Florence Clarke Lynch has been nominated by President Roosevelt as appraiser of the port of New York to succeed her husband, Thomas M Lynch, who died Feb. 26. She says her new job is a complete surprise, and added "my only experience outside the home has been teaching kindergarten." If the senate approves the nomination, she will have 800 people under her and be responsible for the tarif on 60 per cent of the imports into the United States.

POLITICAL NOTES

Mayor Kelly has driven commercialized vice in Chicago to its lowest ebb in years, Clifford W. Barnes, president of the Chicago Sunday Evening club and of the Committee of Fifteen, vice-fighting organization, asserted yesterday. Barnes wrote the mayor that because of his help and that of Police Commissioner Allman commercialized prostitution is more nearly under control than it has been for years.

More than 100,000 signed pledge cards for Dwight H. Green, G. O. P. mayoral nominee, are expected to be turned into headquarters today, according to Dr. W. H. Reid, in charge of the cards. Ward organizations, Young Republicans and others are to send in their week's collection today. Reid said pledge cards now exceed 500,000.

Clement A. Nance, Republican nominee for city treasurer, at his meetings last night said: "Now is the time for Chicago voters to indicate that the efforts of the national administration to inject us into foreign affairs and another foreign war do not meet with the approval of Chicago citizens."

RUSSIAN COURT RUSHES TO AID OF PHILANDERERS

MOSCOW, March 24.—(AP)—The soviet supreme court today came to the relief of fathers who have been contributing most of their salaries for the support of children by different mothers.

A father heretofore has been required to pay one-fourth of his salary to a mother for the support of one child, one-third for two children and one-half for three or more offspring.

Where four different mothers were involved, this meant the father was paying his entire salary to various women. The court ruled that a man cannot be compelled to pay more than half his salary no matter how many mothers have claims against him.

HORNER ADVISERS SUPPORT KELLY'S MAYORAL RACE

Labor Leaders Also Give Their Backing.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Frank and complete support of Mayor Kelly was given yesterday by two of Gov. Horner's leading Chicago advisers—James M. Slattery, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, and Charles K. Schwartz, tax commissioner, at a meeting of state employés.

Both men urged all state jobholders in Chicago to work with their Democratic ward committeemen to pile up a record vote for the mayor on April 4.

Kelly was present in a big room in the commerce commission offices, 160 North La Salle street, when this advice was given by the Horner leaders. The meeting was composed of department heads in the various state offices in Chicago, but the messages were intended both for them and those under them.

Pleads for United Party.

"The fact that you are state employés does not mean that you are not vitally interested in the outcome of the city election," Slattery told the group. "You are interested and very much so, because we all are looking to a united party for the big battle that is to come in 1940."

The mayor, who was accompanied by Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], said:

"If Gov. Horner were back in Chicago today in good health, I am sure he would be on this platform with me, urging you all to bury the past and look to a united Democratic party."

Commissioner Schwartz indorsed what Slattery had told the crowd.

In another appearance of equal political importance, the mayor spoke before a large group of labor leaders at a luncheon in the Bismarck hotel. This was attended by most of the labor chiefs who supported State's Attorney Courtney in the primary fight, as well as those who backed the mayor.

Courtney Men Attend.

Among the former Courtney men at the tables were Joseph B. Keenan, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and Leslie G. Goudie, president of the Teamsters and Chauffeurs Joint Council. Martin J. Durkin, director of the state department of labor by appointment of Gov. Horner, was another present.

"This gathering," said James W. Close, president of the Sheet Metal Workers union and co-chairman of the Kelly labor division, "represents a solid labor front supporting Mayor Kelly's reëlection. The leaders and the rank and file of union labor recognize that the mayor has been a true friend of working men and women. Any doubt about where labor stands in this campaign must be removed."

The mayor told the meeting that he had "been raised in the labor movement." He said that 99 per cent of the labor leaders worked hard and constructively for their memberships and are "the kind of men who would rather iron out difficulties than call strikes."

Address Ward Meetings.

In his speeches before ward meetings last night, the mayor told of the united labor support pledged to him during the day. He said he had received this commendation because he has been fair with labor.

He followed his rule of not mentioning the name of his Republican opponent, Dwight H. Green, but he did say:

"I've heard promises of more relief and in the next breath talk of cutting down the budget. I want the best government for the least money. Chicago will continue to get it without raising taxes. This campaign resolves itself into the question of who has the experience and who has not.

"I am answerable only to the people of Chicago. I will do what the people think best. My own belief may not agree with this, but it will come to agree, because water must find its own level."

Political Meetings Today

GREEN.

Career Opportunity luncheon, Hotel Sherman, 12:30 p. m.
Presbyterian church, 7300 Maryland avenue, 8 p. m.
Young Republicans, 1706 East 79th street, 10 p. m.

KELLY.

NEW INDICTMENT CHARGES MANTON GOT $10,000 BRIBE

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—Charges that Martin T. Manton, former senior judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, accepted a bribe of $10,000 to use his influence in a case pending in a lower court were made today in an indictment returned by the federal grand jury.

The defendant in the lower court case was John T. Lotsch, disbarred patent attorney and former banker. The judge was United States District Judge Edwin S. Thomas, who is also under investigation by the grand jury.

The indictment against Judge Manton, who resigned under fire, asserts that he received a bribe of $10,000 from Lotsch in March, 1936. Lotsch, accused of bribery, went on trial a short time later before Judge Thomas and was freed. He was rearrested in court and indicted again, but was freed in the Circuit court with Judge Manton presiding.

The indictment returned against Judge Manton today is the third voted against him in a month. Each named a separate co-defendant.

Crossing Watchman Held to Grand Jury as Burglar

Hoover Mobley, North Chicago crossing gateman who spent odd moments at burglary and the setting of fires, pleaded guilty yesterday before Magistrate J. B. Neahaus to three charges of malicious burning and one of burglary. He was held to the grand jury in $35,000 bonds and removed to the Lake county jail at Waukegan. Mobley's home is at 1722 Sheridan road in the suburb.

COUNTY TO PICK 26 JUDGES AT POLLS ON JUNE 5

Prospective Candidates Rated by Lawyers.

On June 5 voters will elect twenty judges to regular terms in the Circuit court, one to a regular term in the Superior court, and five to unfinished terms in the Superior court.

The Democratic and Republican county conventions will meet April 6 to name candidates for these offices. The two parties may name separate tickets or may name a coalition ticket. Indications are that there will be a coalition ticket. In such an event there will be only one candidate for each office instead of the usual two.

Bar Opposes Coalition.

Yesterday the Chicago Bar association went on record against a coalition ticket. It urged two full slates. At the same time the bar association revealed the results of a general questionnaire on the fitness of twenty sitting judges of the Circuit court and one of the Superior court who presumably are candidates for reëlection. Seventeen were indorsed.

It is believed that most, if not all, of these sitting judges will be indorsed at the April 6 conventions.

Acting on the assumption that the twenty Circuit and one Superior judges are candidates, the association recently sent questionnaires to its members, seeking their opinions as to the general fitness of the judges. Approximately 1,400 bar members filled out the questionnaires. Seven requirements for each judge, for a total possible score of 100, were listed.

Results List Judges.

The questionnaire results listed the judges in the following order of points: Hugo M. Friend, 97.92; David F. Matchett, 97.67; Joseph Burke, 95.34; Grover C. Niemeyer, 93.86; Kickham Scanlan, 93.49; Cornelius J. Harrington, 93.41; John Prystalski, 92.23; Walter J. LaBuy, 92.09; Frank H. Bicek, 91.80; Daniel P. Trude, 91.22; William V. Brothers, 91.16; Robert J. Dunne, 88.94; Philip J. Finnegan, 84.43; Thomas J. Lynch, 84.03; Benjamin P. Epstein, 74.84; D. J. Normoyle, 74.46; Michael Feinberg, 70.93; Harry M. Fisher, 61.79; George Fred Rush, 56.58; John R. Caverly, 48.42, and Stanley H. Klarkowski, 34.04.

All these judges are sitting in the Circuit court except Judge Niemeyer, who is in the Superior court.

Following tabulation of the questionnaire the bar committee on candidates refused to indorse Judges Klarkowski, Caverly, Feinberg, Normoyle, Rush, and Fisher, the six lowest in the bar vote. The board of managers, however, overruled the committee in the cases of Fisher and Feinberg and recommended their renomination.

No action was possible as to the candidates for the five unfinished terms in the Superior court because candidates for those terms will not be named until April 6.

Jury Decides Wife Held Gun with Which She Was Slain

A coroner's jury failed to determine yesterday whether the death of Mrs. Betty Prince, 38 years old, 732 Bittersweet place, was accidental or a suicide. But the jury decided that the gun which fired the fatal bullet, in the liquor store at 3914 Sheridan road, was held in her own hand. Her husband, Abe Prince, 46, who has been held since the shooting, was taken back to the Town Hall police station to be booked on a charge of disorderly conduct, said Capt. Patrick O'Connell.

The official record of 28,743 was set by Ruth Nichols. The barograph which Miss Cochran carried aloft showed she had soared nearly six and a half miles above sea level.

COUPLE BATTLE IN TWO COURTS OVER CHILDREN

The tangled Jayne divorce case came up yesterday simultaneously in two courts. The dispute started a year ago when Mrs. Mildred Jayne, 1110 Garfield boulevard, got a separate maintenance decree and the custody of her three children. Mrs. Jayne, then in ill health, gave custody of the children temporarily to their father's mother, Mrs. Katherine Jayne of Woodstock in McHenry county.

Mrs. Mildred Jayne.

When Mrs Jayne and Attorney Norman Becker went to Woodstock Sunday for the children the grandmother refused to give them up. Yesterday Becker appeared before Judge Philip J. Finnegan in Circuit court and made the grandmother a defendant and asked that she be cited for contempt.

At the same time, the husband, Frank, owner of a riding academy, appeared before Judge William L. Pierce in Woodstock and asked that the Cook county court be enjoined from entering any orders concerning the children. He charged fraud in connection with the original decree and asked that it be set aside. Judge Pierce continued a hearing on this motion until next Friday.

Left-Wing Americas Ask Fighting Democracy

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 24.—(AP)—The International Congress for Democracy of America tonight adopted a resolution defining inter-American democracy. Here is its definition: "A fighting force determined to take the measure of totalitarian régimes of Europe and Asia." The congress, made up of liberal and left wing political groups, pledged itself to work for aggressive measures against régimes identified with Chancellor Hitler, Premier Mussolini, and "Japanese militarists."

FISH ASKS GREEN VICTORY AS BLOW AT WARMONGERS

Calls City Campaign Key in G. O. P. Comeback.

Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], declared last night that Chicago's mayoralty campaign is being watched for an indication of a comeback of the Republican party in 1940. He said America's present need is to stop war talk and flirting with war, and that the election of Dwight H. Green as mayor would demonstrate that Chicago insists on keeping out of war.

The New York congressman, who was elected from President Roosevelt's home district, spoke at Lane Technical High school at a meeting of three north side Republican ward organizations.

Visions Chance for K. O. Blow.

"The election of Dwight Green," Fish said, " would be a knockout blow to the New Dealers and would insure Illinois being in the Republican column in 1940.

"The Republican party is against all foreign entanglements, naval alliances, war commitments, and the spread of war hysteria. It is opposed to being dragged into foreign wars by the New Deal campaign of hate, internationalism, and intervention. People of Chicago have an opportunity to elect Green and show the nation they have lost confidence in New Deal leadership and that they insist on keeping out of all foreign wars."

"One word from the White House," said Fish, "would stop the talk of war and the inevitableness of war. But not only is there no such word, but instead there is a steady flow of alarming and provocative statements that add fuel to the flames.

Holds War Talk a Smokescreen.

"I accuse the administration of instigating war propaganda and hysteria to cover up the failure and collapse of the New Deal policies with 12,000,000 unemployed and business confidence destroyed.

"I accuse the administration of conducting a childish and un-American campaign of name calling, hatred, and abuse that influences the war passions of foreign nations and our own people.

"Great Britain still expects every American to do her duty, by preserving the British empire and colonies. The war profiteers are all set for our participation in a new world war. The American people have been burned once. Let's have an end to all this war talk and hysteria and flirting with war and try to solve some of our own problems."

PARENTS HOLD HOPES FOR RECOVERY OF GIRL ASLEEP FOR ONE YEAR

A year ago today Mary Ellen Reardon, now 3 years old, dropped into an uneasy coma, a victim of sleeping sickness. Ever since she has lain in her nursery in her home at 3132 76th avenue, Elmwood Park, her blue eyes wide and unseeing. She has not spoken; her only sound has been an occasional faint whimper. She has grown two inches and her blonde curls brush her shoulders.

Several physicians who have attended the pretty, fragile child since encephalitis set in after an attack of measles, have abandoned hope for her. Yet her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Reardon, who have cared for her constantly, still are hopeful that she will recover.

"Doctors say scar tissue has formed over her brain," Mrs. Reardon said, sadly, "but we have been praying for her, and we keep hoping our prayers will be answered."

DELAY INQUEST IN FATAL BLAST.

The inquest into the death of Albert Gutofske, 46 years old, 4309 North Richmond street, a city employé, who was killed in a city water tunnel blast at 3425 South Kedzie avenue Thursday, was continued yesterday to April 6 to allow police to make a further inquiry.

INDICTED PAROLEE BRAGS OF BAGGING 30,000 CHICKENS

John Pastor, a paroled convict who calls himself the world's greatest chicken thief, was indicted yesterday by the Du Page county grand jury on charges of burglary and larceny. If convicted, he faces life imprisonment, because the indictment was under the habitual criminal act.

Pastor was arrested in his home at 2716 South Troy street by Sheriff Elmer Hoffman and Chief Deputy Arthur Bennett after a two month search for the thief who got forty-five chickens from an Elmhurst farmhouse.

"That 45 was nothing," bragged Pastor. "I've hit as high as 300 in one night. I guess I've stolen close to 30,000 chickens all together, averaging about $30 a week by selling them to restaurants."

Pastor said he started raiding henhouses in 1921, soon after he was paroled from Pontiac reformatory, where he had been sentenced for burglary. In 1934 he was seized near Libertyville with two bags full of hens and was sentenced to Joliet prison. He was paroled in November, 1937.

OVERCOME BY CAR FUMES; REVIVED.

James Calderhead, 53 years old, 7600 Eastlake terrace, was overcome by automobile exhaust fumes yesterday in a garage at 7519 Sheridan road. A fire department squad revived him. Members of the family said he was apparently overcome when the garage door blew shut.

HITLER CALLS ON HUNGARY TO TELL AIMS IN SLOVAKIA

Rumanian Minorities May Get Self-Rule.

BUDAPEST, March 24.—(AP)—The German minister to Budapest visited the Hungarian office twice tonight and was believed by diplomatic circles to have asked an explanation of fighting on the Carpatho-Ukraine-Slovak frontier.

Germany signed an agreement with Slovakia yesterday guaranteeing the integrity of the former Czecho-Slovak territory's frontiers for twenty-five years. Slovakia appealed to Berlin to stop invasion of its territory by Hungary.

After insisting throughout the day that military operations had ceased on the frontier, Hungarian officials tonight said they were "without information."

Slovakia Reports Fighting.

At Bratislava, Slovakia, it was stated that fighting continued on the Hungarian-Slovak frontier, which had been crossed by Hungarian troops from Carpatho-Ukraine. These troops apparently are holding control of the Ung valley and a railroad that extends to Poland.

Slovak planes, the Slovaks reported, bombed Sobrance, in eastern Slovakia, and hit a motorized column of twenty-five units. Tanks were bombed near Tibava, just south of Sobrance, and a Hungarian plane was shot down near Lucky and its pilot captured.

Rumanian authorities reported tonight that a Rumanian soldier was shot to death by two Hungarian soldiers in the Carpatho-Ukraine city of Halmeu. The Hungarians were alleged to have crossed the Rumanian frontier. The dead soldier was left where he fell that a commission may determine in which country he died.

Hungary reported that it was withdrawing its troops from the Rumanian border.

Rumanian Split-up Weighed.

Self-rule for the Hungarian and German minorities in Rumania is being discussed, it was reported tonight, by Germany, Hungary, and Rumania.

This development raised Hungary's hope that, with German aid, it may achieve peaceful penetration of both Rumania and Slovakia.

Within Rumania there are 1,200,000 Hungarians and 250,000 Saxons, whose ancestors went there from Germany centuries ago.

Should they win the right of self-rule, it is pointed out, they may become a political and economic wedge enabling Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany and his Hungarian allies to dominate Rumania.

Besides taking a hand in Rumania, Hungary hopes eventually to take Slovakia into its realm despite the Slovak-German treaty.

HULL CONDEMNS NAZI SEIZURE OF NEW TERRITORY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, called back to his post to silence growing reports he has been dropped as the nation's pilot on international affairs, today condemned Germany's seizure of Czecho-Slovakia and occupation of Memel.

With his traditional adherence to diplomatic forms, Hull did not mention Germany by name, but hit at "new evidences of international lawlessness in Europe as threatening world peace."

In his statement Hull said: "Having closely followed international developments at home and abroad during my temporary absence, I have, in common with the general public here, been profoundly shocked by the recent developments in Europe. They have been of a nature seriously to threaten the peace of the world.

"These new evidences of international lawlessness make it all the more clear that never before has the support of all nations for law and order and sound economic relationships been more urgently needed than at present."

KENNEDY ADVISES TIGHT MOUTHS IN PRESENT 'DANGER'

LONDON, March 24.—(AP)—American Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy said tonight that "the danger may be as great or greater" than it was during the Czecho-Slovak crisis last September, but refused to elaborate. He made the statement after arriving late at a press club dinner because of a conference with Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax.

He said, with "last week's events still bitterly fresh in our minds," that all "should keep their mouths shut" at the present stage of political tension unless they were charged officially to speak for their governments.

The ambassador said he had found the British public calm. "They are aware of what is going on and confident that the press is telling them the truth and nothing but the truth," he said. "Newspapers have taught them not to lose their heads or grow panicky.

'This week I talked with friends in America and they feel the present crisis cannot be nearly so bad as that of September. They notice that every one is much calmer than before. Actually the danger may be as great or greater."

FORMER U. HEAD, NAMED IN FRAUD, SUED FOR $50,000

A suit for $50,000 damages was filed yesterday in Superior court against Henry K. Brown, former president of Valparaiso university in Indiana, who is awaiting trial on a charge of embezzlement. The suit was brought by Mrs. Leona J. Cram, 5512 Everett avenue, who charges Brown defrauded her of $48,000 derived from the sale of stocks and bonds she entrusted to him for reinvestment. Mrs. Cram also is the complainant in the embezzlement case. An indictment returned last Nov. 30 charges Brown with embezzling $30,000 of her funds. A hearing on the charge has been set for Monday.

SEEK FUR SHOP BANDIT.

Police yesterday were seeking a bandit who held up Otto Heinz in his fur store at 4540 North Western avenue Thursday evening, locked him in the vault, and took $190 worth of furs. Heinz escaped from the vault with a set of tools he kept inside for such an emergency.

NAZI TRADE PACT BRINGS RUMANIA FINANCIAL WOES

Nation Faces a Shortage of Foreign Exchange.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 24.—(AP)—A prospective shortage of foreign exchange as a result of Rumania's new five year trade agreement with Germany troubled Rumanian experts today.

The country expected to be much busier as a result of the pact, but it was a little concerned about how it was going to handle the increased business without foreign funds other than the controled exchange expected from Germany. In some quarters it was hoped the shortage would be met by new trade deals with England and other countries.

Expect Big Export Increase.

Although Rumania's exports to Germany are expected to be more than doubled within a short time as a result of the trade pact, little, if any, increase in receipts of free foreign exchange is looked for.

In return for exports to Germany, Rumania will get armaments, highways and railroad materials, and German help in development of Rumanian oil fields, quarries, and plantations. The dealing will be on a "balanced exchange" basis.

Previously a purchaser of a little more than a quarter of the products Rumania sold abroad, Germany, conservative economists estimated today, should within a few months be absorbing more than half of Rumania's exports. Industrial and agricultural activity will be stimulated greatly.

Figures on Export Values.

Rumania's exports in 1938 were valued at $150,500,000. Germany absorbed $39,900,000 and Czecho-Slovakia, the most important part of which now is German, took $14,000,399. England's share was $16,800,000.

In that year Germany bought 450,000 tons of Rumanian grain and Czecho-Slovakia took another 148,000 tons. Germany in 1938 bought 425,000 tons of Rumanian petroleum products, about one-tenth of Germany's total petroleum import that year. The proportion of Rumanian petroleum going to Germany was expected to increase as the proposed joint Rumanian-German companies open up new oil fields.

Grain exports are certain to rise sharply. There were predictions that reclamation of the bogged and swampy delta of the Danube river would increase wheat production so much that Germany might disappear as a purchaser in markets other than the Rumanian.

A Better Deal for New Car Buyers

The car buying public wanted it . . . car dealers asked for it . . . and General Finance Corporation is the first to give this better, fairer deal — PREFERRED BUYERS PLAN

Lowest in Cost!
DEPENDING ON DOWN PAYMENT AS LITTLE AS $3 PER YEAR PER $100

Representative Savings On Customary Unpaid Balances
Shown below are the usual unpaid balances on low priced cars. Same rates of cost (and savings) apply to substantially larger unpaid balances on higher priced cars.

Unpaid Balance	Previous Generally Established Cost	Preferred Buyers Plan New Low Cost	Percent Savings
$300	$18.00	$ 9.00	50%
400	24.00	16.00	33⅓%
500	30.00	25.00	16⅔%

MOST FOR THE LEAST COST – Up to now, finance sources have not properly recognized the fact that the chance for loss decreases as the down payment on a new car increases. PREFERRED BUYERS PLAN rewards the buyer who makes a larger down payment — by giving him a lower rate. Yet the buyer who makes a small down payment pays no more than the former, lowest cost. Each buyer pays a rate proper for his own case.

The larger the down payment, the less the risk, and the lower the cost to the buyer. This results in substantial savings for all but a comparatively few buyers. See the table of examples for representative savings up to 50% of former costs.

Everything in ONE "Bundle"

No chasing from source of credit to insurance agent to car dealer with PREFERRED BUYERS PLAN. You get the car of your selection, complete insurance protection at established rates for this area, plus lowest cost financing — all handled as one unit, at one time! HITLER TO USE TAX I. O. U.'S TO PAY NAZI DEBTS

Germans Fear Concealed Form of Inflation.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 24.—To help finance its vast projects for the exploitation of Pan-Germany, its protectorates, and its spheres of influence in Rumania and Lithuania, the Nazi government today created "tax certificates." These will be used as additional currency with which the government will pay 40 per cent of its bills to industrial concerns.

Simultaneously, the government decreed a 30 per cent surtax on incomes that were higher in 1938 than in 1937. Persons earning $1,200 or less per year are exempt from the new tax. The levy is effective next May 1. It will not operate for the present in Austria or Sudetenland.

Fritz Reinhardt, secretary of state in the finance ministry, announced the new scheme to coin money out of the future tax bills of its citizens.

Big Expenditures to Continue.

Germany's revenue has soared since Reichsfuehrer Hitler came to power in 1933, he said, yet this is not sufficient to cover the nation's financial needs.

"The requirements of the state were extraordinarily big in 1938, and they will remain considerable," he explained.

Reinhardt said Germany's revenue since 1933 had grown from 6,800,000,000 marks [$2,720,000,000 at current rate of exchange] to 17,500,000,000 marks [$7,000,000,000]. He added that it would be still higher in 1939 and 1940.

"Measured by the country's taxation capacity and its productive resources, the loans hitherto raised are but small," Reinhardt continued.

No More Loans Planned.

"It has, however, been found that other ways must be adopted in the future to finance the reich's needs instead of as hitherto by loans, which, if continued, would increase the debt services and would, moreover, block private issues.

"The new law adopts the principle that the loan method will no longer be resorted to. Loans may yet be issued, but only in exceptional cases, and then only when the credit market position warants it. Instead, funds will be raised by issuance of noninterest bearing tax credit bills, which will be accepted in payment of taxes."

The tax certificates will be used to pay for orders such as those placed by the postoffice, federal railroads, municipalities, and other government agencies. They may be described as drafts on future yields.

Estimates Extent of Plan.

Reinhardt esimated that renewals of machinery, tools, and equipment of all kinds cost the country each year about 6,000,000,000 marks [$2,400,000,000]. With every billion marks' worth of renewals paid for to the extent of 40 per cent in tax certificates, it would mean that in the current year alone [from May 1] about 240,000,000 marks [$96,000,000] would be issued, he said.

The tax certificates will be divided into two classes. Certificates in the first class can be used by the taxpayer to pay his taxes seven months after they are issued. Those in the second class can be used as payments to the government only thirty-seven months after they are issued. The government will credit the taxpayer with 112 per cent of their nominal value.

The certificates may be carried on balance sheets as cash. This system will also operate in Austria and Sudetenland, Reinhardt said.

The Nazis realize that the measure will seriously alarm German businessmen, but in view of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's recent "triumphs," they figure that the German citizenry will accept the new sacrifices it entails.

Need for Money Is Urgent.

The government's urgent need of funds is clearly illustrated by the fact that persons who must pay the surtax on incomes will be listed on a future tax declaration and will obtain a rebate. But for the moment they must pay infinitely more than any other nation in the world. Germans pay taxes even if they have an income of less than $400 a year—not to speak of the compulsory insurances and Nazi party dues.

Under the new tax decree an unmarried German who earns $220 a month must pay an income tax of $40. To this is added compulsory insurances, winter relief fee, labor front or professional guild dues, and party dues if he is a member of the Nazi party, town taxes and church taxes. All of these, experts estimate, aggregate at least another 20 to 30 per cent of his income. If the taxpayer is unfit for military duty, he must pay an additional $19 a month.

Germans Fear Inflation.

Industry had feared a levy on its profits, especially in the armaments and building branches, which have been exceedingly prosperous in recent years. Most Germans who have not been faring so well would welcome new taxes on those they have been denouncing under their breaths as profiteers. But the new tax certificates frighten the population. The people see in them a camouflaged inflation.

Observers regarded the measures as an indication that Reichsfueher Hitler and his advisers have come to the conclusion that the German money market's power of absorption is exhausted as far as state loans are concerned. The measures were announced soon after Hitler's return to Berlin from Memel, which he formally annexed yesterday.

While financiers are trying to raise the money Germany needs to finance its vast schemes, Nazi strategists view the nation's new military position with great satisfaction. For years it has been Hitler's goal to forge a ring of steel around soviet Russia, which he repeatedly has denounced as "world enemy No. 1." The borders of the countries he now controls are moving closer to Russia and his general staf is working overtime to adapt its plans to the new requirements.

Ready to Exploit Farm Lands.

Hectic activity reigns in all branches of the government. Farming experts are pulling out plans they had in readiness months ago for the full exploitation of agricultural possibilities in the former Czech provinces of Bohemia, Moravia, and Slovakia, and in Lithuania and Rumania.

Hitler's success on the European continent had slowed down Germany's quest of new spheres of influence on other continents. Now, however, political circles hope that Riza Khan Pahlevi, the shah of Iran [Persia], will come to Germany in the near future and sign a trade agreement. The Germans have been working hard on this project for the last three years. The exploitation of the fish and caviar industries in the Black sea area figured prominently in this scheme. The shah may visit the Fuehrer in May.

Germans declare that negotiations with Afghanistan also are proceeding satisfactorily. A deal with Afghanistan would strengthen greatly the ring of steel around soviet Russia.

Last July she was arrested on a charge of extortion and was sentenced to sixty days in the bridewell.

HITLER FINDS USE FOR MEMEL; SETS UP U-BOAT BASE

Aims at Domination Over Baltic Sea.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEMEL, Germany, March 24.—Jubilant over their easy conquest of Memelland, German officials who have arrived here to organize the territory on Nazi lines today announced that the Memel harbor will become an important German naval base. It will be used chiefly for submarines and small destroyers which Germany has built to enforce its domination over the Baltic sea.

The German officials began to take inventory of their latest acquisition. The population was rapidly being investigated, regimented, organized, and rubber stamped.

Eyes Turn to Danzig.

The same officials also were discussing Danzig and the Polish corridor. Reichsfuehrer Hitler's speech here yesterday, in which he formally annexed Memel, gave many the impression that Danzig was next on his program of expansion.

A widespread report is that the Fuehrer will appear soon in Danzig to annex the free city and then call a European conference to consolidate the reorganization of Europe. This report could not be confirmed.

The possibility that Poland might resist German plans to absorb the Polish corridor is ridiculed by Germans. They hinted that important negotiations now are going on between Warsaw and Berlin.

Lithuanians in Panic.

Reports from various parts of the Memel territory said that the sudden appearance of thousands of brown shirted Hitler troopers in all towns and villages yesterday created a panic among the Lithuanians living in the district.

As a matter of fact, the German army, air fleet, and navy played an insignificant rôle in the occupation of Memelland. The invasion by Hitler troopers and Hitler guards preceded the army by 12 hours. In Memel there were twenty men garbed in Nazi uniforms for every man in an army or navy uniform.

Reports from Kaunas said 12,000 refugees had crossed the border into Lithuania. Only a few hundred of these were Jews. The Jewish exodus from Memelland began early in the winter and has continued steadily for several months.

NAME NEW NAZI BATTLESHIP FOR U-BOAT WARRIOR

BERLIN, March 24.—(AP)—Germany's second new 35,000 ton battleship will be named for the late Admiral Alfred von Tirpitz, initiator of unrestricted submarine warfare during the world war, it was disclosed today.

The Von Tirpitz, under construction at Wilhelmshaven, will be launched April 1 in the presence of Reichsfuehrer Hitler. The vessel, now known only as "battleship G," will be christened by Almuth Von Hassel, granddaughter of Von Tirpitz. The Von Tirpitz will be a sistership of the Bismarck, launched Feb. 14, the largest vessel in Germany's expanding fleet.

Hitler today approved plans for a great celebration of his 50th birthday on April 20. The celebration will furnish occasion for one of the greatest military displays ever held in Berlin. About 40,000 soldiers will march past their Fuehrer.

Home Girl for Actor

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Anthony Allan, young Indiana movie actor whose real name is Jack Hubbard, has come back to marry his childhood sweetheart of the eighth grade in East Chicago. She is Lois Golder. Each is now 24 years old.

"No Hollywood glamor girls for me," said the actor yesterday. "Lois is real homespun. And she can cook."

The wedding is to take place April 12 in Chicago. It will be performed by the bride's brother, the Rev. James T. Golder, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal church at Ripon, Wis.

Miss Golder lives with her parents at 4016 Catalpa street, East Chicago. Until last week she worked in the office of the Inland Steel corporation where young Allan's father is production manager. The couple's new home will be Hollywood.

Spanish Fugitives Fly in 2 Planes to Algiers

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, March 24.—Two airplanes carrying fugitives from loyalist Spain landed today at Oran, Algeria. Among the passengers, who said they came from Murcia, in southwest Spain, were Antonio Uribes, commander of the Totana air base; José Hernandez, a cortes [parliament] deputy; Virgilio Llanos, former minister of public health, and Jacob Micarlowitch, political commissar in the army. Three women and three children were among the refugees. The planes were surrendered to French authorities.

CZECH ON RADIO TALKS HIS WAY INTO NAZI CELL

PRAGUE, March 24.—(AP)—Franz Koconrek, Czech radio announcer who amused Czech listeners with his description of last Sunday's German military parade in Prague, was said today to have been arrested for having been so flippant that he vexed German authorities. Here is some of Koconrek's radio comment:

"Here come the tanks. Big tanks, more big tanks, small tanks, still smaller tanks, and smaller still. They sound like sardine cans.

"There are many people here, but not so many as at a sokol [Czech athletic society[festival. Prague residents are always curious to see something spectacular. Do you hear that cheering? That comes from Germans stationed by the honor tribune."

Koconrek also related at length the flight of a black crow over the parade. The crow, to the Czechs, is a sign of bad luck.

FRENCH TO URGE LEBRUN REMAIN AS PRESIDENT

PARIS, March 24.—(AP)—President Albert Lebrun's return today from his state visit to England coincided with a strong movement among members of the chamber of deputies to urge him to remain in the presidency, postponing the April 5 election of his successor.

Parliamentary sources said deputies planned to present a petition early next week urging Lebrun to continue in office "through the dangerous European situation." Former Premier Fernand Bouisson and Minister of Agriculture Henri Queuille are candidates for the presidency, but it was said they would withdraw if Lebrun agreed to stay.

Lebrun and his party returned to Elysee palace this morning through streets hung with French and British flags.

WILD MOUNTAIN KILLER SLAIN AS HE LOOTS BANK

His Fifth Victim Also Shot Dead in Gun Battle.

aimed and pulled the trigger. I hit him—in the breast, I think—and he stumbled back inside the bank."

Here the narrative is taken up again by Banker Nelson.

"Durand fell on his hands and knees and started crawling back into the bank," said Nelson. "He dropped the thong when he was shot and my hands were free. Knutson was still tied to Gawthrop and had been pulled down when the teller was killed.

"Durand crawled back several feet. Then he began tugging at his holster. He got his revolver out, put it to his head and fired.

"I don't remember what I did, but they tell me I picked up Durand's rifle and ran back and shot him in the head. I know I had his rifle in my hands. Others told me I said I wanted to make sure he was dead. I guess I shot him because he had two bullets in his head."

Meeting with Parents Told.

The outlaw's movements shortly before his raid on the bank were described by Harry Moore, a short wave radio operator. Durand held him up as he drove along a highway near the Hopkins ranch and forced the radio man to drive him toward Powell. In the car with Moore were John Simpson and his father, B. O. Simpson, 86 years old.

On the ride toward Powell the desperado made his hostages stop at the home of his parents, three miles from Powell. The elder Durand was in the yard of his home. Moore told of the strange meeting.

"Surprised to see me, dad?" Durand asked. His father evidently was because he didn't answer. The outlaw then told him: "I want some things, dad. Do I get them or do I have to take them at the point of a gun?"

Mother Greeted Coldly.

Holding a rifle in one hand and a six-shooter in the other, Durand went to a tent near the house and took a sack of what appeared to be meal. His mother ran out of the house crying.

"Earl, I hardly know you," she sobbed.

"I just came back to say hello," coldly replied her son, who was 26 years old.

He climbed back into the car and ordered that he be driven away. As he left the yard, he called back jauntily: "I'll be seeing you, dad."

A short time later he forced his companions from the car and drove on. His parting words to them were: "Be sure and come to my funeral."

The desperado's grisly sense of humor was shown in his statements throughout his wild adventure. Tonight his body lay at the Powell mortuary, the return address he had put on a derisive letter to Sherif Frank Blackburn which he left at a ranch earlier this week when he fled into the mountains.

Famed As Marksman.

Apparently a throwback to frontier days, Durand ate the raw flesh of wild animals, and equaled the sharpshooting and woodsmanship of old Indian fighters. A robust young man, six feet two in height, he reveled in rough living in the open.

His killing rampage, which led to the greatest man hunt in Wyoming's history, started a little more than a week ago over the comparatively minor offense of killing an elk out of season.

Sent to the county jail to serve a six months sentence, he broke out on March 16. Undersherif D. M. Baker and Town Marshal Charles E. Lewis of Powell trailed him to his home that night and were both killed by him in a gun battle with him.

Stands Off 100 Men.

On his flight to the mountains, Durand stopped at a ranch home and supplied himself with five rifles, two revolvers and ammunition. He left his note for the sherif at that time, warning the official "if you come after me bring a bodyguard of twenty men and brace their knees."

On Wednesday a posse of 100 men assembled near Sawtooth mountain in the Bear Tooth range about twenty-five miles northwest of Cody. There Durand had made his stand behind a natural bulwark of rocks 400 feet up the side of Clarksfork canyon.

Two sherif's deputies, Arthur Argento and Orville Linaberry, were killed by the outlaw when they tried to storm his fortress. Under cover of darkness Wednesday night, Durand descended to their bodies and took their weapons and the shoes of one. He also took the other man's lether shoe laces, which apparently provided him with the thong he used in the bank today.

Use Military Weapons.

The possemen divided into two divisions Thursday and fooled themselves with their cross fire into believing Durand was still in his hideout. Apparently he had fled up over the mountain peak the night before.

Believing he was still in his fort, the besiegers sent an airplane over the hideout to drop gas bombs on it. They also brought a three inch trench mortar and a 37 millimeter howitzer of the Montana National Guard in the hope of blasting him out.

The posse and the National Guardsmen with their cannon were still hunting for Durand in the Sawtooth area when the outlaw was waging his last gunfight in his home town forty miles away.

IMPEACHMENT MOVE AGAINST PERKINS KILLED

Minority Blasts Leniency for Bridges.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—The house judiciary committee today rejected unanimously a resolution by Representative J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.] to impeach Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, Gerard D. Reilly, solicitor of the labor department, and James L. Houghteling, commissioner of immigration and naturalization. The house later tabled the impeachment resolution.

The committee was unanimous in reporting that "sufficient facts have not been presented or adduced to warant the interposition of the constitutional powers of impeachment." A minority report signed by all ten Republican members, however, severely censured Miss Perkins and her associates.

Charges "Unprecedented" Leniency.

The minority report said the evidence disclosed that Miss Perkins and her associates had been "lenient and indulgent to an unprecedented extent" in the conduct of deportation proceedings against Harry Bridges, an alien and a communist who is a leader for the Congress of Industrial Organizations on the west coast.

"The record before us lacks proof of any kind as to the motive actuating such leniency and indulgence," said the minority report. "It cannot escape our severe condemnation and censure. Bridges' record as a sympathizer with radical and communistic movements, if not his active participation therein, is an open book. He should have been dealt with firmly, and his case should have been disposed of with all possible speed.

Asks Disapproval of Committee.

"This course of conduct which we condemn does not justify impeachment, but it does call for the prompt and public disapproval of this committee."

A seven member sub-committee headed by Representative Sam Hobbs [D., Ala.], which heard the evidence in the Perkins case, recommended a mild censure of the labor department officials, but the full committee rejected that part of the report.

The Thomas resolution accused Miss Perkins and her associates of conspiring to evade the deportation law by refusing to deport Bridges. It accused them also of appealing a weak case to the Supreme court in order to establish a precedent for the protection of Bridges.

One Killed, Four Injured in Head-On Auto Collision

Altamont, Ill., March 24.—[Special.]—Carl P. Harris of Corpus Christi, Tex., was killed and four other men injured in a headon collision of two automobiles this afternoon a mile west of Altamont on U. S. 40. It is thought that the accident was due to a blowout or locked steering wheel. Samuel Garner, whose injuries are grave, and the others were returning from the Carter oil field when the accident occurred.

JAPAN CHARGES RUSSIA BUILDS NEST OF FORTS

Says Soviets Strengthen Changkufeng Area.

TOKIO, March 24.—(AP)—Domei [Japanese news agency] in a Manchukuan dispatch, declared today that soviet Russian forces were fortifying hills north of Changkufeng, where bitter fighting occurred last summer. Domei's dispatch said that observers saw large scale works progressing in an apparent effort to convert every peak into a virtual fortress.

Hsinking, Manchukuo, reports said that soviet air squadrons twice crossed the Manchukuan border into Kirin province. The Manchukuo government [Japanese advised] protested.

Resent Red Speeches.

Smetanin was asked to inform Moscow that statements at the congress "might harm relations between Japan and the soviet."

Shell Chinese Forts.

SHANGHAI, March 24.—(AP)—Japanese warships, after four days of inaction, today resumed shelling of Chinese forts off Ningpo, south of Shanghai, causing the population of the vicinity to flee in fear of a Japanese landing.

Ningpo, in Chekiang province on the south side of Hangchow bay, is roughly in the center of China's long coast. The Japanese have won the coast northward from Hangchow bay, but from there south to the Canton region the coast is in Chinese hands except at Amoy.

Foreign reports of the Japanese naval action stated the Chinese were replying vigorously, apparently making an immediate landing unlikely.

Report 4,500 Killed.

The Japanese reported heavy fighting continuing in Kiangsi province west of Lake Poyang and stated that 4,500 Chinese had been killed east of Wuning.

In Peking today the American embassy handed written representations to the Japanese embassy on the fourth bombing in recent weeks of the American Baptist mission hospital at Chengchow, Honan province. Considerable damage resulted from the bombing on March 19.

Americans in Peking said that during March activity by the Japanese air force in ten instances had resulted in damage to American property.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, March 25.—[Saturday.]—The News Chronicle reported today that Japan, "as a gesture of good will and an example to other countries holding former German colonies," has offered to return the Caroline Islands to Germany. The article said the offer to give back the islands, which Japan took over under a league mandate after the world war, is accompanied by the condition that Germany surrender the islands back to Japan as soon as the reich recovers other former colonies from Britain and France.

[The Caroline Islands are an extensive group east of the Philippines. Their area is 500 square miles and their population about 40,000.]

Chicago's Lithuanians Assail Grab of Memel

Representatives of all Lithuanian societies in Chicago gathered last night in the auditorium at 3133 South Halsted street and adopted resolutions protesting against the seizure of Memel by the Germans. The American government was urged to withhold recognition of the conquest. L. J. Savickus was chairman of the meeting.

MRS. CHARLOTTE GRAHAM.

Ralph Graham.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

Police identified Graham as Willard Borton, under indictment at Titusville, Fla., for the killing of Miss Ethel Allen in 1934. Police said Graham admitted the theft of jewels from numerous Los Angeles homes. His arrest here last night with $80,000 worth of jewels was followed by the seizure in Los Angeles of Graham's wife, Charlotte, in whose home jewels worth $20,000 were found.

Police said the arrest of Graham apparently had ended the five year search for the "phantom burglar of Bel-Air," who preyed on homes of wealthy movieites, including Ann Dvorak, Miriam Hopkins, Doris Kenyon, Lila Lee, Lili Damita, Louis D. Leighton, and Sol Wurtzel.

CRIME-POLITICS ALLIANCE BLAMED ON GAMING LAWS

Repeal of laws against gambling was urged yesterday by George E. Q. Johnson, former United States district attorney and judge, as a way to break the alliance of crime and politics. Speaking before the Women's Civic Council in the Palmer House, Attorney Johnson, a Republican, discussed his experience with corrupt politics while district attorney from 1927 to 1932.

"Gambling has appeared to be the chief source of political corruption by crime," he said. "Without discussing whether enforcement of gambling laws is possible, it is obvious that the laws never have been enforced.

"Repeal of the laws would end this source of political profits from crime. The problem is the same whether Democrats or Republicans are in office. Gambling syndicates never have distinguished between the principles of Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Jefferson."

ZIONISTS HOLDING FAST TO DEMAND FOR A HOMELAND

Zionists will not swerve from their demand that Palestine be made a national homeland for the Jews, Louis Lipsky of New York, American Zionist leader, told a meeting of the Chicago organization in the Covenant club yesterday Lipsky was one of the three American delegates to the recent London conference of Jews and Arabs. The meeting was a part of the Chicago Zionist organization's membership drive. Since March 2, the membership has been increased from 4,000 to 4,800. The goal is 7,500.

ADMITS SLAYING WIFE, BURYING BODY IN SEWER

U. S. Housing Official in Oklahoma Held.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 25 [Saturday].—(AP)—County Attorney Lewis Morris announced early today that Roger Cunningham had confessed that he strangled his socially prominent wife, Eudora, 30 years old, March 6.

Morris said Cunningham, a 33 year old federal housing authority inspector, said in the statement he buried his wife's body in a partly filled sewer in Oklahoma City.

Asks for God's Mercy.

Cunningham's statement, witnessed by Morris and Sherif George Goff, follows:

"Monday night, March 6, at 7:30 p. m., I strangled my wife, Eudora, and buried her in a partly filled sewer between 11th street and Park in the 3600 block.

"May God have mercy on my soul.

"After this I drove to the postoffice building and stayed until 11 o'clock, and then I went home and packed three traveling bags with her clothes and took them to the south end of the May avenue bridge and threw them off on the west side by the quatters' shacks. . . ."

Buried 8 Feet Deep.

After the confession officers sped to the sewer ditch, in the edge of the city, mentioned by Cunningham. They dug down eight feet and found the body of the woman.

Five days ago when a search for her was started her husband voluntarily went to jail, saying he wanted to be of aid in the search for his wife's body.

Cunningham is the son of the late Dr. Sam R. Cunningham, widely known professor of orthopedics at the University of Oklahoma. He had told authorities several days after his wife disappeared that he had taken her to a railroad station the night of March 6 in compliance with her request to go to San Francisco. He also wrote a letter to a friend in San Francisco in which he requested him to telegraph his wife's parents that she was well. Misspelling of Mrs. Cunningham's first name led her mother, Mrs. J. P. Stokes, to investigate her daughter's disappearance.

CALLS U. S. BEST ALLY OF JAPAN IN WAR ON CHINA

Japan's best ally in the invasion of China is the United States, Dr. Walter Judd told the Fortnightly club last night. Dr. Judd, an American medical missionary to China, spoke at a dinner given in the club to inagurate a drive for funds to rebuild the New England church of Chicago, destroyed by fire in 1936.

"The principal foreign supplies needed by Japan to carry on the war are being furnished by American business firms," Dr. Judd said. "American bombs, trucks, iron, rubber, and cotton have made us Japan's most valuable ally. If the United States were to place an embargo on these supplies, the war would stop."

SCHOOL CHILDREN DEFEND A FRIEND, POLICEMAN PETE

Six hundred pupils of the Nathaniel Pope elementary school at 1858 South Albany avenue, chose a delegation yesterday to ask Capt. Frank J. Malone of the Lawndale police not to transfer Patrolman Peter Afeld, who guides the children across Ogden avenue at Albany street.

Capt. Malone said there had been complaints that the trafic policeman had delayed trafic unnecessarily at his corner while safeguarding the children. But the captain assured the delegation that he has no intention of transferring Afeld, known to them as Pete.

CHANGE IN TUBE PLAN WILL CLOSE LA SALLE TUNNEL

The street car tunnel under the Chicago river at La Salle street will be closed under changes in the plans for the Dearborn street subway approved by the city council yesterday. The changes were made on the recommendation of Philip Harrington, city subway commissioner.

The Dearborn street subway, running west in Lake street from Dearborn to Milwaukee avenue, will cut through the present La Salle street tunnel as it will be at the same level. The previous plan was to have the subway pass under the tunnel. The change was recommended to keep the subway at the same grade as elsewhere in the loop—with the loading platform about 40 feet down.

Harrington said the street car line now using the tunnel will be rerouted. Although the tunnel will be closed, the structure can later be reopened for vehicular trafic or as part of a future subway line, he said.

Fire Prevention Campaign Backfires; Barn Damaged

Wheaton city employés burned rubbish and grass on vacant lots yesterday in a fire prevention campaign. Sparks from one of the fires set fire to a barn at the home of Joseph Heniken, 1906 Roosevelt road in the suburb. The barn was almost destroyed. In Chicago, the fire department was kept busy putting out eighty grass fires. The firemen said spring house cleaners who failed to watch their rubbish fires were responsible.

EMBEZZLER, 389 OTHER CONVICTS ASK FOR PAROLES

Abraham Karatz, former St. Paul [Minn.] lawyer and convicted embezzler who fought for three years to avoid going to prison, is among 390 Illinois prisoners seeking paroles, Chairman W. C. Jones of the parole board announced yesterday. Hearings on the petitions will be conducted by subcommittees of the board in the various state institutions beginning Monday. Two hundred and fourteen of the petitioners were convicted in Cook county.

Karatz was convicted in February, 1935, of conspiracy to embezzle $55,000 from the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank of Chicago. He has served less than one year of a one to five year term in the Stateville penitentiary.

In January, 1938, after the Supreme court had upheld his conviction, Karatz was freed at the prison gates by a writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Edwin L. Wilson of Joliet. Federal Judge Otto Kerner, then attorney general, petitioned the high court to assume jurisdiction. Judge Wilson was held in error, and the embezzler was taken to prison.

MADAME SNOWFLAKE MEETS 3D MATE AND GETS HER EARS BOXED

Snowflake met her third husband yesterday and, Director Floyd S. Young of the Lincoln park zoo hopes, her match. Young was worried about the introduction because Snowflake is known as the Lucrezia Borgia of polar bears, although she doesn't poison her mates. The first two drowned in the family bathtub, an unusual fate for polar bears.

Everything went all right, however, when Iceberg, the newcomer from Berlin, stepped into Snowflake's cage after two days of limbering up in an adjoining cage. Snowflake dived for his left hind leg. He sidestepped and chased her, roaring indignantly, around the cage. When he caught her he let her off with a cuff or two—just enough to put her in her place. Henpecked husbands among the 400 spectators were especially happy about it all.

WPA WORKER KILLED BY TRAIN.

It was never any warmer in Chicago on March 24, according to official weather records, than it was yesterday. The mark of 79 degrees, recorded at 2 and 3 p. m., tied the previous high, set in 1910. It was not a record for so early in the season however. On March 23, 1907, the mercury climbed to 80.

Forecaster J. R. Lloyd said that today would be nearly as warm as yesterday, although cloudy weather is expected. He said that rain and lower temperatures might come tonight, lasting through tomorrow.

"ABSENCE MAKES THE HEART—"

By CALEB

THE morning dishes are washed and shelved, the house is put to rights; baby is contentedly parked in his play-pen . . . and out comes the trusty portable for a letter. Not to an individual friend, but to a collective friend—a Chicago business house, in fact. The writer—a young mother and homemaker, once frequently greeted by us in person. . . . But here are her own words:

"Right now I'm so homesick for Field's I could feel very sorry for myself if I had time. I'm just one of the many, many ex-Chicagoans raised in the Field tradition; and evidently four years in a small town doesn't dull the hunger and desire to shop again in Field's.

"My 'homesickness' could only be assuaged by the following program: Arrival, dressed rather carefully—a nice long ride on the new escalators, all the way up to the Walnut Room for a delicious luncheon—a leisurely tour of the model homes and rooms—a loving inspection of the newest in kitchen gadgets—a soul-satisfying visit to the beautiful things on the second floor—and then, a careful look at all the grand new clothes, including hats. Last of all, I would eventually end on the fourth floor, the scene of many a happy childhood hour, and now the source of many of my children's clothes and toys.. If I still had time for tea, after all this, I would return to your seventh floor for it—and sit there, tired but happy. That's how I feel about Field's."

Then follow several very constructive suggestions on infants' wear which will be routed to the appropriate department for consideration, and our nostalgic correspondent concludes with: "It's time now for orange juice and cod-liver oil; but this little contact has helped my overwhelming 'homesickness for Field's'."

Not alone was this recent letter unusual in expression, but in character—for patrons who have some form of complaint to submit are more prone to write us than are those who have been pleased with our services. To this lady, therefore, we made reply in as warm a spirit of appreciation as such a letter merited; and if her eye chances to fall on these lines, we are sure she will understand that what we said we meant.

In the last analysis, every organization is made up of the same sort of people as those it serves. Certainly no house of business ever gets too big or too busy to be thrilled by words of approval from some absentee customer who still remembers.

SECRET AGENCIES OF U. S. TREASURY WILL BE COMBINED

Five Divisions Will Join Under One Head.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Five investigating agencies of the treasury department, it was learned today, will be welded into a single investigating unit soon after President Roosevelt signs the reorganization bill, which is now before a joint conference committee for ironing out of slight differences.

An executive order for combining the agencies is already in preparation.

The new investigating unit will absorb the secret service, internal revenue, narcotics, alcohol, and customs investigators, involving a personnel of about 3,000. The purpose is to increase the efficiency of investigation by eliminating duplication that has often occurred in the past. There have been cases in which each of two separate treasury agencies have been working on the same case without either knowing the other was on it.

Will Eliminate Red Tape.

Sponsors of the consolidation also claim that it will remove handicaps which have often delayed investigation and prosecution.

In the past a specializing investigator could not cross into the domain of another agency if the course of his investigation led him there unless he got authorization from the secretary of the treasury. This plan will remove these barriers, although there will still be specializing investigators.

It is also claimed that economies may be possible in the joint use of office space and equipment. Some coördination along these lines, as well as an exchange of information, has been accomplished recently under the direction of Elmer L. Irey. Irey in 1937 was appointed coördinator of agencies along with his duties as chief of the intelligence unit of the bureau of internal revenue.

Irey is slated to head the new investigating division. Under him will be five deputies in charge of the following sections: Counterfeiting, smuggling, narcotics, liquor enforcement and tax evasion.

Heads Capone Investigation.

Irey headed the investigation of Al Capone, which eventually led to the gangster's confinement in prison for income tax evasion. He worked in close coöperation with Dwight H. Green of Chicago, who successfully prosecuted Capone while a special assistant United States attorney for the Chicago district. Green is the Republican candidate for mayor of Chicago in the approaching election.

The present secret service unit, headed by Frank J. Wilson, is scheduled to concentrate on counterfeiting activities, the purpose for which it was originally formed seventy-five years ago. One of the duties of the secret service is to guard the life of the President.

It owes its origin to the first widespread issuance of federal money after the civil war and was set up on a $10,000 appropriation from congress to protect the new federal currency.

Fifteen District Headquarters.

Under the new setup there will be headquarters in each of the fifteen treasury districts, which will direct the activites of the various investigators. There will be chiefs in each district.

For instance Chicago will be headquarters for the ninth treasury district which embraces the Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana area. A. P. Madden, at present a special agent in the internal revenue unit at Chicago, is slated to head the office. At present all treasury investigators in Chicago except the intelligence unit of the bureau of internal revenue have central offices in the new postoffice building. All will be combined under the new plan.

GRAND JURY ASKS FURTHER QUIZ IN DEATH MYSTERY

Further investigation into the mysterious slaying of Louis Vleck, printing firm executive who was shot to death Tuesday night in his home at 1356 Winnemac avenue, was ordered yesterday by the grand jury.

The jurors acted after questioning Vleck's widow, Almeda. Her father, Edward Conrad, 79 years old, a one time Indian fighter, has insisted he shot his son-in-law during a quarrel. When police arrived the night of the shooting Mrs. Vleck at first told them she believed her husband had died of a heart attack. They found he had been shot twice in the chest.

Yesterday Mrs. Vleck was reported to have told the jurors the shooting occurred while she was in another room and that when she returned she found her husband lying on the floor and her father standing over him with a gun. The jurors ordered that she appear again on Wednesday for questioning. Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of Criminal court continued until Wednesday a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus in her behalf.

ADMITS SLAYING N. Y. WOMAN WHO BEFRIENDED HIM

Mineola, N. Y., March 24.—(AP)—Assistant District Attorney Harold F. Strohsan of Nassau county said tonight that Robert Oldaker, 43 years old, had made a "full confession" in the slaying two weeks ago of Miss Louise McKee, 57 years old, a Republican politician.

Robert Oldaker.

Oldaker, known in this Long Island vicinity as John Alvin Roberts, was seized in Chicago last night and was being returned here. Oldaker, Strohsan said, had "committed the murder alone."

Miss McKee, a Republican county committeewoman, was found dead in her home on March 9.

The spinster had befriended "Roberts," police said, and at one time had boarded him and his family, rent free, at her home.

WITNESSES TELL OF MYSTERY CAR IN BLAST KILLING

Heard Just Before Austin Died in Explosion.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Elizabethtown, Ill., March 24.—[Special.]—Witnesses at an inquest today told of a mystery automobile driven along the Lambtown road early Monday morning, only a few minutes before Earl Austin was killed by the explosion of dynamite which had been wired to the bottom of his truck.

Others testified to what they considered unusual actions of Mrs. Alice Austin, the widow, and her young admirer, Ted Simmons, who are accused of plotting the killing. Mrs. Austin and Simmons are in the Saline county jail at Harrisburg and were not permitted to attend the inquest.

Farmer Hears Car and Truck.

R. T. McDowell, a farmer on the lonely Lambtown road, said he heard the car pass his place a few minutes before Austin's truck. He recognized the latter vehicle, he said, by the noise it made. John Angleton, another farmer; his wife, Ida, and his father, Will Angleton, gave similar testimony. Each said it was unusual for any motor vehicles except Austin's to pass along the lane at daybreak.

Much stress was placed on the statements of the witnesses, Prosecutor Clarence Soward intimating that the dynamite might have been placed in the truck by the driver of the mystery car.

Later two brothers of Austin related that the dying man told them he suspected his wife and "the Simmonses" of planting the explosive.

Attended Movies Together.

Arch Shumaker, another farmer, said that Ted Simmons and Mrs. Austin went to his home Sunday evening.

"They insisted," he said, "on my wife and me going with them to see a movie in El Dorado. I didn't want to go, but they won me over. We didn't get back to the house until midnight. Then we ate, as Mrs. Austin said she was hungry. It was 2 a. m. when they left."

The couple, Shumaker said, had never gone to a movie with him before. The prosecutor asked if he saw any reason for their insistence Sunday night. He replied that he had seen none at the time, but did now.

"It looks like they had to have some one to show where they had been," he averred.

The inquest was continued until next Friday.

CAMPBELL PUTS 3 ASSISTANTS IN DIVISION POSTS

Federal District Attorney William J. Campbell yesterday named three of his assistants as department heads of special prosecution divisions in his office. The appointments are in line with reorganization plans announced recently by the attorney general's office at Washington.

Warren Canaday, formerly first assistant district attorney, will have charge of all civil matters and the criminal divisions of counterfeiting, narcotics, anti-trust cases, and violations of laws under government bureaus such as the SEC and FHA.

Martin Ward will supervise prosecutions for violations of the bankruptcy laws, the national banking act, kidnaping, extortion, Mann act, and other criminal laws. Austin Hall, who has been in charge of income tax cases, will continue as head of that department.

REJECTED AUTO DRIVERS GET NEW LICENSE CHANCE

Motorists who have been refused drivers' licenses because of physical handicaps will be given an opportunity next week to prove their fitness to drive.

Chief James Kerr of the park police said last night that he will assign twenty of his men to give driving tests. The tests will be given from 1 to 4:30 and from 6 to 9 p. m., beginning Monday, in the following parks: Grant, Washington, Marquette, Garfield, Douglas, Portage, and Lincoln park, between Wilson and Lawrence avenues.

Arrangements for licensing are in charge of John Nash, superintendent of drivers' license distribution for the state.

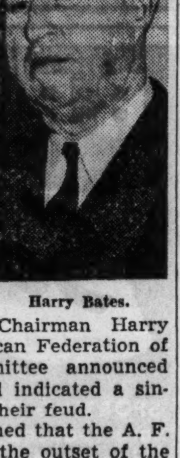
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—After seven hours of discussion at the sixth peace conference between representatives of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, it was announced that the scene of the conference would be shifted again to New York. Conferees will meet there on Thursday.



Harry Bates.

Although there were no indications that progress toward peace had been made, Chairman Harry Bates of the American Federation of Labor peace committee announced that both sides had indicated a sincere desire to end their feud.

Later, it was learned that the A. F. of L. delegation at the outset of the conference again rejected C. I. O. peace proposals, which contemplated the formation of the warring labor factions and the railway brotherhoods into the American Congress of Labor.

CONVICTED HINES PRESSES EFFORT TO AVOID PRISON

First Step for Appeal Is Taken Within Hour.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—Tammany Leader James J. Hines, convicted grafter and political godfather of the policy game racket, waited hopefully in his cell in Tombs city prison today for his attorneys to perfect his appeal to the higher courts.

The Democratic leader was placed in cell 213 yesterday after Judge Charles C. Nott Jr., in General Sessions court imposed a penitentiary sentence of from four to eight years upon him. Hines told friends he expected to be liberated on appeal.

Must Serve Until 1941.

The sentences will permit Hines' release in November of 1941, after serving two years and eight months of the minimum four year term, since a first offender, with good behavior, is entitled to four months off each year of his sentence. It will be up to the parole board appointed by the governor to determine at the end of two years and eight months whether Hines may be freed.

There were 13 counts in the indictment charging conspiracy and "contriving and operating a lottery" in violation of the state gaming laws. Twelve of the counts were felonies.

Judge Nott suspended sentence on the conspiracy charge, a misdemeanor, gave Hines one to two years on the first four felony counts, to run consecutively, and sentenced him to one to two years on each of the remaining eight felony counts, but directed that they run concurrently with the penalty imposed on the first four.

Roosevelt Patronage Dispenser.

The Tombs' star boarder has powerful political connections not the least of which is his unofficial post as patronage dispenser for the Roosevelt administration in this area. This was his reward for supporting Roosevelt for the nomination in 1932 when other Tammany men remained faithful to Al Smith. Hines is the most powerful political figure to go behind the bars since the notorious Boss Tweed went to prison for graft in 1874.

Hines' lawyers and District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey will go before Justice Peter Schmuck of the Supreme court of New York county [corresponding to Circuit and Superior courts in Chicago] to argue a motion for a certificate of reasonable doubt. Judge Schmuck, former chief justice of the City court, who was elevated to the Supreme court by Tammany, signed an order for Dewey to show cause why a certificate should not be issued.

If Judge Schmuck decides there exists reasonable doubt over the validity of the Hines conviction he will sign the certificate and set bail for the defendant.

IRON WORKERS STAY ON STRIKE; CONFER TODAY

Four hundred members of the Iron Workers' union, local No. 1, were still on strike yesterday despite reports that the union's differences with the Building Contractors' association had been settled. The strike, called Thursday afternoon, tied up work on nearly 100 public and private construction jobs in Chicago.

"There has been no settlement as yet," said Miss Jean McDougall, assistant financial secretary of the union. "None of the men has gone back to work and none will do so unless told to do so by the union." She said a conference will be held this morning between the union's executive board and association officials in the association's office at 228 North La Salle street.

The strike was called because the union objected to members of the tunnel workers' union handling steel in the subway construction.

RALPH CAPONE ACTS TO SETTLE INCOME TAX BILL

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward was informed yesterday by Attorney Charles Schaub that negotiations are under way at Washington, D. C., for settlement of the government's claim for $20,000 in income taxes for the years 1922, 1923, and 1924 against Ralph Capone, brother of Al Capone.

As a result, the civil suit against Ralph Capone was stricken from the court call with leave to reinstate. Ralph Capone was served recently with a summons to appear as a government witness at the income tax trial in New York of John Torrio, one time Chicago gang leader.

SATURDAY NEWS OF NEW BOOKS

Doctor Books Giving Way to Novels of Soil

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

The recent avalanche of doctors' books is giving way to novels about western farm lands. Rose Wilder Lane started something when she wrote "Free Land" last year!

Prairie Life Problems

"Marginal Land," by Horace Kramer. [Lippincott, $2.50.] Published Thursday.

"Marginal Land" is about South Dakota territory only twenty-five miles from Wessington Springs, where Rose Wilder Lane was born. Horace Kramer's book is full of descriptions of the vast prairies known as marginal lands. "The soil is good, but there's not enough rain. They're on the margin, as they say," one of his characters explains.

Horace Kramer.

Stephen Randall comes from Chicago to farm a ranch inherited from his father. He is young, inexperienced, hopeful of great things from the land. But almost from the first he finds he is pitted against nature in an eternal struggle with drouth, or rains which come at the wrong time, or heat which withers the grain before it can ripen, or with a devastating prairie fire.

As if these obstacles to prosperity were not enough, Steve also faces disaster in his marriage to a girl from the city, who finds life on marginal land too forlorn. When he loses Josephine he touches bottom. But two friends stand by him through all his troubles—a rancher named Vorhees and his Indian wife, Mary. And in the end Steve begins a new life with Trina, who has grown up on the prairie and knows how to fight it.

"Marginal Land" is interesting as a record, in fiction form, of the conquering of a part of South Dakota and the development of a man through suffering and struggle.

Dramatic Farm Story

"The Stricklands," by Edwin Lanham. [Little-Brown, $2.50.] Published recently.

Edwin Lanham, in "The Stricklands," tells a grippingly dramatic story of two brothers, sons of a poverty stricken farmer in Oklahoma. One of the boys, Pat, is reckless, wild, unable to cope with life; the other, Jay, is quiet, thoughtful, determined to better conditions for tenant farmers.

Although the author plainly has an ax to grind in this novel, he makes his tale so dramatic and his characters so lifelike and appealing that the reader is held from beginning to end. The same skilled hand that painted an unforgettable word portrait of one family in a Vermont town in "Another Ophelia," a rare gem of prose, has also pictured this larger scene in the history of the west.

Days of the Old West

"Bitter Creek," by James Boyd. [Scribners, $2.50.] Published Monday.

This lively adventure story of days in the old west starts with a chapter very much in the Dickens vein. It describes a few days in the boyhood of Ray Talcott, a youngster in a small Illinois town. Ray bears a strong resemblance to David Copperfield and he adores his mother, a sweet, helpless, feminine person, just as Dickens' boy hero did. Too, he is terrified of a brutal father [in this case not a stepfather], and so, when his mother mysteriously disappears one day Ray decides to run away.

He encounters all sorts of adventures, among the most unusual of them being those he has when he joins a patent medicine doctor and is used as a decoy to attract customers. The "doctor" and his amazing use of the English language provide many a chuckle.

After meeting a cowboy called Springtime, Ray joins his outfit and the rest of the story tells of his life among the cattle men and the Piegan and Crow Indians in what is now Colorado. He falls in love with a girl who is later kidnaped by the Indians and is wounded in trying to rescue her. There's a happy marriage at the end.

"Bitter Creek" is not an important book, but it's lively and fairly entertaining.

'The Thibaults,' a Long French Saga, Now Available to American Readers

For years American visitors to France have been hearing about a saga called "Les Thibaults." The first of its volumes appeared in 1922. It recorded the mental sufferings of the neurotic young Jacques Thibault, whose friendship for his schoolmate, Daniel de Fontanin, had all the appearance, though it lacked the fact, of an ugly relationship. As volume followed volume M. du Gard's record of a bourgeois French family took on more and more heroic proportions until its author became a Nobel prize winner last year.

A few years ago a translation was made of the first two books of the seven [to date], but their subject matter and its treatment were so intensely French that American readers found little interest in them. One fundamental difference between sophisticated French readers and sophisticated American readers is that the French can and usually do completely disassociate themselves from the subject matter of a book, and Americans never can.

That fundamental difference between the two publics will account for the diverging popularity of "The Thibaults" here and in France. The saga now appears in a huge book including six of the seven volumes, and can be judged by Americans as a work practically completed rather than as one or two bricks in an edifice. The subject matter is so completely alien to most American readers that they will naturally see only the dark and dire trees and miss the impressiveness of the forest.

That impressiveness—M. du Gard's individuality—consists of an infinitude of detail of background and emotion, like Marcel Proust's "Remembrance of Things Past," or an enormously wide group of characters expressing the whole sweep of contemporary French life, like Jules Romains' "Men of Good Will" series. M. du Gard does not delve into the psychological sources of human action [like James Joyce, who taps the flow of human consciousness in "Ulysses"]; he merely sets down what his characters did and said, and he does not illumine their background by either the actions or the comments of the casual men and women with whom they must have come in contact. He achieves—technically—a thorough, almost clinical record. It is for that that he has been vastly esteemed. F. B.

Mother Writes Adventure

"I Ran Away to Sea at Fifty," by Mary Sheridan Fahnestock. [Harcourt-Brace, $2.50.]

Another book about the across-the Pacific voyage of the 65 foot schooner Director has just been published—"I Ran Away to Sea at Fifty." The two Fahnestock boys first told about it last year in "Stars to Windward." Now their mother, Mary Sheridan Fahnestock, tells her experiences in a 'round the world voyage partly with her sons and the rest of the way on liners, tramps, and native ships.

Equipped with a sprightly sense of humor, an amazing ability to make friends with all kinds of people, an almost juvenile fondness for adventure, and nimble fingers on the typewriter, Mrs. Fahnestock has turned out an even more entertaining book than her sons—and they did a splendid job. "I Ran Away to Sea at Fifty" is one of the liveliest and most entertaining travel adventure books of the season. It is well illustrated and has end paper maps. A. C.

Admirable Short Stories

"Some Like Them Short," by William March. [Little Brown, $2.50.]

William March, author of "Company K" and other novels, here has a fine, vigorous collection of twenty short stories. Some are only five paragraphs long, while some are twenty pages, but all are exceptional both in mood and in treatment.

Mr. March's writing has a convincing quality. It is so quiet that it is an art. There is no clutching for a medium which in itself will be so bold as to startle. He gives the story, developed quietly, but without a wasted phrase. His delineation of character, given always through the spoken word, is both subtle and sharp.

The most powerful tales in the collection are "Nine Prisoners," "The Shoe Drummer," and "The Funeral," all supercharged with conflict and emotion, and all beautifully, movingly done. But none of his twenty stories is done imperfectly. M. W.

Edgar Wallace Biography

"Edgar Wallace," a biography by Margaret Lane. [Doubleday-Doran, $3.]

Margaret Lane aptly subtitles her book "the biography of a phenomenon." Edgar Wallace, who died in 1932, lived a life as startling and dramatic as any of the characters in his long list of detective stories. His capacity for work and relaxation was almost unbelievable. At one time he had three plays running in London, he was working on several novels, dashing off short articles, planning movie plots, and—still in the same period—spending afternoons at race tracks.

He drove himself furiously to deadlines he himself created. A jesting phrase in London at the height of his career was: "Have you read today's book by Wallace?" Wallace's income was tremendous, yet he lived far beyond it; he prided himself on being a spendthrift. His estate was heavily in debt when he died in Hollywood, but in a few years it was solvent as the royalties continued to roll in. The man himself loved adulation and his frequent moments in the limelight.

Wallace's literary importance is subject to debate. Some have hailed him as the "great lost Dickens." Others regard him only as a potboiler. It cannot be denied, however, that his stories and plays have given entertainment to millions. S. M. K.

This Revealing Volume Explains How Propaganda Drags Nations Into War

"Propaganda in the Next War," by Sidney Rogerson. [Geoffrey Bles, 2 Manchester square, London.]

This slim but highly informative book is one of a series edited by Capt. Liddell Hart and called "The Next War" series.

Sidney Rogerson has done commercial publicity work in England for years and knows his subject inside and out. He explains that propaganda as we know it really came into being during the world war, where it developed with astounding rapidity. Although it is still "largely an uncharted field," many governments concede it is one of the most powerful of all factors in wartime, he says.

The author feels that England's next war will be waged against Germany, Italy, and Japan. What type of propaganda can be used to weaken German morale? How must it differ from that used against the other two powers? And how may it best serve the British cause in neutral countries? These are some of the pertinent and candid questions answered in the chapters "Ways and Means" and "Enemies, Neutrals, and Allies."

Mr. Rogerson implies that the United States was drawn into the world war on the side of the allies by propaganda, and suggests ways for turning the trick again in the event of another great conflict. He admits, however, that next time it will be much more difficult. He decries German propaganda methods for their lack of subtlety and their overorganization. He believes the British are more effective because they are more devious and employ greater variety.

Propaganda based on lies won't work, he says. It must be backed by truth. The author explains it can be spread by radio, an unsuspecting or a subsidized press, the cinema, pamphlets, and by the old, old grapevine route. This latter method, he says, was most effective in the world war, when England sent such eminent writers as Barrie, Galsworthy, and Wells to help its cause in this country by conversing over coffee cups.

The author points out that the wise nation is the one that does not wait for a declaration of hostilities to start its defensive propaganda work at home, but has an organization already built up and working in peace time. Germany and Italy have such bureaus, he says. England has not, and is, therefore, behind the times, he adds. In relying too much on the common sense and good judgment of the people the government is neglecting a valuable weapon for speeding up enlistment and increasing patriotism, he says.

Mr. Rogerson's book should be an eye-opener to thousands of Americans and a prophylactic against the insidious advances of all alien propaganda before and during the next war. E. W.

Irish Authors Show Typical Poetic Beauty

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

Whether the Irish write of love or battle, of farming or famine, of their saints, their English enemies, or their own great patriots, through all runs a mystical strain of poetic beauty. This is true of three books from Eire.

A Hero of the Rebellion

"The Rising," by Myrtle Johnston. [Appleton-Century, $2.50.]

At the age of 18, not so many years ago, Myrtle Johnston won critical acclaim in England and America with "Hanging Johnny." "The Rising," a dramatic and tragically beautiful novel of the Irish rebellion in 1867, should establish her among the important modern Irish authors.

Myrtle Johnston.

Wolfe Darragh's people struck a blow for Ireland and freedom from the landlords and the English in 1798 and in 1848. After he had served his adopted country, fighting the north's battle in the civil war, young Darragh returned to his native heath to play an important part in the Irish bid for freedom in 1867 as a colonel in the underground Fenian army.

The action of the story rises in crescendo, gathering force as the power of the tragedy sweeps to its inevitable end for Darragh, his Catherine, and his cause. And the reader will not be unresponsive to the gallant charge of the Irish peasants, armed only with pikes, against the English army rifles and artillery.

Tempo Changes in This

"Call My Brother Back," by Michael McLaverty. [Longmans, $2.]

The tempo changes here, as well as the scene, for Michael McLaverty's is a new voice from the less vocal north of Ireland. His MacNeills are island people, leading a pastoral, idyllic, and humane life on a tiny island.

But the father dies and they go to Belfast—Colm, the gentle souled lad whose priest hopes to make a scholar of him; Jamesy, his younger and more boisterous brother, and Alex, the patriot who could see what few men saw during the Black and Tan troubles. It is in Belfast, where the Orange and the Green could not live side by side, that the smoldering, boiling troubles of Ireland overtake the MacNeills. In the fierce battling of nationalism and religion Alex is murdered.

Mr. McLaverty writes with restraint and with an overwhelming compassion for the different Irish factions.

An Irishman's Life Story

"The Green Fool," by Patrick Kavanagh. [Harper, $3.]

Here is another Irishman with an entirely different story. It is the self-told tale of a cobbler's son, his adolescence and young manhood, in a patriarchal village near Dublin. The time is the present, but it might be the past for all that Mucker, Patrick Kavanagh's village, seems to be affected by modern life.

At first the Kavanagh manner of writing seems confusing. Then, almost imperceptibly, the reader becomes aware of a certain rhythm in the prose. Nor is this strange. Mr. Kavanagh is one of the new crop of Irish poets, one of the very few, too, who remains close to the soil.

On every page the reader will find some memorable observation of rural village life, of character, or of the wild, lovely Irish scenery.

SAG CHANNEL JOB CALLED SOLUTION OF LAKE AIRPORT

Use of Dredged Material Urged for Fill.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Mayor Kelly and city aviation representatives were told yesterday that widening of the Calumet-Sag channel as proposed in the rivers and harbors bill recently passed in Washington by the house of representatives offers an opportunity for the simultaneous construction of a downtown lake front flying field for Chicago at a substantial saving.

Engineers of the Works Progress administration, reviewing both projects here within the last few days, have discovered that the widening of the twenty mile channel calls for removal of 12 million cubic yards of dirt, gravel, and stone. This is exactly the amount of fill needed for the island flying field which the federal aviation authority has recommended for Chicago.

Urges Filling at Site.

Maj. Arthur R. Lord, assistant administrator of the Illinois WPA, suggested the abandonment of the usual plan of dumping material dredged from the Sag channel upon the banks in high piles. If the material were loaded on barges and towed to the site of the proposed airport and dumped it would make the airport.

Maj. Lord also believes that this material would enable the city to fill the entire 425 acres as projected by airport experts of the Civil Aeronautics Authority. It had been suggested previously that 325 acres be filled at this time that the remaining 100 acres be filled some time later when funds were available.

Findings of the WPA engineers were outlined in letters sent to city officials by Charles E. Miner, state WPA administrator. Miner said that a saving of approximately $1,000,000 would be effected if the program outlined by Maj. Lord is followed.

Could Use All of Material.

"The amount of earth and rock to be handled on each job is so nearly the same as to make it possible for the airport to use all the excavated material from the channel," said Miner. "A saving in operations would be effected because it is cheaper to load scows at water level than to move excavated material to high spoil banks.

"Cost of the land required for the widened channel would be less if the spoil were removed, because it would not be necessary to buy additional land on which to place excavated material. The value of land for industrial uses along the widened channel would be greater because the banks would be clear instead of piled with material. And there would be a savings in the cost of dredging for airport fill."

Miner said that Maj. Lord estimated that the savings in the cost of handling material in the channel would be $1,200,000 and that the savings in the cost of land for the channel would be not less than $400,000. He said that $4,200,000 would be saved in the cost of dredging for the airport.

Hauling Cost $4,800,000.

The cost of hauling the fill on scows from the Sag channel to the airport was estimated at $4,800,000, based on 40 cents a yard for the 12 million cubic yards of earth. Thus the net savings amounts to approximately $1,000,000, without taking into account the saving in land values.

The total savings, however, would be divided between the channel widening project and the airport. In the bill passed by the house $29,900,000 has been appropriated for the channel widening. The estimated cost of the island airport was approximately $12,000,000, based on dredging the material for the island from the lake bottom.

By using the spoil from the channel this cost may be cut in half, but no exact figures were available last night. John Wentworth and Hugh Young, engineers who have represented the city in recent negotiations with the WPA on the airport plans, said their estimates will not be completed until next week.

The island field was planned by the CAA last fall and was approved in Washington on Dec. 28. The airport will be placed 2,750 feet east of Northerly island, with its axis on an extension of 16th street. It will have three runways each 5,000 feet long. The field will be a down town terminal and will give Chicago the finest and most accessible field in the world.

CHICAGO MAY GET ISLAND AIRPORT UNDER CAA PLANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—The civil aeronautics authority today presented to congress a 435 million dollar program for the development of a national system of airports, which may give Chicago an airport on its lake front.

The program was submitted in a report which had been requested by congress. The report urged that congress appropriate 125 million dollars for the next fiscal year to start the program.

No specific projects were mentioned. It is expected, however, that if the plan receives congressional approval Chicago will get an island airport, as CAA engineers have approved plans for the creation of a 325 acre triangular island in Lake Michigan off 16th street.

The CAA program contemplates three scales of airport development. Under the first, all 236 airports designated as air mail stops would be brought to "a properly high standard of quality." The second would extend adequate airport development to about 860 airports. The third, embracing the other two, would provide a complete airport program for 3,500 airports as compared with 2,174 existing now.

COURT TEMPERS MERCY WITH BIT OF TEMPERANCE

All those concerned with the affairs of John Daley, 2915 North Talman avenue, were happy yesterday when he was placed on probation—all, that is, except John, who felt his freedom somewhat curtailed.

Daley was charged by Evanston police with breaking into the filling station of a friend, Stephen Geier, 1516 Elmwood place, Evanston, on Feb. 19. He took a revolver and an electric razor. Geier, for whom Daley had worked, asked leniency for him and hired an attorney to defend him in the Evanston Municipal court. And now that Judge James M. Corcoran has put him on probation for a year on a charge of petty larceny, reduced from burglary, Daley again will work for Geier. But the terms of the probation:

He is not to drink anything alcoholic, even at home. He is to stay out of saloons entirely and utterly. He is not to be out after 11 p. m. except when his wife feels like taking him.

Senate Committee Indorses Douglas for High Court

Washington, D. C., March 24.—(AP)—A senate judiciary subcommittee unanimously approved today the nomination of William O. Douglas to be an associate justice of the Supreme court. The committee voted to approve the nomination after less than five minutes' discussion. The 40 year old nominee, now chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission, came before the committee in company with Attorney General Murphy, but members said they did not wish to question him. The full judiciary committee is expected to act on Douglas' nomination soon. Prompt approval is expected.

USE MILITARY PLANES TO TOTE CONGRESSMEN

Army and Navy Provide "Playboy" Ships.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—While there are—officially—no government airplanes available for junkets of congressmen and federal authorities, the army and navy keep a number of modern transport airplanes at bases here and their chief use is by officialdom in a hurry. These ships are known in service circles as "playboy" airplanes.

Both the armed services have found it expedient occasionally to provide swift and inexpensive transportation to certain individuals. Both services must depend upon congressional appropriations for their existence, and both find that often the way to get on the "good side" of a congressman is to give him plenty of free transportation in military airplanes.

Carried in Latest Types.

Almost invariably the junketeers are carried in the latest type of utility or cargo machines. The navy has a number of Sikorsky and Grumman amphibian airplanes that are comfortably appointed. The army has a whole fleet of Lockheed and Douglas cargo ships. The army's planes are less comfortable than the navy's, but soft seats are installed for civilian politicos.

Navy bureau chiefs and the army's general staf defend these customs. They say that the pilots who fly the airplanes get good cross country flight practice while carrying the passengers. They insist that the cargo type planes are a necessary part of any military fleet.

McNutt Uses Service Plane.

Out of the combined total of 4,300 military planes—army and navy lumped together—more than 750 machines are not armed. About half of these are training types. The other half are the cargo carriers and utility planes. Most of the latter are multi-motored craft, and these are the ones chosen for "playboy" duty.

It was an army transport in which Paul V. McNutt, United States high commissioner to the Philippines, was flown from San Francisco to Washington the last time he was in this country. McNutt rushed here to attend a party that launched his boom for the presidential nomination in 1940.

Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr. of the department of the treasury for several years has had a coast guard plane [actually a navy plane] for his personal transport.

The cost of operating these junket airplanes is lumped under the general expenses of the army and navy. Although congressmen and officials are allowed sums for travel they do not pay for rides in "playboy" airplanes and consequently the service is popular.

FIREMEN'S SKILL SAVES LIVES OF THREE SCOTTIES

Three Scotch terriers—Heather, Sandra, and Wendy—were in good health yesterday because Maywood firemen have been well trained in methods of artificial respiration. The dogs were found unconscious from coal gas fumes by their owners, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kerwin, who live at 1015 North 4th avenue in the suburb. Kerwin called the fire department.

"We know how to revive people," said the firemen, "but we never tried it on dogs."

They set to work and soon had Sandra and Wendy, one year old pups, on their feet. It took nearly an hour's work to revive Heather, mother of the pups.

THE PROSPECT OF WAR.

Prime Minister Chamberlain in his speech last Friday laid the blame for the Czech-German controversy of last autumn on the treaty of Versailles and the failure "of the statesmen of the last twenty years to take a broader and more enlightened view of their duty."

Because Mr. Chamberlain did not amplify his remarks about Versailles several interpretations are possible. He may have meant to agree with the great majority of American critics of the treaty of Versailles who have insisted that to the cruel terms inflicted upon Germany by the allies may be attributed the reaction we have seen and the emergence of a Hitler. On the other hand, he may have meant to agree with those Europeans who have held that the crisis was due to a failure of the allies in restraining Germany when she began to rebuild her military power.

Whatever was the purport of his remarks, it is clear that the allies owe the crisis to their own deeds. By the Versailles treaty they exacted from Germany an acknowledgment of guilt for the world war and a promise to pay for the damages done by the war. By that instrument they also took away her colonies and some of her adjacent territory for the convenience of newly created states. They also destroyed her army, navy, and air force. This was done by the allied powers, by which is meant principally England and France. In that the United States did not join. It is true that President Wilson participated in the drafting of the treaty, but the senate refused to give its approval. Peace between the United States and Germany was established by another treaty having none of the provisions which Prime Minister Chamberlain agrees created the present crisis.

The United States participated in the world war because Germany refused to respect our rights on the seas. What was done to Germany at the conclusion of the war was not of our doing. What we might have hoped for in the peace was not the arrangement which was set up. The treaty which France and England exacted from the Germans could result in a long peace only if France and England were willing to keep Germany from rearming. The severity of the treaty terms was bound to lead to a rearmament on Germany's part to deliver herself of the onerous terms and to rewin her lost territory if she were permitted to rearm.

In 1933 Hitler came to power with the declared program of breaking the Versailles treaty. If peace was to last on the basis chosen, Hitler would have to be stopped in the beginning from carrying out his plans. But recall what was done. In 1935, in the midst of Mussolini's Ethiopian campaign, Hitler introduced universal conscription. There were protests from England and France, but no action. And so rearmament proceeded. The next year, while England and France were arguing about sanctions against Italy, Hitler moved his reichswehr into the Rhineland. At this point the superiority of the French army was such that it could have terminated the Rhineland occupation quickly. But that was not done. The allies did nothing when Austria was taken and gave their consent and even coerced Czecho-Slovakia when the Sudeten land was demanded by Germany. All the while the Germans' military strength was increasing. Now it is the greatest military power in Europe.

The present crisis is the result of the failure of France and England, having insisted upon a peace treaty which we refused to have anything to do with, to use the necessary implements to see that the treaty was carried out. Hitler may well intend to get back all the rights, power, and territory which Germany and her close ally, Austria-Hungary, had at the outbreak of the war. Hitler probably intends to try to obtain all that Germany and its satellite would have had if there had been a German victory in 1916.

It may well be recalled what the American position was then. A President was elected in November of that year on the platform "He kept us out of war." That was long after the Belgium atrocities had been widely publicized. The people didn't like what Kaiser Wilhelm did, but they were opposed to going to war about it.

There can be no question but what the American people do not like what Hitler is doing. But they are as much against going to war with Germany about it is they were in 1916 for what the Germans did then. However, the popular will against being drawn into war again is likely to be defeated unless some restraint is placed upon our President, our ambassador to France, and our acting secretary of state.

PEACEFUL PICKETING.

Members of a C. I. O. union in St. Louis have established a new high in picketing. Eight of them were arrested about the home of a nonunion man. Four said they were picketing the home. The other four, it is presumed, were there to "protect" the pickets.

The law permits peaceful picketing. Under the cloak of that relatively narrow permission labor organizers have sought to crowd all manner of violence. The market place murders of Minneapolis, the mass blockades of the Little Steel strike were represented as peaceful picketing. With its cohorts of communist agitators the C. I. O. has been the more flagrant offender, but Dave Beck of Seattle and the Du Page county building trades council, among others, place a similar stigma on the A. F. of L.

All men and women will do things under mass emotion which they would not do at any other time. It is also human nature to tolerate action in one's own behalf which one would denounce if it were not. Mob violence seldom brings any benefit to its participants, and any seeming gain is more than lost if it enthrones gangsters at the head of labor organizations.

THE COUNTY HOSPITAL.

County Commissioner Mary McEnerney has asked the department of justice in Washington to investigate the attitude of the American Medical association and the American College of Surgeons toward the Cook County hospital. Miss McEnerney seems to think the removal of the hospital from the list of institutions accredited for the training of interns was ordered to serve some selfish interest of the doctors' associations.

This is nonsense, and Miss McEnerney, as a county commissioner, ought to know it. The trouble with the County hospital stems directly from the fact that the county commissioners are not alert to their own interest. If they were they would do everything in their power to make it the best hospital of its kind anywhere, as it once was and could be again in six months if the county board were only a little more enlightened. Shrewd politicians would see that there are more votes to be had from 60,000 well treated patients a year, plus their families, than from the granting of petty political favors.

The hospital has been removed from the list of institutions accredited for the training of interns precisely because it is not well organized for the training of interns. A generation ago the best men coming out of the medical schools here and elsewhere throughout the country took the Cook county intern examinations because the institution offered an incomparable opportunity for study and experience. The material for teaching and practice is still there, but the medical organization of the institution is haphazard and discipline and teaching are often lax. The consequence is that the abler medical graduates for the most part now seek internships where their training will not be so neglected.

That's the whole story. The removal of the hospital from the accredited list was scarcely more than a formal recognition of a fact which had already been acted upon by the medical schools and their more promising graduates.

To the credit of the county board it must be said that the commissioners a year or so ago did move in the right direction when they appointed Brig. Gen. McCloskey to the wardenship and Mr. Anton Negri as consultant. It seems to be pretty generally agreed that in so far as it resembles a hotel the institution has been considerably improved. The food is said to be better and the janitorial and laundry services more efficient. But much more is needed by way of management and it is no service to Gen. McCloskey to assume that he can supply the lack. He is not a medical man and accordingly he cannot readily put his finger on the medical and surgical deficiencies or know how to correct them.

The doctors on the County hospital's attending staf are, for much the most part, able men and among them are many of the city's most distinguished practitioners. The fault does not lie there, nor in certain deficiencies in equipment which could be readily met, but in the medical administration.

Dr. Karl Meyer is medical superintendent of the hospital. His skill and eminence as a surgeon go without saying. His competence to serve as the medical administrator of the largest hospital in the world is open to doubt. Certainly the standing of the hospital today is scarcely a tribute to his administrative capacities.

Among representative physicians in Chicago, including many who have given years of unpaid service to the poor of the county, there is a widespread belief that there will be no great improvement in the institution until Dr. Meyer is replaced. It is not likely that envy, professional jealousy, or personal dislike could influence so large a number of qualified observers. It seems unlikely also that the hospital will be restored to good standing as long as Dr. Meyer occupies his position of authority. That must mean, in turn, a poorer grade of interns and progressively poorer service to the 60,000 sufferers who come to the hospital each year for treatment. Regard for the welfare of the poor of the community commands a change.

Editorial of the Day

RENASCENT NEOLOGY.

[Palm Beach Post.]

In a late dissenting opinion, Justice Felix Frankfurter wrote a 1,900 word conclusion in which he opted to resurrect some rather brittle bones from the ossuary of words. Indeed, news reporters picked out such damascened expressions as these:

"Two equally competent tribunals utilizing the same outward facts in the alembic of the same common law concept of domicile may easily distil contradictory conclusions."

"The linchpin of jurisdiction is gone."

"Recent applications and modifications of this rule to satisfy the vague contours of the due process clause have hardly mitigated its inadequacies for our day."

"The limitations of litigation often denature and even mutilate the actualities of a problem and thereby render the litigous process unsuited for its solution."

Undoubtedly his renascence of "linchpin" is neuristic of his zetetic mind. Who knows that we shall not soon have the benedicite of seeing him revert to "cotter pin," whose mechanical homogeneity with it is as close as two huertleberries, both words having an antipastic effect for language and forming an appui for phrasing.

One may not osciate in the face of zoetic words, and to cleanse such Nitrian anchorites as "linchpin" and "alembic" in the mailnary search for eyey and faveolus escapes of jurisprudence, slip a new pagne on them for imbibition in workday phraseology, is no velleity for the further xenogamy and renaissance of the lowly forgotten.

It may be said that the metempsychosis of word souls is but the yeaning of a more morphotic manner of speech. It represents the nisus to insert the gobstick to remove small fry and the exigious anemic, and replace them with more full-blooded pisces from the stream of gab.

The rebirth of "linchpin," however, seems to indicate that the mind of Justice Frankfurter mayhap once was frightened by a turnip cart in his native Austria, and that we may expect him to bring forth "hounds," "felloes," "single-trees" and "endgates" ere long.

A MYSTERY MILLIONAIRE.

Walter P. Murphy's donation of nearly 7 million dollars to Northwestern university for an Institute of Technology which will not bear his name over the portal caused this old nose for news to twitch. We immediately wanted to know something more about this philanthropist, of whom we had never heard, and we herewith present the results of a day's research at odd moments:

Publicity department of Northwestern university: Knows nothing about him other than the few already printed facts.

Reference room of THE TRIBUNE: One clipping, dated Jan. 11, 1926, announcing the charter of the Walter P. Murphy Foundation of Chicago [forty-five agate lines].

* * *

Financial editors of THE TRIBUNE: Find nothing in big books called Moody's Industrials and Standard Statistics; two lines giving the known facts in Pool's Register of Directors and Executives. Firm believed to manufacture railway switches, semaphores, etc.

A trustee of Northwestern university: Never met him; understands that Mr. Murphy travels a great deal, and has ranches and houses in the far west; says the first suggestion of a donation came three years ago from a lawyer in Richmond, Va., acting for an unmentioned principal; "ask Dr. Scott."

* * *

"Who's Who in America," 1938-'39: Gives Mr. Murphy one inch of space, or fourteen agate lines of type. Born in Pittsburgh, 66 years old; unmarried; no college record; honorary master of arts degree from Trinity college, Hartford, Conn.; started in railway business in St. Louis, 1892; has been in railway supply business since 1898. Fellow of Royal Society, London. Two clubs in New York, one in Chicago, one in San Francisco, two in London. Lives in Lake Forest.

When the gift was accepted by Northwestern, Mr. Murphy gave the trustees a memorandum of the text for a news release on the subject. It consisted of two brief paragraphs, containing not more than 150 words.

LAMENT FOR LINCOLN PARK.

A battle waged by Mastodons with Dinosaurs,
Or Behemoths engaged in internecine wars,
Could not tramp down more turf or heave more land around
Than shovelmen despoiling now your hallowed ground.
If this great cataclysm is improvement,
Then so is any other seismic movement.

Ah me! If old High Bridge stood now where suicides
Were wont to plunge to death amid your restful tides,
I'd drown my grieving for you by self-slaughter—

How to Become a Dramatic Critic.

Add this to your biography: One evening in 1900 Herbert Fleming, campus reporter at Dr. Harper's Midway school, came into the sporting—not sports in those days—department of the Record-Herald, to bring the day's story on the significance of Coach Stagg's latest maneuvers. With him was a serious appearing chap wearing glasses. Said Fleming to the late Gus Axelson, sporting editor [who had attained his post by the correspondent route from that same campus]: "Gus, this is Mr. Collins, who will cover things while I am away."

Delightful Redundancies.

Add this to your list of redundancies: "Toxic poisoning." I. W. Fass.

I heard a father tell his child to "button your shoe open," and to "close the door shut." C. Janis.

I knew a German girl who would direct her sister to "stop the water on." Al B.

A not-so-delightful redundancy is the one that smites the eye so often in literature of the outdoors—"open glade." W. G. C.

To illustrate our theory that ingratitude for blessings received is the normal state of mankind, we point to the people who, in this balmy and beautiful weather, are lolling about grumpily and groaning about "spring fever."

POSTURAL DRAINAGE IN BRONCHIECTASIS.

NOW and then inflammation in the walls of the bronchial tubes [bronchitis] results in thinning or weakening of these pipes. In this situation—if pressure [as from coughing] is exerted inside these delicate conduits—we may expect them to expand. The outcome is dilatation, or what is termed bronchiectasis.

Just how does this disorder come on? The onset is usually slow, with a characteristic, paroxysmal coughing spell which may be repeated once or twice during the day. Later a mouthful of foul sputum may appear at intervals. As the affliction progresses seizures increase in frequency and shortness of breath on exertion will be observed. Fever will not be noted as long as there is free drainage and the general health may remain reasonably good. However, should the outlet of a small tube become swollen shut the cough will cease, the temperature will rise, and all the symptoms of an infection will be experienced.

An occasional accompaniment is what is known as lung abscess. This may not be large in extent but it may persist for years, dating from an earlier bout with some contagious malady. Here again, the most persistent symptom is cough, and it is likely to be complained of both day and night. The material expectorated is puslike, offensive smelling, and at times may be streaked with blood. Only when true abscesses are present will fever be exhibited.

Many of these cases are recognized merely as chronic bronchitis and an accurate diagnosis can be made only by spraying iodized oil [lipiodol] into the trachea from whence it enters the lungs. This is not a difficult process as the stream can be directed along the back of the throat while the patient breathes in deeply. Since the iodine will cast a shadow on the X-ray film, the overstretched branches of the bronchi can thus be seen. Sometimes marked amelioration will ensue from the aspiration of the oil. Irritation is eased and coughing is less violent and less productive.

In our efforts to combat the ailment we must realize that a portion of the body which is difficult of access is attacked and here the principle of drainage must be relied upon. It is clear also that every method that can be utilized to increase the general resistance will be of assistance. Of all the procedures, that which involves posture is the most effective because it relies upon the force of gravity.

Many victims are able to devise a position in which they will obtain the maximum of relief, and an angle of 45 degrees, with the head down, may be necessary. Raising the foot of the bed 12 to 15 inches is entirely inadequate and a frame may be needed on which the patient can lie. The same position may be imitated by kneeling on a chair with the head and hands resting on the floor. If this can be maintained for a few minutes—several times daily—the bronchi will be emptied and healing may proceed. But this must be done day after day, month after month, even though improvement leads the patient to believe that he is well.

Sunshine or ultraviolet rays—either or both—may be used freely if lung tuberculosis is not part of the picture. Exposure should be begun slowly and the dose gradually increased until the skin is tanned. This will not take the place of postural drainage but will help raise body reserve. Further aid may be secured through the employment of vaccines made from bacteria found growing in the sputum.

We must realize that in bronchiectasis we are faced with a disease which is far more annoying than tuberculosis—ofttimes as dangerous. Some authors have advocated collapsing a lung or removing an affected segment surgically. While the illness is not rare, but few cases will demand heroic remedies.

We can avoid the undesirable "stretching" of the smaller airways by refraining—as far as possible—from fits of explosive coughing. Furthermore, with any irritation we can remain in bed until the infection subsides. Healed bronchi will not dilate.

PNEUMONIA.

R. A. writes: Can pneumonia be aborted, once it is in the system?

REPLY.

If the diagnosis is made early and the exact type of pneumonia present can be determined, a large dose of the specific serum may bring about an abrupt termination of the malady.

LEFT SHOULDER LOWER.

REPLY.

Very few persons are entirely symmetrical in build. There usually is some variation in the two sides. Exercising the part by raising the shoulder may help.

CHEESE IS A GOOD FOOD.

H. W. writes: Is it all right to feed cheese to young children?

REPLY.

Yes. It is an excellent source of protein and calcium. If this were not so, many Dutch children would never reach adulthood.

HEAT AND MASSAGE HELP.

L. Y. writes: What treatment is advised for a hand and arm that have become stiff after a fracture?

REPLY.

THE SCHOOL BOARD DEFENDED.

Chicago, March 22.—There has recently appeared some entirely unjust and uncalled for criticism leveled against Mayor Edward J. Kelly about his selection of the members of the city board of education, whereas in reality and fairness he should be commended for his wise choice; invariably he has chosen a body of outstanding, high class, public spirited citizens of this community, who devote a considerable part of their time, and without compensation, to this certainly very important branch of the city government.

We still remember the former boards, where everlasting petty bickerings, dissensions, and small scandals were frequently the order of the day, but since Mayor Kelly's term of office began there has never been any of that; only harmonious working together, and the establishment of a sound financial condition, with prompt and regular payments of salaries of the teachers and other employés. HARRY J. FRITSCH.

ONE TOURIST'S IMPRESSIONS.

Chicago, March 18.—To the many critics of Adolf Hitler and his régime and to those who are of the opinion that a great portion of the German people are not in favor of his government and the assertions that the German people are suppressed, let me tell them that before my last year's trip to that country I, too, shared the opinion of these critics, although my relatives had repeatedly assured me in letters that everything was fine there. Great was my surprise to find a solid front of all the people in all walks of life behind their Fuehrer. I have relatives in the army; the navy; on farms; in factories as clerks, as mechanics—in fact in almost all trades. Many of them Catholics, many Protestants. Yes, if you want to know it, even one Jew by marriage, who is still following his profession because he is a world war veteran.

When you talk to them about being suppressed, they wonder in what Hottentot country I have been living. They ask if it is perhaps called suppression when the whole family has 100 per cent social security against unemployment, sickness disability, old age, childbirth, etc., when every laborer gets two weeks' vacation with pay, when such laborer is getting Strength Through Joy trips to all parts of the country and foreign lands as well at ridiculously low prices, when his pay is boosted by an addition to the family.

The Catholics told me that the church should mind its own business, that of teaching the word of God, but that for the providing of jobs and a livelihood they look to Herr Hitler.

They have their unions but are not allowing themselves to be exploited by any Lewis or Green and other so-called labor leaders.

Millions of homes are being built for the laboring class. Their income is sufficient for a good livelihood, there is plenty to eat and restrictions on food are only on two or three commodities, but sufficient, even of these goods, is made available to the people. Those who do not agree with me should take a trip to that country or at least mind their own business. C. BREITS.

THE LABEL.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9.—Every thoughtful American must recognize the growth of radical strength in the industrial centers of the north. This strength translated into votes, plus the votes of the southern states, threatens to give New Dealerism, and such, a continued advantage in national elections. If the south, basically conservative, united with the sound midwest the control would be otherwise. As a salesman traveling the south, I know the south votes anti-Republican rather than Democratic. I urge THE TRIBUNE to lead a campaign to change the name of the G. O. P. to Progressive Party. HOOSIER.

THE BUND AND FREE SPEECH.

Chicago, March 20.—Our national constitution guarantees us freedom of speech, but should it, or does it, grant license to foreigners to come into our midst and espouse isms which are absolutely contrary to our national conception of freedom? Fully 90 per cent of our citizens have no use for Hitler or his methods. Why should we dignify such régime by allowing its representatives to visit our shores and preach its doctrines? We know that nearly every American citizen of German extraction is loyal to our country, and if necessary will oppose the Hitler régime with force. Why not notify the German bund that it is through over here and ship its leaders back to Hitler? So long as Hitler and his methods prevail we have nothing in common with Germany. Hitler isn't a rattlesnake; he is a copperhead—rattlers give warning before striking. A PRO-AMERICAN.

THE ROYAL VISIT.

Chicago, March 19.—If the United States is going to break off relations with any one it should be with England and France. They are responsible for the rise of the Nazis and particularly for the present Czech affair. The President should withdraw his invitation to the king and queen of England to visit this country. The visit was engineered by the British foreign office with the connivance of Wall Street Joe Kennedy to save Chamberlain's political hide. AISLIE B. FERRELL.

A DIRTY STREET.

Chicago, March 17.—The majority of the population of this city most certainly cannot think that the present administration does anything for the streets in the residential sections of the city. I am sure the one I live in—Bellevue place—has not been properly cleaned in over a year. Any street in New York's Ghetto district is cleaner than Bellevue place.

The people of Chicago either love dirt or they love the Kelly-Nash outfit too much to complain. ADA NEWMAN.

ATTORNEY'S FEE.

Chicago, March 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a lawyer collect whatever fees he wishes for a case he handled for me, there being no agreement signed? I have receipts showing I paid him $65 and later another $100 for which I have no receipt, only a budget book showing the entry.

2. Does that mean anything in court? I have asked this lawyer how much I owe him and he never gives an account, the only answer being he will be fair.

3. If I can prove this lawyer has given me the wrong advice on this case can I hold him responsible for such advice? B. K.

1. No. If the figure cannot be agreed upon between you, then presumably he will bring suit for the amount that he claims, you will present your defense or basis for saying that the amount should be smaller and the court will decide what is a reasonable figure.

2. It seems probable that your proof would be sufficient as to the amount you have paid.

3. If you can prove that you were damaged by his failure to exercise the care and skill that he undertook to exercise you would be entitled to set off such damages, but the mere fact that he made a mistake would not be conclusive against him.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PROBATE ESTATE.

Chicago, March 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Having been named beneficiary in a will I would like to know a little about it. I am to receive the income from a trust fund for the next few years. The will was admitted to probate about a month ago in Lake county, Illinois.

1. How long will it take to remain in probate and [2] being a trust fund will the time be the same?

3. Also, will I receive the accumulated amount of the income while in probate or does it start at the end of the allotted time? The way the will read it started from the time of death. M. L.

1. Creditors are allowed a year in which to file their claims. Ordinarily probate proceedings are not closed until after the expiration of that year.

2. The period of the trust fund would be entirely separate and would depend on the wording of the will.

3. Ordinarily it starts after the expiration of the probate proceedings, but we cannot advise to advantage without having the wording of the will before us.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TITLE GUARANTEE.

Chicago, Ill. March 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A farm was purchased for $6,500 with down payment of $1,000 and balance in monthly payments. Seller was to furnish guaranty policy of title for $6,500 but, through some error, policy was made out for $6,000. Seller advised he would allow difference between what it would cost for $6,500 and a $6,000 policy.

1. Should we accept this policy?

2. Is it advisable to ask them to furnish guarantee policy in the sum of $6,500, which is the purchase price? O. A.

1. We see little importance to the difference in figures, since the title company does not guarantee its title unless they have already satisfied themselves that they are running substantially no risk. It is extremely rare that the full amount of a guarantee policy is collected from the company.

2. See 1.

PHYSICIANS HAIL MOTHERS-TO-BE BLOOD TEST BILL

Predict 50 Pct. Decrease in Congenital Syphilis.

If the Saltiel bill requiring physicians to determine through blood tests whether expectant mothers have syphilis became a law it would reduce the incidence of congenital syphilis 50 per cent, doctors who indorsed the bill said yesterday. The bill is to be considered soon by the house of representatives in Springfield.

"The bill will be largely educational," said Dr. Anton J. Carlson of the University of Chicago, a noted physicist. He aided Dr. G. E. Wakerlin of the University of Illinois medical school in drafting the bill.

"It provides for no penalties and no treatment of the mother after discovery of the disease can be enforced," Dr. Carlson added.

"In future years, when the people of Illinois are educated by this law, another might be passed with teeth in it. But this bill will do much good. We hope that mothers will value their health and that of their unborn children enough to submit voluntarily to treatment when they understand the full implications."

What Law Would Require.

The proposed law would require every physician or midwife to cause a Wassermann or a Kahn blood test to be made when a woman applied for obstetrical examination and was found to be pregnant. It also would require the inclusion on birth certificate or stillbirth certificate of a statement whether such a test were made, the date of it, and the name of the laboratory making it.

The bill is sponsored by the public health committee of the City club. Dr. Wakerlin heads the subcommittee on the measure. Other members of the committee are Dr. Fred Stenn, chairman; Dr. Andrew C. Ivy of Northwestern university, Dr. Maximilian J. Hubeny, Dr. C. I. Reed, and Dr. Isaac Abt.

Representative Edward P. Saltiel [R., Chicago], who spoke before the house judiciary committee Wednesday before the committee approved the measure, said the Illinois State Medical society had approved it.

Syphilis Toll Cited.

Of the 115,000 babies born each year in Illinois Dr. Wakerlin said that 3,000 are born with syphilis. Another 3,000 stillbirths occur every year in the state. Of these about 500 are due to syphilis in the mother. An indefinite number of natural abortions are the result of syphilitic infection, he said.

If the bill becomes a law it should do much to educate mothers to have medical examinations early — the earlier the better—in pregnancy, said Dr. Wakerlin. If a syphilitic condition is discovered in the first two months of pregnancy and treatment is instituted and continued, a woman has a 95 per cent chance of having a normal baby without syphilis, he said.

Treatment Insures Security.

It is not uncommon for women to have acquired syphilis from their husbands without being aware of it, Dr. Wakerlin said. Five per cent of all cases are acquired extragenitally —by kissing when the mouth is infected in an early stage of the disease or through drinking glasses and other means.

"Treatment of the mother before the fifth month is likely to insure a large degree of security for the baby," he said. "The disease is transmitted when spirochetes, the infecting organism, move from the maternal bloodstream into the placenta and fetal bloodstream.

"When curative drugs are injected in the blood or between the muscles the spirochetes are eliminated from the bloodstream or made too weak to affect the child."

EX-WIFE SERVES WRIT BY HERSELF, GETS JUDGMENT

A writ of attachment served personally by his divorced wife brought John Cserep, 10202 South Carpenter street, into Judge Robert C. O'Connell's Superior court yesterday. The former wife is Mrs. Elizabeth Cserep, 7036 South Peoria street, who was represented by Attorney Sol R. Friedman.

Betty Cserep.

She told the court that in 1936 Cserep was ordered to pay $10 a week for the support of a daughter, Betty Mae, now 5 years old, who was in court with her mother. Twice, when arrearage began to accumulate, she said, she had Cserep summoned, but he failed to appear. Then she induced him to take her for an auto ride, during which she served him herself. He threw the writ out the window, she said.

The court granted the judgment for $352, making possible attachment of Cserep's wages and all personal assets. He is a maintenance man for a toothpaste company.

Discover Masterpiece by Rubens in Moscow Museum

MOSCOW, March 24.—(AP)—The government newspaper Izvestia said today a masterpiece by Rubens had been discovered in the Pushkin Museum of Arts. Experts pronounced it genuine. Restoration efforts disclosed the canvas to be a portrait of a young woman holding a fan. The painting bears the signature of Rubins, seventeenth century Flemish artist, in the upper corner.

CHURCHILL TWEEDS

from the Sports Room

$19.95

Have you seen this grand Churchill tweed—woven ingeniously of wool and cotton? You'll especially like the way it tailors and holds its shape. Easy to understand why Churchill tweed is leading the way to a sports preference for box top coats! Grand colors, too: navy and white or black and white mixed or natural. Both styles come in sizes 12 to 20. And they're just $19.95

FRIENDS TO FETE MALONE'S RETURN FROM U. S. PRISON

Expect 500 at Park Ridge Homecoming Today.

There was much hustle and bustle last night in the Park Ridge mansion of William H. Malone. Grounds of the estate at 201 Grand boulevard were prepared for a crowd of guests. Plans were going forward to open the big house wide this afternoon. For Malone, the political and financial godfather of Park Ridge, is due home from prison today.

Cakes were being baked by the dozens. Mounds of sandwiches were being prepared. Two big coffee machines were carried into the house so that 300 to 500 persons might have refreshment.

Stage Set for Entrance.

The stage is all set for an impressive entrance. The guests have been told to assemble by 3 o'clock. At 3:15 Malone is scheduled to arrive.

He left the United States medical center at Springfield, Mo., immediately after his parole became effective at 12:01 a. m. Friday. He had been transferred to the medical center last August because a heart ailment made it dangerous for him to remain longer in the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa. He was resting last night somewhere along the route to Chicago so he would be in proper fettle to sit up all night tonight with neighbors, tenants, debtors, and friends.

Mrs. Malone and her nephew, Norman Johnson, left Park Ridge early Thursday to meet him and escort him back.

Convicted of Tax Evasion.

Malone, former chairman of the Illinois tax commission, was indicted in 1933 for evading nearly $60,000 in income taxes on large sums paid him in 1929 and 1930 by attorneys for three big corporations, the Pullman company, the Chicago Surface Lines, and the North Shore Gas company. The attorneys were later suspended by the Illinois Supreme court from practicing law for two years. Malone refused to return home from a European tour until 1936. He went to trial in May of 1937. A jury before Judge William J. Holly found him guilty.

The Supreme court refused a review. The President denied a pardon. Judge Holly refused a stay after doctors told the court there was nothing about Malone's condition, a diaphragmatic rupture of long standing, to prevent him from serving his term. But after two months in prison and seven in the federal hospital, Malone was freed because of his age, 61 years, and the pressure on his heart, the parole board said.

GREEKS USHER IN 114TH BIRTHDAY OF INDEPENDENCE

Impressive ceremonies yesterday ushered in today's celebration of Greek independence, in commemoration of the 114th anniversary of Hellenic freedom. More than 75,000 persons in and near Chicago of Greek birth or extraction are participating in the observance.

A vesper service yesterday in the Church of the Annunciation, 1017 North La Salle street, was officiated over by Bishop Callistos, assisted by the entire clergy membership from Chicago's nine Greek churches. Following the services many of the faithful remained in prayer within the church throughout the night.

A massmeeting will be held in the Morrison hotel tonight. Operatic and Greek folk music will be given in Fullerton hall of the Art institute tomorrow night.

Bishop Callistos urged all the faithful to join in the celebration. He cited its religious significance and said: "It is also the most colorful and important day in modern Greek history. It marke the beginning of a general European uprising against the tyranny of rulers who tried to impose upon minorities unjust regulations, depriving the multitude of their cherished personal, political, and religious human rights."

SQUAD CAR WINS RACE WITH STORK BY 20 MINUTES

The scene was Belvidere and Victory streets in Waukegan. Frank Gonzales of 218 South Utica street was tinkering with his automobile early yesterday when a police squad drew up beside him.

"I'm in terrible trouble," said Frank. "This car has to break down while my wife is in it. She's got to get to St. Therese hospital right away. She can't wait."

The policemen, Roy Edwards and Arthur Opal, took Mrs. Gonzales into the squad car and hurried her, with their lights blinking and siren sounding, to the hospital. Twenty minutes after her arrival there she gave birth to a daughter.

G. P. BRAUN JR., ILL 2 WEEKS OF MENINGITIS, DIES

George P. Braun Jr., vice president and advertising manager of the Murine company, died yesterday afternoon in St. Luke's hospital. He was stricken two weeks ago with meningitis. Mr. Braun was 27 years old, and lived at 22 West Schiller street.

He was the son of George D. Braun, wealthy real estate dealer, and Mrs. William M. Scudder, prominent in social affairs. His mother and his wife, the former Sarah Davis, had been at his bedside almost constantly since he became ill.

Slugs Woman on Street Near Home and Robs Her

Mrs. Myrtle Walker, 39 years old, 6119 South Washtenaw avenue, was slugged early today by a hoodlum near her home and robbed of $1. The man stole up from behind and without a word struck her on the head with what police believe was a blackjack. Mrs. Walker was treated at the Holy Cross hospital.

FIRECRACKERS GO OFF UNDER JUDGE; HE SEEKS A CLEW

New York, March 24.—(AP)—Two dozen firecrackers went off under Magistrate Overton Harris' bench today. Forty men dashed out of the courtroom, thinking an attempt was being made to assassinate the judge. The magistrate himself rushed to the chief clerk's office, shouting above the din:

"Start an investigation. Get the finger prints on those firecrackers." No fragment of firecracker big enough to give a finger print was found and there was no clew to the prankster.

Some time ago Magistrate Harris was annoyed by the popping of a policeman's motorcycle outside his courtroom. He ran to the window and ordered the policeman to come in and be fined. The chief magistrate sided with the policeman, however, and overruled Harris.

COUNCIL PASSES 65 MILLION LEVY FOR CITY SCHOOLS

The city council yesterday passed the tax levy of $65,190,171 adopted by the board of education for its 1939 needs.

This levy will produce the bulk of the $74,000,000 the schools are expected to spend. The remainder is to come from the Public Work administration [for buildings] the state distributive fund, and other revenues of the board. The tax levy, it is estimated, will produce only 90 per cent of the $65,190,171 asked, because of losses and costs of collection.

The council also approved an authorization for the school board to sell tax anticipation warants up to 75 per cent of the expected tax revenue.

Trafic Squads to Warn Children in Streets, Too

The spring weather brought new orders to the fourteen special trafic squads equipped with loud speakers. In addition to warning motorists of trafic violations, the squads have been instructed by Capt. David Flynn to pay special attention to children on bicycles and roller skates.

SELF-APPOINTED MALE NURSE AGREES TO BUY NEW SHOES FOR BABY

John King was in the market yesterday for baby shoes. John got on a crooning binge Thursday afternoon, found a baby in a pram on the street and wheeled it about while he replenished his liquor supply. The baby belongs to Mrs. Dorothy Cilona, 2610 Gunnison street. Held on a disorderly conduct charge yesterday, King agreed to buy the baby some shoes as a peace offering. They are to be white and size 5, and John, who is an amateur actor and lives at 2424 Geneva terrace, will fit them to the youngster next Friday in the Town Hall court of Judge J. M. Braude.

REFUSES TO FIX TERM OF JAILED PHOTOGRAPHER

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 24.—(AP)—Judge Charles Lusk of the Criminal court refused today to set a definite sentence for Robert Brown, Chattanooga News photographer who was committed to jail yesterday for an indeterminate period.

Brown was held in contempt after refusing to give the Hamilton county grand jury information about cockfight pictures which appeared in the News recently.

The photographer asserted today he would never tell about the pictures, and was ready to stick it out all summer if it is necessary. Judge Lusk ordered Brown held until he "discloses to the grand jury what he knows."

Order School Board Survey of Central Upturn Area

At the request of Ald. John A. Massen [48th], the city council yesterday authorized the school education to survey the area east of Sheridan road between Bryn Mawr avenue and Addison street and to build a new elementary school if conditions warant. The present facilities in this area appear to be inadequate to meet the needs of the community, Ald. Massen said.

SAY, BUDDIE, CAN YOU SPARE SEVEN LUMPS OF SUGAR?

Don't forget your lump of sugar for the mounted policeman's horse this morning. Seven of them have been ordered to be sold—horses that can nuzzle into bank presidents' pockets for something to eat and might, if they could speak, call the city's great by their first names without being thought impertinent. They're democratic, though, these horses; they don't care that you haven't a dime if you have sugar.

Horses to be sold, their beats, and their riders: Dick, Board of Trade district, Joe Weber; Billie, South State street, George Hurley; Wild Bill Hickock, South Wells street, Patrick Creagh; Elsie and Jackie Coogan, North Western station district, Harold Hansen and John Hackett; Will Rogers, North Wells street, Arthur Baake; Honey, North Wabash avenue, Charles Zobus.

They're being sold because they've had ten years of service. They can cross the street in trafic without shaking a dime off their saddles.

GETS A DIVORCE AND LECTURE FOR PAMPERING WIFE

Too much pampering of a wife brought harsh words yesterday from Judge Rudolph Desort of the Superior court, who, nevertheless, granted the husband a divorce. The complainant was Frank Federico, 45 years old, a Dolton contractor.

Federico said he married Antoinetta Federico in Bolognano, Italy, in August of 1921. He came to the United States early in 1922 and by May of that year had established a home and had enough money for his wife's passage, he said. He sent her a ticket, but she delayed her departure. For ten years, until 1931, this continued, Federico said, during which time he sent her more than $10,000 and several steamship tickets. In 1931, he said, his wife quit answering his letters.

"If you had not sent her so much money and pampered her in this way she would have come to you in a hurry," said the court. "Divorce granted."

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Jane Eggleston Zimmerman.

Mrs. Jane Eggleston Zimmerman, 97 years old, died yesterday in her home at 561 Willard place, Evanston. She had been a resident of Evanston since her marriage in 1869 to the late Rev. Charles H. Zimmerman, a Methodist Episcopal minister and writer on religious subjects.

Mrs. Zimmerman was a charter member of the Woman's Club of Evanston and was active in the work of the Women's Christian Temperance union. She was a sister of Edward Eggleston, the author.

Surviving are a son, Charles H. Zimmerman, a teacher of Latin in New Haven High school, New Haven, Conn.; and three daughters, Miss Ethel Cary Zimmerman and Mrs. L. F. Pooler of Evanston and Mrs. G. M. Griggs, Glen Ellyn. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Monday in the home.

George H. Kriete.

George H. Kriete, a special assistant attorney general, died yesterday in his home at 325 Oxford road, Kenilworth. He was 66 years old. Attorney Kriete specialized in civil and corporation law. His widow, Luella, a son, George Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Arthur B. Haven Jr., survive. The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 1118 Greenleaf avenue, Wilmette.

Roderick D. Richardson.

Roderick Davis Richardson, a former director of the Chicago Board of Trade, died yesterday in his home at 1115 Maple avenue, Evanston. He was 89 years old. Mr. Richardson, who was born in Montpelier, Vt., established a brokerage in Boston, Mass., many years ago, and was a member of the board of trade there. He came to Chicago about forty years ago. He was a director of the Chicago Board in 1902, '03 and '04. He retired in 1908. Surviving are his widow, Annie, and two daughters, Mrs. Thomas R. Hair, of Evanston, and Mrs. Albert S. Long, of Winnetka. Services will be held at 2 p. m. today in Lady chapel of St. Luke's procathedral, Evanston. Burial will be in Boston Monday.

Miss Bessie Bennett.

Funeral services for Miss Bessie Bennett, curator of decorative arts at the Art institute for 25 years, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 7206 Stony Island avenue. Miss Bennett, who lived at 7345 South Shore drive, died Thursday. She was an expert in the installation of exhibits. Under her administration the decorative arts galleries at the institute grew from a small beginning until they occupied one-third of the institute's floor space. In 1919 she was decorated by the French government for her work. A brother, Augustus A. Bennett, survives.

Mrs. Delia Day.

Mrs. Delia Day, widow of Edward G. Day, a pressman for THE TRIBUNE, died of a heart attack yesterday in her home at 5914 South Wolcott avenue. She was 58 years old. Surviving are two sons, Joseph, an employé in the advertising department of THE TRIBUNE, and Edward E. Day. The funeral will be held at 9 a. m. Tuesday from the residence to St. Theodore's church. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Edwin McNeal.

Edwin McNeal, a stock broker in Chicago for forty years, died yesterday of heart disease in his home at 5555 Sheridan road. He was 73 years old. His office was at 208 South La Salle street. Surviving are his widow, Christina, and a son, H. Edwin. Funeral services will be held in the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue on Monday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Oak Woods cemetery.

A VET SOLVES KNOTTY PROBLEM IN ETIQUETTE

A problem in conduct arose last night in the Burgundy inn at 2355 North Clark street when two robbers marched in with pistols and cried loudly, "Everybody get in the icebox."

There wasn't any icebox. Most of the twenty-five customers sat quietly while one of the bandits robbed the owner, Otto Krusse, of $230, and his wife of a diamond ring.

Then the bandits turned to the customers and tried to take the watch of John E. Peterson, 50 years old, 2256 Cleveland avenue. Peterson seized a table lamp and hit one robber on the head. Both robbers fled. Peterson followed with the lamp. The hammered bandit turned on him and fired four times, without a hit, and then got away.

"We were bluffed," Peterson told Policeman Ambrose Mahoney. "I've been in the army and I know all about firearms. That fellow was shooting blanks at me."

DECIDES TO KEEP POST AS MORTON HIGH BOARD CHIEF

Last January Jerome J. Cerny submitted his resignation as chairman of the board of the J. Sterling Morton high school in Cicero. The board never acted on his resignation, however, and yesterday, four days before it was to have become effective, he withdrew it. Cerny explained, "I think the present difficulties of the school need my attention." He referred, he indicated, to an investigation by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Charges of political interference and incompetency in management at the school have been made. The association is expected to rule next week on a recommendation that the school be dropped from its approved list.

POTTER PALMER AND BRIDE SPLIT; COPS FIX IT UP

Tampa, Fla., March 24.—(AP)—Tampa police were cast in the rôle of peacemakers early today when they persuaded Potter D'Orsay Palmer, the four time married member of the Chicago Palmer family, to return to his Bradenton home and his bride, the former Pluma Louise Lowery Abatiello, to whom he was married when she was a waitress at a Sarasota sandwich stand.

The fourth Mrs. Palmer telephoned Tampa police last night from Bradenton and asked aid in locating her husband, whom she reported "missing." City detectives found Palmer.

Police Capt. J. H. Nepper acted as peacemaker and later quoted Palmer as saying he and his bride of three months had had a "spat" Wednesday, but that he was returning to her today.

Two Weddings Interest Social Circles Tonight

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Rev. Emory W. Luccock, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Evanston, is going to have a busy evening, for he is to officiate at two large weddings tonight. At 8 o'clock in his church he will perform the service for Miss Margaret Gurley and Harry A. Dow Jr., and half an hour later he will read the service that will unite Miss Nancy Poppenhusen and G. Sheldon Fox Jr. Their marriage will be in the chapel of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Following the Dow-Gurley marriage there will be a wedding supper for the bridal party and the two families at the Glen View club. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Gurley of Evanston, and Mr. Dow is the son of Mrs. Harry A. Dow and the late Mr. Dow, also of Evanston. Mr. and Mrs. Conrad H. Poppenhusen will give a wedding reception for their new son-in-law and daughter at their home in Evanston. Mr. and Mrs. Fox Sr. live in Evanston also.

Announce Members of Wedding Parties.

Mrs. Wesley Whelass Jr. of Shreveport, La., will be matron of honor for Miss Gurley and the bridesmaids will be Mrs. Joseph L. Buell Jr., Mrs. George Randall Roberts Jr., Miss Patricia Smith of Fort Reilly, Kas.; Miss Margot Buss of Milwaukee, and Miss Kathleen Dow, sister of the bridegroom.

Walter Dow will be best man for his brother and the ushers will be Basil Brown, Frank Osborne Elliott, George Claus, Edward Bauman, Mr. Buell, Robert Gurley, brother of the bride, and Eugene E. Husting. After a wedding trip Mr. Dow and his bride will be at home in Evanston.

Miss Dorothea Wing will be maid of honor for Miss Poppenhusen and the bridesmaids will be Miss Mary Lou Arnold, Miss Nancy Cockrell, Miss Betty Jane Pryce, and Miss Katherine Maloney, all of Evanston. Douglas Scott will be best man.

The ushers will be John Cordell of South Bend, Ind.; Ernest Estes of La Grange, John Sinding of Grand Rapids, and Cyrus MacKinnon of Columbus, O. Mr. Fox and his bride will motor south on their wedding trip. They also will make their home in Evanston.

Reveal Engagement of Anzonette Nicholas.

From New York comes the engagement announcement of Miss Anzonette Vincent Nicholas and John Townsend Lees. Miss Nicholas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Nicholas, now of New York, formerly lived in Evanston. Mr. Lees is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lees of Bethlehem, Pa.

The wedding will take place on April 8. After a wedding trip to Havana Mr. and Mrs. Lees will be at home in New York.

Henry Stanton Will Wed Caroyln McKay.

Announcement is made by Mrs. Henry McKay of Wausau, Wis., of the engagement of her daughter, Carolyn Ann, to Henry Thompson Stanton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Stanton of Wayne. The wedding will take place in the summer. Miss McKay prepared at Milwaukee Downer and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1937.

Mr. Stanton prepared for Williams college at Kent. He finished college in 1937, and then spent six months touring the world. He now is in business in Chicago and Paxton, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Stanton will entertain at tea at their home, White Thorns, to-

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

The latter, in fiction coating, detailed the experiences of budding medicos. The former, in like story guise, gives you an idea as to how that efficient person known as a graduate nurse is evolved from the raw material called "probationer."

You will find this film a gripping movie, that hangs on to your interest every minute. The four girls referred to in the title are Norma Page, who enters training for selfish motives, her eager young sister, Patricia, who comes along just to be near her, Gertie Robbins, a southerner who really likes the work and furnishes comedy relief and Mary Forbes, a wistful, widowed [I guess she's widowed] young mother who has taken up nursing that she may be able to support her adored little girl.

The unworthy motives of Norma, the worthy ones of Mary, Norma's selfishness, Mary's selflessness — are thrown up in violent relief and contrast. And it's in the cards that Norma shall be responsible for tragedy for Mary and that Mary's tragedy shall prove a refining pot for Norma in which all her dross drops away and from which she emerges a nurse of whom even Florence Nightingale might be proud. . . . A nurse who, at last convinces the scornful and brilliant doctor, who, though he loved her had thought her pretty poor stuff, that she is T-H-E-R-E—in great, big, capital letters.

The simple directness of the acting and the sincerity of presentation are what give this picture its pull. Sure it rings in melodrama; sure it has a certain amount of hokum. But in the main it's a fine piece of work.

Miss Sandberg Wed to Thomas M. Drever at Glencoe Church

Miss Harriet Sandberg, daughter of the Harry Stevens Sandbergs of Glencoe, became the bride last night of Thomas Maxwell Drever, son of the Thomas Drevers, also of Glencoe. The service was read by the Rev. Dr. Douglas Cornell at the Glencoe Union church. A reception followed in the Women's Library club.

The bride was dressed in white satin. Mrs. David Payson Hicks was her sister's matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Cosgrove, Johnstown, Pa., a school friend of the bride; Miss Helen Tutt, Mrs. Frazier Wilson and Miss Helen Jackson.

Ross Drever was his brother's best man. Ushers were Winslow Wright, Robert Miller, Sutton Pennington, Frank Alexander, Mr. Hicks and James Whittaker.

Smart Blouses Keep Spotlight of Style News

BY RHEA SEEGER.

When the career girl starts on a shopping binge this spring she'll find that the new loot and prices are positively breath taking! These are the weeks when the blouse collections have reached peak attraction. Good looking suit blouses are legion and price marks are amazingly low. See the clever striped affairs in soft crêpe or jersey and the blazing bright units made of striped piqué, tailored precisely, and with beautifully fitted collar lines and short sleeves.

Sheer batistes, organdies, and lawns come with all kinds of frills or cascades of lace down the center, the sort of dress parade blouses to wear with dressmaker soft suits in dark colors.

For daytime suits see the stunning white dotted silks. These have high necks, are bloused discreetly at the beltline, and have brief sleeves. If the stripe frenzy possesses your soul, see some new half inch combines in unusual powdery colors such as dove gray and citron yellow, rose red with oyster white. These button demurely down the front, look like waistcoats and have easy to slide into sleeves.

The separate skirts and jackets are ready for the matching and mixing addicts. New plaids feature pale backgrounds, which give greater visibility to the vivid color contrasts.

Newly unpacked and ready for the post-Easter dancing parties are the short fitted jackets of shot-bengaline . . . thickly ribbed material of this stuff has shimmering highlights of gold metal for extra attraction. The sleeves are long with sharp puffs at the shoulderline; the streamline is fitted in at the waistline and over the ribs. Colors are knockout.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of the first perfume arrivals for the celebration of Easter is a Russian Easter lily—and if you don't love it we'll go sit in a corner!

Last year, if we remember correctly, the creators of this enchanting new scent brought out a cologne in the fragrance. It was one of the most lasting of the perfumed colognes and the scent itself made a great impression on us. Apparently other women went for it too, because it's out now in a straight perfume.

This is one of those scents that's awfully hard to describe. You might think that a lily perfume would be heady and almost sickeningly sweet. This one isn't that way at all. While it's basically a "pretty" perfume—and certainly made to order for this spring season of emphasis on the ingénue accents—it's not tiresome or cloying. There's a spicy note to it that gives it pep as well as substance.

If you like florals—plus a little punch—you'll be pretty mad about this. One of our most critical cohorts, who professes to think that florals are all pretty dull as perfumes go, practically knocked us down to get our bottle into her possession. She had drawn the cologne when it first came out and did a jitterbug dance of rejoicing when she learned about the actual Russian lily perfume.

We can't imagine a nicer perfume or a more suitable one to complement one of those new spring costumes with frilly, ladylike touches. This is feminine as can be, and gay as spring itself. The packaging is exquisite; it comes in a beautifully modeled crown bottle nestling royally in a velvet case. But you can get it in bulk, too.

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

Wearing new spring frocks and Easter bonnets and with fragrant posies blooming on their shoulders, Mrs. O. W. Dynes, Mrs. George Plamondon, and Mrs. Raymond Knotts welcomed the arrivals at the preview of the thirteenth annual Chicago Flower show on the Navy pier last night.

No one would have guessed that up until noon, when the judging started, these women and all the others who are responsible for the beauty and success of the show had been working like beavers, digging, planting, watering, and doing the thousand and one things that have to be done on the last day.

The gardeners must have been tired, but there was no evidence of it; they were gracious hostesses greeting their 5,000 invited guests.

The guests were tired but happy when they said good night to the hostesses, for the show covers a lot of ground [three acres]. I felt as if I had been on a long trip after I had seen the first half of the show, the club entries, for they take one on a tour of Illinois—not only a tour that shows various parts of the state but one that starts back in pioneer days, moves on through the years up to the present, and into the future.

The entrance is through a forest, arranged by the Forest Preserve of Cook County. At the right there was a cabin, such a cabin as the one Abraham Lincoln lived in as a boy. The Woman's Garden Club of Villa Park arranged the interior, and the Western Springs Garden club, the garden. This is a fascinating exhibit, one of the best in the show, I thought, and the judges deemed the garden worthy of a silver medal.

On a bit farther is a white house in the Greek revival period, which was around 1840. From there one goes to Galena in 1865. Here there are two brick houses, friendly, cozy little houses with charming exteriors glimpsed through the windows, and a delightful kitchen garden at the rear of one. The Lincolnwood Garden Club of Evanston was awarded a silver medal for its interior in one of these houses, a dressmaker's combined home and shop.

From Galena we traveled to Chicago, to the near south side, where around 1885 there was a picturesque residential place, Aldine square. It is the high spot of the flower show and the ensemble was given a silver medal by the judges.

Aldine square must have been a lovely place. The houses were in Victorian style that is so fashionable now. In the flower show's Aldine square there are four houses, two on each side, with a little garden in the middle of the street.

In the garden is a pond with a foot bridge crossing it. There isn't much grass in Aldine square, for many precise persons of that period preferred nicely raked gravel to lawns. Gleaming through the lace curtained windows are hand painted lamp globes, atrocities they were called thirty years ago, but today they are prized by those with Victorian tendencies.

From Aldine square we come to the present, and not a very attractive present, I am forced to say regretfully. The future, however, is stunning. Glass houses with no windows, each with a terrace and garden. In one of the gardens there is no ground nor grass, just gravel dyed a rich rose and bright blue as a foundation for the plants and flowering shrubs. Going from the garden on to the terrace, where a table is laid for a meal, there is more dyed gravel that simulates tile. There is a huge square of yellow and another of green. The Ravinia Garden club won a blue ribbon for its work on this garden.

Complementing each of these classes are tables and flower arrangements, interesting exhibits that will prove of great value to amateur gardeners who go to the flower show for ideas. In the main classes themselves there is such perfection of detail in the architecture and interior decoration that sometimes one feels that the gardening has been slighted a little.

Apparently those who arranged the window boxes of the future feel that artificial flowers will supplant real ones, but no one can believe that this will be the case after viewing the flowers in the professional exhibits. Never have they been so gorgeous in a Chicago flower show.

The committee has installed dozens of benches in this year's show, so there are plenty of resting places all the way along the line of march. Many of last night's guests took advantage of the wheel chairs obtainable at the entrance, and a number of chauffeurs saw the show as they pushed their mistresses around.

Some of those who saw the show in its pristine freshness were Mr. and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, the Thomas E. Wilsons, the Reimund Baumanns, the Wentworth P. Mackenzies, Mrs. Edmund Raftery, the Paget Cadys, the Charles Lindsays, the Frederick D. Corleys, the young Robert Uphams, Mrs. Harry Wells, Willard Jaques, the Edward C. Kohlsaats, Mrs. William S. Hay, the Telfer MacArthurs, the Henry Bartholomays, Mrs. William M. Spencer and her mother, Mrs. Edson White; the Ernst von Ammons, the Elmer Wieboldts, Miss Emily Goehst, and Mrs. Herbert Mayer.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Trek to the North

San Francisco, Cal., March 24.—For seventeen months your reporter has been within 441 miles of this city, as the crow flies from Hollywood, and on the first day of each of those seventeen successive months he has resolved to see San Francisco. The world's fair was as good an excuse as any, and here we are, with Miss Sally Rand as a civic guide. To most of you, Sally is the much publicized young lady who dances with a fan or scampers around behind a large bubble, but to those in the theatrical profession acquainted with her resolution and ambition, she is a purposeful Missouri girl who never has relaxed her determination to succeed. "I've never pretended that I was a glamor girl," she says, "but I always have intended to be successful and I've been fairly successful." The fact that she was synonymous with the Chicago World's Fair, at present is the No. 1 name attraction of this world's fair, and is now planning a spectacular invasion of the New York world's fair testifies to her ability to go places and do things, profitably.

Viewed from the city at night, Treasure Island is an electrical display to fascinate the beholder, a flotilla of a million lights anchored in the bay. Why it is failing to do more business at the moment is a problem that baffles those connected with its financing. On the night that I visited it, there was only a handful of people walking about and these few were driven to the midway when the lights went off about 10:30 o'clock. In contrast to the fair at Chicago and the one I saw at Paris, this one was lacking in excitement, as lackluster as a huge theater only partly filled. The depressing spirit even had communicated itself to the girls in Miss Rand's nude ranch, a group of singularly unattractive ladies who wander around their premises with not much more than sombreros and boots to protect them from the damp air.

The drive to San Francisco from Hollywood, along the ocean road, is an experience that every American owes himself. This is more arresting than the drive along the French Riviera, overlooking the Mediterranean. As you pass San Simeon, to the left are the frowning parapets of an empire now in process of dissolution. It is an enchanting drive, this passage along the lap of the Pacific.

Fisherman's wharf in this city packs a lot of color, and the stalls or restaurants offer you an excellent fish dinner, though personally I preferred Bernstein's Fish Grotto just a few blocks from the St. Francis hotel. Perhaps it was because of the very friendly waiter at Bernstein's place. We had talked of this and that, as he brought the succulent oysters and suddenly he said: "I'll bet you can't tell how old I am." Assuming a judicious air, and cocking my head in the most approved manner, your reporter hazarded "Forty-four?" He beamed: "Fifty-two," and serving the rest of the meal, he hummed snatches of a song, because when you're fifty-two, and a person guesses your age at forty-four, it's better than a face lifting operation.

Herbie Kay's band was playing at the St. Francis, so after his batonic chores were completed one morning we went on a tour of night clubs. Most novel was a Chinese club invitingly tagged "The Forbidden City" . . . it is the first time I've ever seen an all-Chinese floor show, and the girl in the dance team could give Anna May Wong seven dragon lengths in a match race for attractiveness and easily top her. If Hollywood can use a Chinese beauty, then this gorgeous girl is just what the photogenic doctor ordered.

At the Music Box we saw Sally Rand because, oddly enough, she doesn't appear in person at the fair. Dora Maughan, Larry Carney and a line of girls complete the show and immediately after the show the night club patrons are permitted to meet Miss Rand in the Blue Room, a second floor lounge where she chats with them and signs postcard pictures of herself. Coincidentally, there is a bar in the Blue Room and it is quite natural that the champagne of her presence urges the autograph hunters to order at least one drink before departing. The entire arrangement is good showmanship.

The Blind Side

By Patricia Wentworth

[Copyright: 1939: By Patricia Wentworth Turnbull.]

SYNOPSIS.

Ross Craddock's father, now dead, turned Craddock house into flats and installed his old maid cousins, Mary and Lucy Craddock, in a flat apiece, on either side of the one occupied by Ross. After Mary's death Lucy prepares to leave for a change of scene. Their cousin, Peter Renshaw, is staying in Mary's flat while he settles her estate. Ross orders Lucy to vacate her flat because she objects to his attentions to her foolish young niece, Mavis Grey. Lucy tells Peter she wishes Ross were dead. He advises her to take the trip. Lucy gives her cousin, Lee Fenton, permission to use her flat while she is away. Lee, who is in love with Peter, has just escaped an unpleasant experience with a married man. Rush, the porter, admits Lee. He mutters belligerently against Ross. After Rush, Lee has a time dismissing Mrs. Green, the charwoman, who says she is ill and needs a drink of brandy. That evening Peter prevents Bobby Foster, Mavis' suitor, from making a scene in a night-club where Mavis is with Ross. Peter is awakened in the night by a crash. He sees Mavis running from Ross' flat, and Ross cut and bleeding. Mavis had thrown a decanter at him. Peter lets Mavis stay the rest of the night and he sleeps on a couch. Later he is again awakened and sees Mavis again coming from Ross' flat. She says she went to retrieve her purse. Lee awakens from a nightmare to find herself covered with blood. Her bloody footprints lead from Ross' door. Lee knows she walks in her sleep. In terror she washes away the bloodstains and goes to tell Peter. Ross' valet arrives and finds Ross has been shot and killed. He summons the police. An old maid tenant tells how she saw Mavis coming from Ross' flat twice. Peter refuses to lie for her. Miss Challoner, friend of Lucy's, brings word that Lucy did not go on her trip and that she arrived at her home at 3 in the morning.

INSTALMENT XXIV.
EAVESDROPPERS.

The inspector said, "H'm! Mr. Craddock had missed some of his papers. Is that what you made of it?"

Mrs. Green sniffed.

"I couldn't say, sir. That's what I heard. I can't say more and I can't say less. What I hears I remembers. And there's more things than that I could tell you if I thought it my duty, like you said."

"It is undoubtedly your duty," said the inspector in a most encouraging voice.

Mrs. Green sniffed again.

"I'm not one to listen, nor yet to poke my nose into other people's business, but I've got my work to do, and if a lady leaves her door open and talks into her telephone that's just inside, well, it's not my business to put cotton wool in my ears. And no later than the very evening before poor Mr. Craddock was murdered what did I hear but Miss Lucy Craddock say——"

"Wait a minute, Mrs. Green. You were on the landing, and Miss Craddock's door was open?"

"Half open, sir. She was all ready to start, and Rush had just been up for the luggage, when the telephone bell went."

"Well, now, what did she say?"

"You could have knocked me down with a feather," said Mrs. Green. "Dusting the bannisters, I was, and I heard her say quite plain, 'O, my dear, you know Ross is turning me out.' And then something about there being nothing in the will to stop him, and he wouldn't turn Miss Mary out on account of her being an invalid. She said as how he'd written her a horrible cruel letter, and it was all about Miss Mavis Grey that he didn't mean no good to. Ever so worked up she sounded. And, 'I've got quite a desperate feeling,' she says.

"It was Miss Fenton she was talking to, and there was a lot about her wanting to come here while Miss Lucy was away. I'd my dusting to do and I didn't trouble to listen, but I heard Miss Craddock say as how she was feeling desperate, and desperate she sounded—I'll swear to that."

The inspector let her go after that.

"Every blessed one of 'em might have done it as far as I can see," he said in a disgusted tone as Detective Abbott came back after making sure that both doors were shut. "Talented lot of eavesdroppers they've got in this house, too!"

"Yes, sir."

The inspector took a decision, a very minor decision, but one that was to have an unforeseen result. Getting out of his chair, he said:

"I'll go down and have a word with Rush. Perhaps he'll be easier to handle in his own quarters. And I'd rather like to see that wife of his. I suppose she is bedridden."

"Haven't you got enough suspects without her, sir?" said Detective Abbott.

The Rushes' basement room had a fair sized window through the top of which Mrs. Rush could see the railings which guarded the area and the legs and feet of the passers-by. She didn't complain, but she sometimes felt that it would be pleasant to see a whole person for a change.

Everything in the room was as bright and neat and clean as a new pin. Mrs. Rush wore a white flannelette nightgown, and her bed had a brightly printed coverlet. She had finished her baby socks and was starting a little vest for Ellen's baby.

Rush looked surprised and not at all pleased when he saw the inspector. Mrs. Rush, on the other hand, was pleasurably excited. It was pain and grief to her to be out of things, and here, after all, was Inspector Lamb, and a pleasanter spoken man you couldn't hope to find.

"Well, now, Mrs. Rush, I just want a word with your husband here, and I hope I'm not disturbing you coming in like this, but to tell you the truth I'm right down sick of that room upstairs and I thought I'd like to make your acquaintance."

He crossed to the foot of the bed and turned to Rush.

"There's a matter that came up just now and I'd like to know what you've got to say about it. I've been told that you and Mr. Craddock had words on Tuesday afternoon—something about his papers having been disturbed."

"Who said so?" said Rush with a growl.

"Some one who heard what passed. Come, sergeant, tell me about it yourself if you don't want me to take some one else's story."

"Albert——" said Mrs. Rush in a pleading voice.

"There's nothing to tell!" said Rush angrily. "Mr. Ross, he forgot himself. Thirty years I been in this job, and the first time any one ever said or thought but what I did my duty! Mr. Ross, he forgot himself, and now that he's dead I've no wish to bring it up."

There was a rough dignity about his squared shoulders and the set of his head. "If he isn't an innocent man, he's a very good actor," thought the inspector. He said:

"That does you credit. But I've got my duty, too, you know, and I'll have to ask you what took place between you."

Mrs. Rush looked up from her knitting.

"Now don't you be so disobliging, father."

Rush scowled at her. A completely meaningless mannerism as far as she was concerned, it having quite ceased to intimidate her after the first month of their marriage.

"A lot of busybodying going on over this business, it seems to me." The inspector was getting the scowl now. "First and last of it was, Mr. Ross called me into his room and said some one had been mucking about with his papers. Then he forgot himself and said it was me—said there were papers missing, and something about blackmail. And I told him he'd forgot himself and come away."

"Why should he think it was you? You haven't got a key to the flat, have you? Why didn't he suspect Peterson?"

"No, I haven't got a key—and if I had a hundred I wouldn't touch his papers. But Sunday Peterson had the day off and I had his key. And seems Mr. Ross forgot his bunch of keys that day—left them lying on his table. He's uncommon careless with them. And I told him straight I saw them, and I never touched them nor I never touched his papers, and if any one says so, alive or dead, he's a liar!"

"Did he threaten you with dismissal?" said the inspector.

"No, he didn't."

"Sure of that?"

"What are you getting at?"

The inspector was watching him closely.

"When a murder has taken place any one who has had a serious quarrel with the murdered man is bound to come under suspicion."

A deep flush ran up to the roots of Rush's thick gray hair. He breathed heavily. Then he said:

"You're suspecting me?"

Mrs. Rush said, "O, sir!" She let her knitting fall and clasped her hands. "O, sir! O, Albert! O, sir—he never did! O, Albert—you've got to tell him now. It's not right—not if they're going to think it's you. And if he's innocent it won't hurt him, and if he's done it it's not for us to stand in the way of the law——"

Bishop Stewart Calls Church Convention to Name Suffragan

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago yesterday called a special convention for May 31 to elect an assisting bishop. The call followed necessary consents from a majority of American Episcopal bishops and standing committees of all dioceses of the country.

The Chicago diocese gave consent to Bishop Stewart's request for a suffragan bishop at the annual convention of the diocese in February. A suffragan is a permanent assistant to a bishop, who does not have the right to succeed.

The Very Rev. Dr. Gerald G. Moore, dean of St. Luke's pro-cathedral, and the Rev. Dr. Edwin J. Randall, executive secretary of the local diocese, are the names most frequently mentioned for nomination.

Bishop Stewart also announced yesterday that he will be unable to preach his annual holy week noonday sermons in the Harris theater this year, but will deliver the Good Friday sermon.

Grandmama dissolved soda in buttermilk or hot water when she made cookies or biscuits. And they were right good biscuits. Why, then, do home economists nowadays frown upon dissolving soda in liquid?

You may do it if you like, but you lose a little or a great deal of the levening power of the soda if you let that carbon dioxide bubble off from the sour milk. Grandmama had to do something about her soda, for sometimes it was lumpy, and dissolving it seemed the best way to remove the lumps. But soda isn't lumpy any more, and the best way to distribute it through a batter and get the most work out of it is to sift it with dry ingredients. Some cooks cream it with the shortening, and this is convenient if there are spices to be added to the shortening, too. But, for the most part, it's better to stick to the standard up to date recipe and sift soda and flour together.

Old fashioned recipes using sour milk, buttermilk or molasses which call for "soda dissolved in the liquid" usually contain an excess of soda, by our standards. It was necessary to make up for the amount of gas lost in the liquid.

Speaking of old fashioned recipes, isn't it amusing, perhaps even annoying, to find an otherwise usable recipe which calls for "10 cents worth" of this or that ingredient?

NEW GLASS CAKE PAN: Here's just the thing for gingerbread, upside down cake, plain loaf cake, meat or chicken pie, and many oven baked casserole dishes. It's standard cake size, heatproof, and very attractive. You'll find it in the stores, too.

Lenten menus do require extra planning. You'll find Mary Meade's "Pleasant Meals for Lent" a help. The booklet is on sale for 3 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, or will be mailed for 5 cents in stamps. Address mail requests to Mary Meade.

Eve Curie, who passed through Chicago yesterday, spent the day with Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed. After luncheon Mrs. Goodspeed took her guest to the symphony concert. Mlle. Curie returns to Chicago next week to lecture on Wednesday night in Orchestra hall under the auspices of the Rosary College Alumnæ association.

Mlle. Curie's subject will be "The Magic of Radium." She is the author of the biography of her famous mother, "Madame Curie." Mlle. Curie is in this country as the guest of the woman's board of the Golden Gate International exposition. Proceeds of her Chicago lecture will benefit a new Catholic neighborhood house to be founded in the early future in an underprivileged district of the city.

Four Nurses Award Caps to Their Younger Sisters

Two young graduate nurses and two juniors at Presbyterian hospital school of nursing presented their younger sisters with caps at the traditional "capping" ceremonies in the hospital last night. The ceremony was for the thirty-seven student nurses who have completed the six month preliminary course and have been accepted as qualified to remain in the school for the rest of the three year course.

Knitted Sweater for Summer Is Cool and Light

BY JEAN MACDONALD.

Summer sweaters always demand the lightest weight and finest quality of yarn in either wools or cottons. A chalky, slightly twisted cotton is one new type which ranks among the coolest for warm weather. This sweater is knitted in a stockinette stitch with a graceful draped neckline that is flattering to every type of throat.

For the instructions for knitting the sweater with the draped neckline, No. X-225, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

The Chicago Lighting institute will give its 1939 presentation of "Color and Light" in the auditorium of the institute at the Civic Opera building on April 12. The Chief Engineers' association of Chicago will be guests of the institute.

Shorter Skirts Call for Slim, Beautiful Legs

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.
[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

What with the skirts getting closer and closer to knee length again, shapely legs are under strict advisement for all of us.

First, we would urge women not to adopt the extremely short skirt unless they have the underpinnings for them. In fact, we are going to start a "one-man movement" against a lot of styles that are designed either with a gross sense of injustice to our sex, a decadent humor, or for young willowy misses who could walk the streets with a tin pie plate on their heads, a burlap bag on their frames and still be amusing, gay, and charming.

We older women simply do not have to conform to doll hats that look assinine on mature heads, nor knee length skirts swinging from a voluminous hip. The designers do all right by us if we just use our heads.

There is a nice stopping point for skirts just where the leg begins to bulge. Until that bulge is kicked off or worked off by some exercise, it is best to keep it covered. Besides, proportion of the whole figure should determine the skirt length.

For leg slimming the two best exercises we know of are rope skipping and stationary running. The latter is done by going through the running motions in a limited space area.

Boston Symphony Will Appear in N. U. Series

A musical event of the first importance was promised for next season yesterday. The University college of Northwestern university announced that it would bring the Boston Symphony orchestra and its famous conductor, Serge Koussevitzky, to the Auditorium theater on Dec. 13. This will be the Boston orchestra's first Chicago concert in six years. The Philadelphia orchestra under Eugene Ormandy will open the Northwestern series on Oct. 31.

Dressy Afternoon Ensemble

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

If you're active socially, and belong to a great many clubs, you need a wide variety of dressy daytime clothes. We think you'll approve the pattern we're offering today. It has distinction, grace, and femininity, and all three are achieved with the simplest of lines.

The dress has a V neckline, untrimmed. That is, the blouse has, because the dress is a two-piece affair, which makes it more versatile. You may use the three parts of the costume together or with other items in your wardrobe. The sash that winds itself so softly around the waist belongs to the blouse. The skirt is widely flared. The bolero may be cut as shown in the large figure, or it may be caught together at a high, round neckline and fall full from the shoulders, as shown in the sketch at the upper left.

A variation in the blouse design is possible. For example, the center sketch shows how a round neckline with only a clip for adornment, might look.

There are innumerable interesting color and fabric schemes for a costume such as this, so we'll just leave the problem to your imagination, with the advice that prints are very important.

Style No. 2646 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 4¾ yards of 39 inch material for the ensemble, if it is made of one material.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Wise Freedom for the Child Implies Control

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

One Sunday recently our column was devoted to the north and south pole of some parents' ideas on rearing children. The ideas holding sway at each extreme being that freedom for children must mean running wild; or that control must mean close regulation and restriction of their activities and behavior in general. I promised a follow-up on this point. This is it, and I am taking, point by point, each objection as it was raised by the north and south polers:

1. A small child can really enjoy and use his home freely [for it is his home] and still be taught to respect its furnishings and be a fine little guest in other people's homes, too. This is the middle course.

2. And take another point often raised, the one about adolescents. Boys and girls in their teens can and should have the companionship of each other. Also, they should be given independence as fast as they can use it well, or they will be cramped and harmed; or else they will yern to get away from home [and this latter state of mind is far more frequent than you might think], where apron strings or the stern paternal grasp are never loosened.

3. And take the third point, that of self-discipline. The child who always is subjected to discipline from without, the do-as-I-say-because-I-say-it discipline, is at a disadvantage. An unreasoning, blind obedience does not develop a child's will power or free will, and is likely to repress and stunt the personality of the timid child or arouse rebellion in the more spirited one. Either of these is bad.

A middle course is one between the two extremes of absolute freedom and absolute control by an adult.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howe Carpenter of La Grange have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to S. Lane McCarthy, son of Dr. and Mrs. S. Lloyd McCarthy of Altoona, Pa.

Miss Carpenter is attending the University of Chicago. Mr. McCarthy is a graduate of Cornell university. The wedding will take place in June.

Night before last, in her rôle in I Married an Angel, at the point where she urges Dennis King to marry Audrey Christie, the girl she has picked out for him, instead of saying "She's just the right girl for you" Miss Segal said, "She's just the right horse for you."

Script Writer.

Quentin Reynolds, film writer, in town on his way east, has just finished the script for The Pastor and God, based on the life of Pastor Niemoeller, interned German pastor. Reynolds has made a number of talks in Hollywood and thereabouts on conditions inside Germany. Walter Wanger has dubbed him Hollywood's goy friend.

Correction.

Friends of Adolph Klas, Chicago restaurateur, reported to be in a German concentration camp because he tried to leave Czecho-Slovakia with the proceeds of the sale of some property he owned in the Sudeten area, have learned, through inquiries made abroad by the Cunard White Star Lines Ltd., that Klas, his wife, and his mother are returning to the United States on the Queen Mary, sailing April 15. Contrary to widely circulated reports, also printed here, Mr. Klas is an American citizen and is traveling on an American passport. He has had four extensions of his stay abroad. Cunard officials wirelessed the Cunard office in Prague to establish the Chicago restaurateur's whereabouts when friends became anxious as to his prolonged absence. Official red tape in getting a passport for his mother accounted for the delay in arrangements for the return trip, Cunard officials said.

Illinois Artistic Farm Colony.

Illinois will have its embryo Cranbrook, or Helicon Coöperative Farm colony, when Moholy-Nagy's School of Design, successor to the New Bauhaus, moves out to the Walter Paepcke farm near Aurora for its summer season. The school will occupy an old farmhouse on the Paepcke acres, and designs for industrial art, sculpture, and modern photography will be produced against a bucolic background of cornfields and grazing herds. Moholy-Nagy, George Kepes, whose specialty is photography and who was one of the first to do photomontage; George Fred Keck, architect, and Robert Wolff, sculptor and painter, are among the staf members of the school.

Seasonal Phenomena.

Newly clipped terriers. . . . A hat covered with peach blossoms in a Michigan avenue window. . . . Great branches of imitation apple blossoms in a loop department store window. . . . Sign on lagoon in Lincoln park, Danger; Thin Ice, and a man fishing in it. . . . Two lads in a two man shell off Oak street beach. . . . Two little girls picnicking amid the Lincoln park upheaval. . . . Nurses dawdling in the sunshine with their charges. . . . Two young men leaning against the Art institute lions, engaged in a discussion of close harmony on oboes. . . . And any day now we can expect to see the old man who sells canes at Quincy and Dearborn streets.

Grace Moore Concert Will Benefit Orphans.

The committee in charge of a benefit concert by Grace Moore for the Chicago Nursery and Half-Orphan asylum has been doing most of its work by mail. Many of those who will buy tickets are out of the city, and most of the committee members have been away on vacations.

Mrs. Thomas C. Dennehy, president of the board of managers and box chairman, just has returned from Hobe Sound in Florida. Headquarters have been opened at 75 Wacker drive, telephone Franklin 4785, and the sale of tickets will start in earnest.

Mrs. Dennehy, Mrs. Charles C. Haffner Jr., Mrs. Carroll H. Sudler Jr., and Mrs. Victor Milliken take turns in being at the office, and when the general chairman, Mrs. John I. Shaw, returns on April 1 from Chandler, Ariz., she will be there part of each day. Mrs. William T. Bacon, a member of the board and one of Mrs. Dennehy's box committee, is leaving soon with Mr. Bacon and their children for a trip to Washington. She will be back long before the concert, which will be on April 17 in the Civic Opera house.

Mrs. Bacon, Mrs. Arch Shaw, Mrs. Donald R. McLennan, Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., Mrs. Solomon A. Smith, Mrs. Herbert F. Perkins, Mrs. Bernard F. Rogers, and Mrs. Lawrence Howe are among those who already have taken boxes. Miss Mary Bacon, Miss Florence Hermes, Mrs. R. Joseph Rich, and Mrs. Robert Upham Jr. are among the young members of the board who are working on the ticket committee.

The asylum, which is located at 2801 Foster avenue, is in its 80th year of service. As its name implies, it is a home for children from homes that are broken. About 130 children are cared for. John C. Mechem is president of the board of directors; Richard Bentley the vice president; David B. McDougal, treasurer, and Carroll Sudler Jr. the secretary.

Parker School Helps Movie Programs.

The Francis W. Parker school is coöperating with the Woman's exchange in the latter's project of sponsoring motion pictures for children each Saturday morning at the Esquire theater.

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" will be shown this morning. Mrs. William M. Spencer and Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams will be at the theater to act as hostesses.

M. Henri David, professor at the University of Chicago, will lecture at 11:30 o'clock this morning at the Alliance Française. M. David will speak on "A Man of Letters—a Man of Business—Caron de Beaumarchais."

The senior class play of the Starrett School for Girls will be presented tonight at the Chicago Woman's club. The Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind will receive the proceeds. Mrs. John F. Jennings is chairman of the benefit. "First Lady" is the play to be given.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 diamond	Pass
2 spades	3 hearts	4 hearts	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

"The result was that seven spades were made and North was in the doghouse. [North, wife; South, husband.] North figured that her four heart cue bid was a definite force and that the four spade bid by South was a closing bid.

"South claims that the four heart bid told nothing and that North should have bid clubs to show the control. How about it?

"M. F. E., Connecticut."

North was to blame for missing the slam. This does not mean, however, that South's theory that North should have bid clubs is upheld. Most decidedly, it is not. I do not know whether or not the partnership was using the Culbertson four-five no trump convention, but, if it was, it would have been the correct bid over West's three hearts. South would have responded with five spades and North would have the values for a raise to six spades, which is exactly where the contract should have rested. A grand slam bid was out of the question because it involved a successful spade finesse and a drop of the diamond queen. Without any adverse bidding a grand slam contract that depends on a finesse is a horrible risk, but in this case it would have been even worse.

The North player went astray because she did not realize the importance of South's two spade response. Even after a player has passed originally [which was the case in this deal] a jump take-out must be given due weight as showing a hand just under an opening bid, or one with very strong distributional advantages. Thus, the moment North heard the two spade take-out she should have visualized a slam, since she had four honor tricks, good spade support, and very good distribution. The four heart cue bid was all right as far as it went [in the absence of the four-five no trump convention], but North should not have passed to the four spade response from South. It is easy to see that the cue bid in hearts did South no good and that, far from being encouraging, it must have discouraged him because it showed duplication of values. South himself had first round heart control, hence the ace in North's hand would be worth little, if anything. If North wanted to be conservative she could bid merely five spades, but a jump bid to six would have been the better course. The four spade bid was in no sense a "closing bid." It never is under such circumstances.

There is one refreshing part about my correspondent's letter, a case closely paralleling that of "man biting dog." This was one of those terrifically rare instances in which it was the wife instead of the husband who was "in the doghouse."

LEE, CARNETT EFFECTIVE; 3 HITS FOR MARTY

Gets Home Run with Two on Bases.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Bernardino, Cal., March 24.—The Cubs this afternoon wound up their 1939 exhibition schedule with the Pittsburgh by accomplishing an 8 to 4 victory. The easy success gave the Cubs a three to one margin in the spring series with last year's near pennant winners.

Joe Marty, the Cubs' only 1938 world series surprise and the sensation of the 1939 spring season to date, banged out hits his first three times at bat, including his third homer in two days. Today's long rap came off Russ Bauers with two on in the third inning. Previously Hank Leiber had singled with the bases loaded for a pair of runs.

Bill Lee pitched the first five innings and although he walked seven, did not allow a run until the fifth inning when Maurice Van Robays singled and got home on Arky Vaughan's triple. Ed Carnett, rookie lefty, retired the Pirates in order in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings, but bogged down a bit after retiring the first Pirate in the ninth, relinquishing three runs.

Mesner Shines Again.

Steve Mesner's outstanding play at shortstop continued unabated today. The youngster's consistent brilliance has reduced concern over Dickie Bartell's spavins, etc., to mere sympathy over the veteran's personal comfort.

The Cubs, who hadn't seen the sun for eight days, reveled in the perfect weather conditions here. A capacity crowd welcomed the National league champions.

The gathering included Joe Louis, the champion pugilist, who appeared in cowboy costume. Joe had his ten gallon hat on backwards, giving a fireman aspect to his impersonation.

The Cubs' third inning blast ended a 2 2-3 inning span of rather marked batting futility. In the first inning Hack, Herman and Galan negotiated mere infield taps and Leiber, Marty, Cavarretta couldn't get the ball out of the infield in the second, though Marty and Cavarretta were credited with scratch singles.

That Big Third.

In the big third Mesner was out on a tap in front of the plate and Lee grounded to Vaughan. The Cubs had batted around without getting the ball to the outfield. Then the fun began. Hack socked the first of his doubles, Herman walked and the bases were loaded after Galan was hit by a pitched ball. Leiber lined a single to left, scoring Hack and Herman after which Marty drove his homer over the left field wall, an enormous shot which would have gone out of any major league park. Cavarretta then was called out on strikes, the first of three whiffs.

The Cubs got two runs in the fourth before saying good-by to Bauers and greeting Kenneth Heintzelman, a lefty. Garbark walked and stopped at second on Mesner's single to right. Lee failed to connect on an attempted sacrifice and Garbark was speared at third. Bauers threw out Lee, but Hack came through with his second double, scoring Mesner. Stan scored on Herman's single to center.

Take Shot at Lee.

The Pirates got a run off Lee just before Bill retired for the afternoon. With one out in the fifth, Van Robays singled and scored on Vaughan's triple to right center. Suhr and Young walked, loading the bases, but Handley hit into a double play.

The Pirates' three runs in the ninth were the result of walks to Bill Brubaker and Bob Elliott and singles by Fern Bell and Vaughan.

Fracture Puts Frasier Out for Three Weeks

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 24.—Vic Frasier who has been called the hardy Texan during his ups and downs in baseball the last decade has proved the term to be a correct one literally. Tonight, the 32 year old pitcher, trying for the second time to qualify for the White Sox pitching staff, was in Huntington Memorial hospital in Pasadena suffering from a fractured skull.

The extent of his injury, suffered Wednesday when he was hit by a wildly thrown baseball here during practice, was not known until today when a second X-ray examination revealed the lineal skull fracture behind the left ear. Frasier pitched four scoreless innings against the Pirates Wednesday after being hurt.

Manager Jimmie Dykes was cheered tonight when Dr. A. L. Moore, brain specialist, said Frasier would be as good as new in three weeks. The first estimate was that he would be out four or five weeks.

Score 5 Runs in Third.

Dykes received this optimistic report after his White Sox had recorded an exhibition victory this afternoon over the Pacific Coast league Los Angeles club, 6 to 4, scoring five of their runs in the third inning.

The standout development was the work of Bill Dietrich who in two previous appearances had been manhandled. Today Bill opened up just a little more to prove his argument that he favored his arm the other two times. He yielded only four hits and one pass in a five inning stretch.

Dykes has been complaining about the need of hitting improvement, but what the hitters did today, except in that busy third inning, didn't relieve the managerial mental strain. Against a lad named Ray Prim the Sox piled up only six hits in six innings, four of the half dozen being divided by the gay Jerry Walker and the sombre Marvin Owen. This pair of ex-Tigers coined a run in the first inning and also hit safely in the third when Dietrich and Mike Kreevich also hit and Hank Steinbacher and Luke Appling contributed profitable passes.

Second Team Stopped Cold.

Dykes ran in an entirely fresh nine man team at the start of the seventh but learned more of their weaknesses than their possible strength. A Mexican product named Jess Flores assumed the Angels' pitching chores at the same time and the shock troops gave him practically no excitement.

The Angels followed this with a run in their first half on a single by Stringer, a pass to Rothrock, and a single by Moore.

Dietrich was the bellwether of the five run drive in the third. He led off with a two bagger to left. He jogged home on Walker's double against the left field brick barrier. Owen dropped a single in short right center, Walker moving to third. Steinbacher walked, filling the bases, and when Appling also drew a pass, Walker was forced home. Kreevich singled through short, Owen and Steinbacher scoring. Kuhel sacrificed, putting Appling in position to score on McNair's infield out.

Flores Fools Young Sox.

In the fourth the Angels reached Dietrich for their second run, two hits being involved. The Sox shock troops built up a setting for some scoring off Flores' pitching in the seventh but fizzled. With one out Ferries, the unsigned collegian from Washington, walked and went to third on a single by Thompson. Flores then fanned Gedzius and Rosenthal. What's more, Flores used his Mexican curve so effectively in the eighth that he also fanned Connors and Bejma.

Cihocki hit the left field fence for a two bagger to open the seventh, and it brought on the two run assault of which Jess Dobernic was the target. Ferries threw out Stockman, after which Tresh was guilty of a passed ball, the two runners advancing. Flores sent a fly to Rosenthal, scoring

THREE CHICAGO FIVES IN LOYOLA QUARTER-FINALS

St. Ignatius, St. George, and Leo Advance.

Three Chicago district teams advanced to today's quarter-finals and a fourth, Mount Carmel, champion of Chicago's Catholic league, was eliminated as the second round was completed yesterday in the national Catholic High school basketball tournament at Loyola university.

St. George of Evanston and Leo and St. Ignatius of Chicago won yesterday, while Mount Carmel was dropped, 53 to 34, by St. Joseph of Collegeville, Ind., in the major upset of the tournament. St. George defeated Marquette University High of Milwaukee, 32 to 23; Leo rallied in the last three minutes to beat Cathedral High of Springfield, Ill., 33 to 31, and St. Ignatius dropped Cathedral High of Indianapolis, 44 to 33.

Three Players Banished.

Mount Carmel was unable to match the Collegeville five's height and in using driving tactics, fouled so frequently that three players, including Charlie Butler, center, were banished. A fourth, Ryan, was allowed to continue only because the Chicago team would have to continue with only four players had he been ejected. Two more fouls were called on him later.

St. George had no trouble in winning its way to today's first quarter-final game, against Collegeville at 1 p. m. The Evanston quintet led Marquette U. High, 20 to 10, at half time and continued to set the pace until the closing minutes. Stanton scored 14 points for St. George.

Leo, which is to meet St. Gregory of Shawnee, Okla., in the third of the quarter-final contests, met a stubborn opponent in the Springfield five. Leo won on field goals by Yawkey, Keehan, and Patrick in the last three minutes after Cathedral had taken a 28 to 27 lead. The score was tied at 25 all going into the final quarter.

St. Ignatius Meets Calvert Hall.

Just a Matter of Records to Them

Glenn Cunningham, old Mr. Mile himself, who will seek his third straight victory in the Bankers' mile in the Chicago relays tonight.

Gene Venzke, who has been Glenn Cunningham's shadow for several seasons, still hopes for the time when he will show his heels to the durable Kansan.

The sensation of the indoor track season, John Borican of Elberon, N. J., who will aim at Cunningham's 1,000 yard record.

Girl, 14, Wins $50,000 as Her Mother Prays

Every fall for seven years Mrs. Signe Peterson has scolded her husband, Eric, who is a bricklayer, for wasting money on a sweepstakes ticket. He hadn't a chance in a million of winning, she reminded him, and they couldn't spare two and a half dollars for a scrap of paper.

Last September, Mrs. Peterson suddenly became convinced that she, herself, must try her luck at the sweepstakes. She bought a ticket in the name of her daughter, Gloria, 14 years old, and put it away.

Yesterday, the Petersons were richer by $50,000, less taxes, which they won when Kilstar, a $1,500 jumper, placed third in the Grand National steeplechase in Aintree, England.

"Just Faith," Says Mother.

"It's pure faith," exclaimed Mrs. Peterson, her eyes brimming with tears, "I knew from the very first we would get the money. We need it so badly, and I have been praying every day that something would happen to make life easier for us all. Now our children will be educated. My husband," and she glanced at the thin, quiet man beside her, "he has worked so hard, will have some peace."

The Petersons, with their daughter and a son, Leonard, 12 years old, live in a three room apartment in the basement of a two flat building which they own at 5812 North Rockwell street. Mrs. Peterson, an attractive woman of 34, works in a bakery at 1907 Central street in Evanston. Until a week ago Mr. Peterson had not been employed for three months. The mortgage on their building is past due, and they had been resigned to give it up.

At Grave When Race Is Run.

Within the last few days, when their horse was chosen to run in the race, they had refused several offers to sell their ticket for $10,000. While the race was being run, Mrs. Peterson was kneeling over the grave of her mother, Mrs. Amanda Magnuson, in Rosehill cemetery. She was praying, she said later, that through her mother, who died six months ago,

NATION'S TRACK STARS COMPETE IN CHICAGO MEET

Hold 20 Events Tonight in Amphitheater.

Chicago fans, who have been reading about the exploits of the nation's leading track and field athletes during the winter, will get a chance to see them in the flesh tonight in the Chicago relays in the International Ampitheater.

Glenn Cunningham, John Borican, Don Lash, Allan Tomlich—the headliners of countless eastern meets—and many more, will be aiming at new records. Among the contestants are eleven world record holders, seven Western conference champions, and innumerable national title holders.

In all, twenty events are on the program, fifteen of them being open competitions. Two university events are listed, the 600 yard run and the matched relays with eight universities engaging in four races. The lone college event is in the mile relay. The parochial and public high schools of the city each will engage in a mile relay race.

Defending Champions Ready.

Among the defending champions are Earle Meadows, former Southern California pole vaulter; Tolmich, former Wayne university hurdler; Cunningham, in the Bankers' mile; Lash in the two mile, the Ohio State mile relay team, and Jimmy Herbert of the New York Exchange A. A. in the invitation 600 yard run.

The relays will give Borican, colored speedster from Elberon, N. J., his last chance indoors this season to break Cunningham's world record for 1,000 yards. In beating the veteran Kansan recently, Borican stepped the distance in record time, only to have it nullified because he jumped the gun. Cunningham's record in the 1,000 is 2 minutes 10 1-10 seconds.

Strong High Jump Field.

There is a classy field in the high jump and last year's winner, Charles Betchel of Oak Park, who cleared 6 feet 4 inches, will try to repeat. Dave Albritton of the Olympic club and Mel Walker of New York, both former Ohio State stars, are figured to press Betchel and perhaps set a new record.

Tolmich, who stepped the 50 yard high hurdles in :07.3 for a new relays mark last year, has a host of challengers, including Larry G. O'Connor, Canadian champion hurdler, and Elmer Gedeon of Michigan, Big Ten champion.

The program will start at 8:15.

LAWSON LITTLE TAKES LEAD IN OPEN TOURNEY

Greensboro, N. C., March 24.—(AP)—W. Lawson Little of San Francisco, former amateur golf champion, today shot a record 65 to lead the $5,000 Greensboro Open golf tournament.

Little's 65, five under par and a new record for the course, put him four strokes in front of the field.

SPEARY, TWICE WINNER, HEADS INTERCITY TEAM

Capacity Crowd Seen for Wednesday.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

New York's Golden Gloves fighters come to town today. They'll be jaunty and confident, too, judging from reports preceding them. They have reason to be. For the last two weeks they've been hailed as the hardest hitters ever to come out of the eastern tournament. But they may be in for a jolt. Chicago's boxers, rugged and capable, too, aim to jar them from that assurance next Wednesday night in the twelfth annual intercity Golden Gloves matches.

The fights will be held in the Stadium. In that same arena 21,000 spectators filled every seat and all available standing room to see the Chicago tournament finals on March 10. That show gave them such a thrill that they'll be back to see their favorites fight again next Wednesday. Numerous individual heroes emerged from that long campaign—Tony Novak, Jimmy Reeves, Tony Ancona, Johnny Pleasant, and many others. These boys will have a host of backers eager to see what they'll do against New York's powerful sluggers.

They'll Arrive Early.

The eastern boxers will arrive in the La Salle Street station at 7:50 a. m. with their retinue of trainers and coaches. They will be taken to the Medinah club, which will be their headquarters during their stay in Chicago. After getting settled, they'll resume training this afternoon in the club's gymnasium.

Some of the New Yorkers are familiar to Chicago Golden Gloves fans. Billy Speary, bantamweight champion, has taken two intercity titles during the last two years. He also has won in the National A. A. U. tournament and in the New York Daily News' international matches.

Chicago will get its first look at Buddy Moore, Harlem heavyweight, who scored three knockouts on his way to the New York Golden Gloves championship. Moore is reported to have the heaviest punch of any New York heavyweight of recent years. It will be up to Novak to get into the ring with him.

Novak Backers Not Worried.

Novak's followers aren't worrying. They remember that this powerfully built Kansas City boy did some knocking out on his own account during Chicago's Golden Gloves tournament and they're expecting Moore to go the way of Tony's other opponents.

While New York's squad was speeding westward yesterday, Chicago's fighters were working with determination in the Illinois Athletic club gymnasium. Coach Johnny Behr and his assistants, Fred Caserio and Paddy Kane, are watching now to see that their charges don't become too finely drawn before the big night.

Sparring was cut down to a light quota. Those who were at the right weight were given two rounds, those who were slightly under had one, and those who were a bit over had three. No serious weight difficulties are anticipated, for even the heftier boys are within easy reach of the limits of their divisions.

Novak Cuts Loose.

Novak is making up the boxing time he lost during the earlier stages of the training period when he was hindered by a sprained thumb. The injury is almost entirely healed now and he is cutting loose against the spar boys who are brought in to give him practice.

The coaches also are concentrating on the task of picking the 16 boys who will do the fighting in the intercity bouts. In the squad of 32 many are so evenly matched that it is almost necessary to toss a coin to choose between them.

According to the rules of intercity competition, champions must fight champions, but the other places are wide open. The coaches are not required to make their choices until the day of the bouts. This rivalry up until the last minute adds to the spirit of the squad because every workout is a competitive event. Every boy knows that if he gets lazy

MICHIGAN LEADS IN N. C. A. A. SWIM; OHIO IS SECOND

Princeton Medley Relay Team Sets Record.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 24.—[Special.]—The University of Michigan swimming team, seeking its sixth consecutive team title, led by four points as the 16th National Collegiate A. A. meet reached the half way mark tonight. At the conclusion of six of the eleven events the Wolverines had 34 points. Ohio State, in second place, had 30.

Michigan entries won two events in tonight's finals to overtake the Buckeye squad that had taken an early advantage when Harold [Curley] Stanhope won the 1,500 meter swim this morning.

One meet record fell tonight and another was tied this afternoon as defending champions in the backstroke, medley relay and low board diving retained their titles.

Princeton Relay Team Sets Record.

The record fell to Princeton's medley relay team of Al Vande Weghe, Dick Hough, and Ed Parke which cracked its own winning time of last year by two-tenths second in 2:54.5.

Waldemar Tomski of Michigan equaled the meet record of 23 seconds in the 50 yard sprint in this afternoon's preliminaries, but in the finals fell before his sophomore teammate, Charlie Barker, who won the event in :23.5. Vande Weghe successfully defended his backstroke title in easy fashion as did Ohio State's Al Patnik in the low board diving.

Haynie Wins 220.

Michigan's other winner was Capt. Tom Haynie, who came back after a victory in the 1937 meet to win the 220 yard style race. Billy Quayle of Ohio State was second and Jim Welsh, Michigan sophomore and Big Ten champion was third as Adolph Kiefer of Texas finished fourth. Kiefer finished third in the 1,500 meter finals. Haynie's time was 2:11.7.

Michigan kept ahead in the team race tonight largely on the strength of two performances by Bill Beebe, sophomore backstroker. Beebe finished second to Vande Weghe in the backstroke finals, then paced his medley relay team to a third place behind Princeton and Ohio State.

Summaries:

1,500 METER SWIM—Won by Stanhope, Ohio State; Cutler, Harvard, second; Kiefer, Texas, third; Woodling, Ohio State, fourth; Lowe, Illinois, fifth. Time—19:53.8. [Betters pool record, 20:03.2, by Austin Clapp, Stanford, 1932.]

50 YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Barker, Michigan; Tomski, Michigan, second; Wolf, Southern California, third; Acosta, Florida, fourth; Adams, Iowa State, fifth. Time, :23.5.

150 YARD BACKSTROKE—Won by Vande Weghe, Princeton; Beebe, Michigan, second; Burns, Yale, third; Griffin, Kenyon, fourth; Armbruster, Iowa, fifth. Time, 1:35.1.

220 YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Haynie, Michigan; Quayle, Ohio State, second; Welsh, Michigan, third; Kiefer, Texas, fourth; Hutchens, Michigan, fifth. Time, 2:11.7.

ONE METER BOARD DIVING—Won by Patnik, Ohio State; Clark, Ohio State, second; Benham, Michigan, third; Greenhood, Harvard, fourth; Ferstenfeld, Michigan, fifth. Points, 147.61.

300 YARD MEDLEY RELAY—Won by Princeton [Vande Weghe, Hough, Parke]; Ohio State, second; Michigan, third; Yale, fourth; Iowa, fifth. Time, 2:54.5. Betters meet record, 2:54.7, by Princeton, 1937.

ST. LOUIS MAN ROLLS INTO LEAD IN ALL-EVENTS

Cleveland, O., March 24.—(AP)—Cone Hermann, St. Louis undertaker, rolled into first place in the all-events, second place in the singles, and third place in the doubles today in the best individual performance to date in the American Bowling congress tournament.

Hermann, co-sponsor of the Hermann Undertakers five, national match game champions, rolled 1,914 to displace James Agresta of Elizabeth, N. J., as all-events leader by sixteen pins. He hit 235, 215, 246—696, in the singles, eighteen pins behind Carl Nagle of Gowanda, N. Y., the leader; then teamed with Renard Heydt for 1,265 in the doubles, forty-two pins behind Vic Maurer and Alex Graham of New Philadelphia, O., first place occupants. Hermann rolled 695 and Heydt 570.

The Old Frankenmuth Beers of Detroit bowled 2,957 to pass the F. Ziehm Funeral Home, Cleveland, whose 2,924 count has led the field for a week. Rolling on the same squad, Johnson's Aquarium went into fifth place with 2,884. The Chicago team opened with 903 and then followed with counts of 999 and 982. Chicago scores:

Another Full House.

When the last seat was gone before the recent Golden Gloves finals there were many boxing fans who were disappointed because of their failure to see these great fighters in action. Many of these followers of the sport were on hand early to get tickets for the intercity show. Seats are available now at nearly all prices, but indications are that the rush of the last few days before the bouts will exhaust the supply. Thus another capacity house will watch a Golden Gloves show.

The proceeds of this event, which is sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., are divided among various charitable organizations.

NEW YORK TEAM SET

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—A confident band of boxers, survivors of a field of more than 10,000 from Maine to Florida, left New York at 3 o'clock this afternoon to meet Chicago's champions in the twelfth annual intercity Golden Gloves match in Chicago Stadium next Wednesday.

Who Shall Say?

After her silent form was laid to rest,
These blossoms should have been her bride's bouquet
Because she loved the carmine flowers best;
Her lover stood beside the grave and wept,
This was the day they promised they would wed,
Sometimes I think that promise has been kept
And that their spirits side by side still tread.

And who shall say how far the two shall move,
Clasping each other's hands along the way
And joined in the white sacrament of love,
Till at the dawning of another day
When time and space and death shall be no more
They shall emerge on life's eternal shore?

that advantage to win by 11 points. Durkin scored 19 points for Leo. Leo meets Calvert Hall, Baltimore, Md., in the last quarter-final battle this afternoon.

The second game in today's quarter-finals will bring together St. Basil of Pittsburgh, which whipped St. Boniface of Cold Springs, Minn., 51 to 37, yesterday, and Central Catholic of Fort Wayne, which dropped Southeast Catholic of Philadelphia, 46 to 37. St. Basil and Calvert Hall are the only eastern schools surviving in the tourney.

The south's only remaining team in the tournament, St. Gregory of Shawnee, gained the round of eight by defeating Campion of Prairie du Chien, 33 to 29.

Calvert Wins Twice.

Calvert of Baltimore won twice yesterday, defeating Catholic High of Baton Rouge, La., in a first round game, 38 to 23, then repeating against the St. Francis Mission Indians of St. Francis, S. D., 30 to 25. St. Francis had beaten St. Mary's of Elizabeth, N. J., 42 to 24, in its first round game yesterday morning.

Following this afternoon's quarter-finals, semi-finals will be played tonight.

Quarter-finals in the consolation section also will be played today. Surviving are Loras Academy, Dubuque, Ia.; Father Ryan of Nashville, Tenn.; St. Xavier, Louisville, Ky.; Central, Wheeling, W. Va.; Immaculate Conception, Montclair, N. J.; Holy Family, Union City, N. J.; Messmer, Milwaukee, and Catholic, Baton Rouge, La. Lineups:

Illini Grads to Compete in Pro Tourney

The Illini Grads, led by Pick Dehner, Illinois' all-conference center, yesterday were admitted to the professional championship basketball tournament to replace the Philadelphia Hebrews, who withdrew because of injuries.

With the admission of the Illinois team, officials were able to complete the seedings of the field of eleven teams. The tourney opens at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Madison street armory. Three games will be played tomorrow afternoon and three tomorrow night.

The New York Yankees, captained by John [Honey] Russell, former Chicago Bruin player, will meet the House of David team in the opening game. The second and third afternoon contests match the Harlem Globe Trotters and Fort Wayne and the Sheboygan Red Skins and the Illini Grads.

The New York Renaissance five will open the program tomorrow night, opposing the winner of the Yankees-House of David game. The Clarksburg Oilers and the Oshkosh All-Stars meet in the second game and the Chicago Harmons will meet the winner of the Globe Trotters-Fort Wayne game.

Wibs Kautz, Loyola's star guard and the leading basketball scorer in the midwest, yesterday denied reports that he would play in the tournament.

HALL WINS TWO CUE MATCHES FROM CHAMACO

Allen Hall, playing in his home room, the Pioneer Arcade, 1535 N. Pulaski road, defeated José Chamaco of New York, tournament leader, twice yesterday in the world's championship three cushion billiard tourney.

Hall took the afternoon game, 50 to 45 in fifty-three innings. He had a high run of five, while Chamaco had seven. In the evening the score was 50 to 34 in thirty-three innings.

Jay Bozeman Bensinger's, 131 South Wabash, and Otto Reiselt, Philadelphia, split a pair of games, Bozeman taking the afternoon match, 50 to 28 in thirty-one innings, and Reiselt winning, 50 to 44, in fifty-two innings.

LAYTON, DENTON SPLIT.

Kansas City, Mo., March 24.—(AP)—Johnny Layton, Hartford, Conn., and Tiff Denton, Kansas City, broke even in two national billiard tournament matches today. Layton scored a 50 to 48 victory in the afternoon, and Denton won the night match, 50 to 47.

JACKSON WINS, LOSES.

Detroit, Mich., March 24.—(AP)—Frank Scoville, Buffalo, N. Y., and Clarence Jackson, Detroit, broke even today. Jackson captured the afternoon match, 50 to 41, in sixty-one innings and Scoville the evening game, 50 to 44, in fifty-five innings.

NAME GETCHELL, CLARNO AS TITLE GAME OFFICIALS

Appointment of John Getchell of St. Thomas and Lyle Clarno of Bradley as referee and umpire of the national collegiate basketball championship game between Ohio State and Oregon in Patten gymnasium Monday night was announced yesterday by K. L. Wilson, Northwestern athletic director. They have officiated in the Western conference for several years. Tickets for the game are still available and are on sale at the Northwestern university ticket office in Evanston.

Oregon Arrives Today.

Oregon, winner of the western sectional playoffs in San Francisco, will arrive in Chicago this morning and will establish headquarters at the North Shore hotel in Evanston. Ohio State will arrive later in the day and will make its headquarters in the Orrington hotel.

Oregon established an amazing scoring record in its last four games. After clinching the Northern division championships in the Pacific Coast conference, the Webfoot five won the All-Pacific coast title by defeating California in two games by scores of 54 to 49 and 53 to 47.

A High Scoring Trio.

With but two days of rest, the team moved to San Francisco for the regional playoffs, defeating Texas, 56 to 41, and Oklahoma, 55 to 37. In the four games, Oregon averaged 54.5 points a game. The towering center-forward trio of Laddie Gale, John Dick, and Slim Wintermute, scored 144 points. The 6 foot 8 inch Wintermute scored 51, Dick 49, and Gale 44.

Defending Champion Loses in Queen of Angels Meet

St. Mel, defending champion, was eliminated from the fifth annual Queen of Angels A. A. U. basketball tournament in Queen of Angeles guild hall last night. St. Cornelius Y. M. C. won, 34 to 32, in overtime. In another overtime game Old St. Stephens defeated St. Josephats, 35 to 30, and the Wick A. C. quintet routed the Sheridans, 32 to 17.

Jenkins Runs Afoul a Lello Punch in 7th

Pete Lello, 1936 Chicago Golden Gloves lightweight champion, knocked out Lew Jenkins of Sweetwater, Tex., in the seventh round of a scheduled eight round fight in White City last night. The setback cost Jenkins a prospective match with Davey Day. It was Lello's thirty-first victory in forty starts.

Jenkins floored his Gary foe for no count in the sixth, the achievement adding to Lew's point margin compiled in previous rounds. Many of the 1,534 spectators started to leave in the seventh round, believing Jenkins was a sure winner.

Heavy Punch Drops Lew.

Then one punch—a right hand wallop that didn't travel more than three inches, landed in Jenkins face and the Texan fell to the canvas as if he had been hit with a club. The blow opened cuts on Jenkins' nose and mouth. He got up as Referee Tommy Gilmour counted nine.

Another right dropped Lew for an 8-count and a third right floored the courageous boy for keeps. The time was 1 minute 17 seconds. Lello weighed 135 pounds, five more than Jenkins. Gross receipts were $1,237.

Davis Stops Palmer.

George Dion, Kankakee middleweight, beat Jack Wittinghill of Bloomington, Ill., in the five round windup of the amateur fight show in the Madison Athletic club last night. Two other Bloomington boxers, Clyde Hamlin and Elmer Holt, also lost. Hamlin was stopped by Robert Earl, Morgan Park featherweight, in the third round. Holt lost a three round decision to Charley Manna, Madison club 160 pounder.

Maurice Strickland, who is the seventh best heavyweight boxer in the world, according to the National Boxing association, has guaranteed Bob Pastor $5,000 for their ten round bout in Chicago Stadium next Friday, Matchmaker Nate Lewis said last night.

"Pastor is ranked second by the N. B. A.," Lewis explained, "and Strickland is so sure of displacing him that he has agreed to give Bob a guarantee while he gambles on a percentage of the receipts."

Official contracts give Pastor 27½ per cent of the gate and Maurice 17½ per cent, but Lewis said Strickland will receive the full 45 per cent of the proceeds. Out of this percentage will come Pastor's guarantee, Strickland hopes.

In case the fee fails to reach the required amount Strickland's backers will have to pay the difference.

Strickland will arrive at 12:30 p. m. today at Union station He will open training in Trafton's gymnasium this afternoon. Pastor is scheduled to arrive tomorrow.

GALENTO IS GIVEN COMMISSION O. K. FOR TITLE BATTLE

New York, March 24.—(AP)—The New York state athletic commission today approved Tony Galento's physical condition, thereby removing the last obstacle in the way of his fight with Joe Louis for the heavyweight championship.

The five physicians who examined Galento last Tuesday at the commission's request found him in "satisfactory physical condition," Gen. John J. Phelan, the commission chairman reported.

New York Likely Site.

Although the physicians' report just about insured the bout for New York, a new development made it appear today that the original June 28 date may have to be changed to accommodate Mike Jacobs' rapidly growing summer boxing program.

Another heavyweight attraction, between Lou Nova and Max Baer, to decide a September opponent for Louis, is scheduled for May 25 in Madison Square Garden's Long Island City bowl. Nova's manager, Ray Carlin, pointed out his contract calls for the bout to be staged in Yankee stadium and definitely objected to the Garden bowl because the fight "might not make any money there."

May Do Some Readjusting.

Should Carlin's insistence on the stadium be upheld, Jacobs would have to set the Nova-Baer fight back to June 1, since the Yankees will be using their park on May 25. And if that fight is held up he would also have to delay the Galento-Louis bout accordingly, to give his publicity staf enough time for the last month buildup.

LUTHERAN FIVES MEET TONIGHT FOR CITY TITLE

Gustavus Adolphus, winner of the south sectional championship in the Augustana Lutheran Basketball league, will play Trinity of the north section tonight in the Calumet High school gymnasium for the city-wide championship. In the opening game Salem of the south section will meet Nebo of the north end for the junior title.

Bethel of the south side and Ebenezer of the north will play for third place in the Augustana Lutheran Basketball league in the senior division. In the second place senior playoffs, St. Matthew of the south section will play Nebo of the north.

DICK TRACY—Spots Before the Eyes

HUTCHINSON WILD AND EASY TO HIT, BUT DETROIT WINS

Routed in 2d as Dodgers Lose, 6 to 4.

Lakeland, Fla., March 24.—(AP)—Fred Hutchinson, the $50,000 pitching recruit on whom Tiger fans have fastened their eyes and pinned their hopes, didn't come up to expectations today, but Detroit managed to whip the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6 to 4, in an exhibition game.

Hutchinson was withdrawn in the second after walking four batsmen, making a wild pitch and yielding four hits and three runs. Harry Eisenstat, who was with Brooklyn before joining the Tigers, was credited with the victory, achieved in the eighth when Roy Cullenbine, Rudy York, and Bill Rogell combined to push across two runs and break a 4 to 4 deadlock. Score:

BROWNS, 10; TULSA, 6.

McAllen, Tex., March 24.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns whipped the Tulsa Oilers of the Texas league, 10 to 6, today to remain unbeaten in exhibition contests.

Tulsa [T. L.] ......000 101 310— 6 10 4

CARDS, 2; RED SOX, 0.

Sarasota, Fla., March 24.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals scored twice on a single, an error and Enos Slaughter's triple today to beat Boston's Red Sox, 2 to 0. Jack Wilson struck out five of the Cards during his six innings and Joe Heving made seven of them fan while holding them hitless during the last three. Score:

St. Louis [N].........002 000 000—2 4 1
Boston [A]............000 000 000—0 6 1

YANKEES WIN, 8-3.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 24.—(AP)—Joe Di Maggio's third home run in two days, along with circuit drives by Joe Gordon and Babe Dahlgren, carried the New York Yankees to an 8 to 3 victory over their Kansas City farmhands today.

Kansas City [AA]....000 100 110—3 5 1

PHILS LOSE AGAIN.

San Benito, Tex., March 24.—(AP)—Oklahoma City of the Texas league overcame an eight run handicap today to deal the Phillies their eighth straight defeat, 13 to 12.

Okla. City [T.L.].040 030 132—13 18 1

ALLEN IS CONFIDENT.

New Orleans, La., March 24.—(AP)—Pitcher Johnny Allen, who was operated on last winter for an arm ailment, expects to be ready when the major league season opens. "If this warm weather keeps up," the Cleveland Indians' mound ace said today, "I see no reason why I shouldn't be pitching in exhibition games in the near future. And if I can do that, there's no reason why I won't be able to take my turn whe: the season starts."

GIANT STARS TO PITCH.

Immaculate Conception in Semi-Finals in Girls' Meet

Immaculate Conception, 1938 champion, last night gained the semi-finals in the second annual Bishop Bernard J. Sheil invitational girls' basketball tournament by defeating Ascension of Harvey, Ill., 23 to 14, in St. Andrew's Parish gymnasium. St. Matthias whipped Our Lady of Mercy, 21 to 18, and will meet Immaculate Conception tonight. Preceding this game, St. Clement's plays St. Andrew's.

Rigney, Whitehead Hurl Today.

Today's exhibition cleaned up the Sox's spring dates with minor league outfits. Henceforth it will be Cubs, Pirates, Giants, and Cleveland Indians. Starting here tomorrow, the Sox face the Cubs in ten successive battles. In hopes of making some adjustment for the two defeats already inflicted on his boys by the National league champions, Manager Dykes will employ Rigney and Whitehead, the two of his three pitching Johnnies, Knott being the other.

WORKMAN WINS; IT'S A GREAT DAY FOR THE OULD SOD

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

AINTREE, England, March 24.—Ireland today won the 100th Grand National steeplechase lock, stock, and barrel. Sir Alexander Maguire's Irish bred Workman, a 100 to 8 shot, with the Irishman Tim Hyde up, romped home first after a desperate race in 9 minutes 42 1-5 seconds.

Sir Alexander, 63 year old Irish Merseysider who made a fortune in the match industry here and in Ireland, has been racing only two years.

Three lengths behind Workman came Capt. Scott Briggs' Scottish bred MacMoffatt, a 25 to 1 chance which had been the challenger all the way. In third place was the 6 to 1 favorite Miss Dorothy Paget's English bred Kilstar, which seems to have found the load of money he was carrying too much on the run-in, for that is where he failed.

Fans from all over Britain swelled the crowd to 250,000. The betting was fast and furious. Several times the automatic totalistator machines were stopped while the boxes for favorite horses were cleared of two-shilling pieces.

American Horses Fail.

All four horses in which America had an interest in ownership or blood were unplaced.

Louis Stoddard, who rode his wife's Milano, was treated at the course hospital for a deep cut in the back of his head sustained when he fell while well placed at the rail fence beyond Becher's brook on the second time around. Milano made a bad landing and Stoddard was off and under the thundering hoofs of the following horses before he had a chance to recover himself. His riderless horse galloped in ahead of Cooleen, only mare in the race, which placed fourth.

Mrs. Scott's War Vessel lost his jocky, William Parvin, at the first fence. Parvin, who was riding in his fifteenth consecutive National, said he made a good landing, but was "bumped from behind and thrown clean out of the saddle."

Two Other Runners Fall.

Mrs. Evans' Royal Mail fell away early and H. C. McNally's Royal Danieli, which can trace his American ancestry, crashed at Becher's brook the first time around.

Sir Alexander's prize amounted to approximately 7,000 pounds sterling [approximately $35,000 in American money], the first time an Irish horse won it since Troytown in 1920. Jack Ruttle trained Workman at Selbridge, County Kildare.

Girl, 14, Wins $50,000 as Her Mother Prays

there would be an end to worry and poverty.

At the same time, Gloria, a blond girl with dimples, was in the principal's office at Amundsen high school where she is a freshman. She was surrounded by excited classmates who sat breathlessly with her listening to the radio account of the race. Her father was laying bricks at Cumberland terrace, near Des Plaines, when the race was run.

Gloria will study to be an artist, an ambition that she had almost given up. Her father will go to Sweden to see his parents whom he has not visited for 18 years, and his wife will have, first of all a coveted oil portrait of her mother. And Leonard, who forgot all about the race yesterday until he was called home from Jamieson grammar school, will be riding a new bicycle.

AMERICANS GET $4,183,810

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—Americans collected $4,183,810 on the Irish hospital sweepstakes, which was decided on the outcome of the Grand National steeplechase in Aintree, England, today. Ten ticket holders each received $150,000 when Workman won; seven won $75,000 each on MacMoffatt, which finished second, and nine others collected $50,000 each on Kilstar, the third horse.

In addition to the big prizes, 469 ticket holders in America who drew horses entered in the race each won $2,650 whether or not their horses ran in the event. Consolation prizes of $500 each were won by 713 Americans and twenty-six others drew residual prizes which were worth $4,210 each.

The American total is more than half of the total prize fund of $6,710,500. The sale of tickets at $2.50 each brought a total of $12,141,735.

WAGE TAX CUT OFFERED AS AID TO BUSINESS

G. O. P. Hails Victory Over 'Errors.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—The administration retreated on another New Deal venture today. It agreed to broad modifications in the social security program, including drastic reduction in the old age pension reserve and cutting of the scheduled tax increases.

President Roosevelt told correspondents at his press conference that a reduction in the pension reserve from an ultimate 47 billion dollars to around 3 billions would be acceptable. Coincidental with this, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., recommended to congress that it postpone or lighten scheduled increases in payroll taxes as an aid to business.

Victory for Republicans.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], leading critic of the New Deal social security plan, and other Republicans, hailed the victory for which they had been fighting since 1936. A pay-as-you-go social security plan to which the Democrats finally have been forced to yield was part of the Republican campaign platform in 1936.

"This is the healthiest thing that has happened in a long time," Senator Vandenberg said in a formal statement. "I am delighted to know that Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has finally surrendered to the irresistible logic which has condemned the full reserve; that he now admits that it is unnecessary to increase payroll taxes 50 per cent next year and that he is at last prepared to make a 'trust fund' fund instead of a 'jackpot' out of the proceeds of these payroll taxes.

"I commend his courage as well as his wisdom in frankly abandoning the errors which some of us have been attacking for the last two years."

House Group Approves.

A similar statement of approval was issued jointly by the 10 Republican members of the house ways and means committee, who said Mr. Morgenthau's recommendation for abandonment of the full reserve plan for a modified pay-as-you-go system" should prove gratifying and encouraging to the entire nation."

Vandenberg two years ago offered amendments covering all of the objectives cited by Morgenthau. They were shelved. Again on last March 13 the Michigan senator introduced a proposal in the senate for "freezing" payroll taxes at their present level.

The main criticism of the present system has been that it has allowed the treasury to pay for New Deal extravagances out of the funds which should have formed the old age reserve. The taxes on pay rolls to provide for an ultimate reserve of 47 billions were poured into the general fund of the treasury and used to meet current expenses. In place of cash in the reserve fund the treasury placed its IOU's, or special certificates of indebtedness.

Wants Limited Reserve.

Mr. Roosevelt at his conference today said that the main thing now is to have a reserve sufficient to last from three to five years even in the event that there were no new payments. He said that government experts are now working toward elimination of unlimited reserves. In paving the way for acknowledgment of defeat, the President said that it was not true that the treasury could build up a reserve of more than 40 billions under the present act.

He said that in some years the outgo of funds would equal the income but he admitted that the possibility of an unlimited reserve under the present act has been properly criticized. Last December the President's own advisory committee on social security recommended the changes sought by Republicans.

Suggests Four Plans.

Morgenthau in testifying before the house ways and means committee today suggested four alternative rate schedules for old age pension levies which are imposed on the first $3,000 of employés' annual earnings. They were:

1. Maintenance of the present rate scheduled of 1 per cent on employé and employers from 1937 to 1939 inclusive, increasing to 1½ per cent on each group in 1940, to 2 per cent in 1943 to 2½ per cent in 1946, and to the 3 per cent rate in 1949.

2. Increase the tax rate from 1 per cent to 1¼ per cent in 1940; to 1½ per cent in 1941; to 1¾ in 1942 and follow the present schedule thereafter.

3. Increase the tax rate from 1 per cent to 1 1/6 per cent in 1940; to 1⅓ per cent in 1941, 1½ per cent in 1942 and follow the present schedule thereafter.

4. Omit the increase from 1 per cent to 1½ per cent scheduled for 1940, but step up the rates in 1943 and follow the present schedule thereafter.

Urges Board of Trustees.

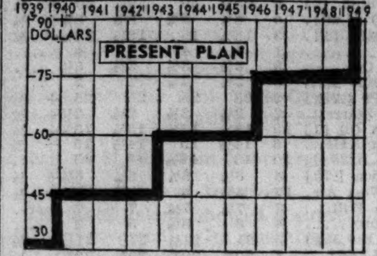
He urged congress to create a board of trustees to administer the old age fund. It would be composed of the chairman of the social security board, the secretary of labor and the secretary of the treasury. The secretary of the treasury would be the managing trustee for the fund and the board would be similar to that set up in administering the postal savings system.

"In periods of incomplete business recovery like the present," Morgenthau said, "the contributory old age insurance system should be so financed as to have the least possible deterring effect on business."

Wage Tax Plans

(Story in adjoining column.)

Graphs comparing present scheme of paying federal old age security tax with three alternative plans. The drawings show the amounts employers would pay. Equal amounts would be collected from employes.



The present tax of 1 per cent of salary (tax not exceeding $30) will be increased to 1½ per cent next year, with other increases later, under the existing law.

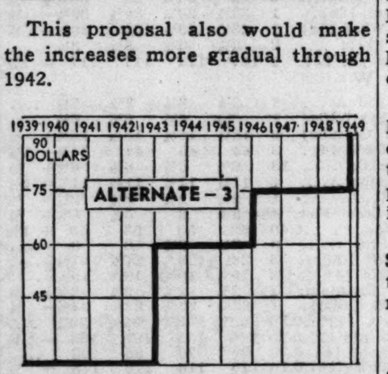
This proposal also would make the increases more gradual through 1942.



Under this plan there would be no advance until 1943, but then the rate would rise to 2 per cent and thereafter would follow the schedule of the present law.

ILLINOIS COAL OUTPUT EXCEEDS FEBRUARY, 1938

Springfield, Ill., March 24.—(AP)—Illinois coal production last month was 29.5 per cent larger than in February, 1938, the state department of mines and minerals reported today.

Last month's shipping mine production was 4,390,462 tons, as compared with 3,388,278 tons in February, 1938, and 4,423,376 tons for January of this year.

Production by counties last month: Christian, 343,175; Clinton, 14,361; Franklin, 976,980; Fulton, 319,407; Henry, 56,257; Jackson, 146,746; La Salle, 36,963; Macoupin, 385,486; Madison, 154,820; Montgomery, 69,992; Peoria, 105,633; Perry, 327,169; Randolph, 120,992; Saline, 327,069; Sangamon, 190,482; St. Clair, 168,366; Vermilion, 186,319; Washington, 30,819; Williamson, 196,889; all other counties, 238,037.

EASTER PARADE HELPS TRADE OF NATION'S STORES

The coming Easter parade made its first substantial impression on department store sales in the week ended March 18. The federal reserve board reported yesterday that national sales gained 5 per cent over those in the same 1938 week.

Stores in the seventh federal reserve district [Chicago area] fared even better. The turnover in this area was 6.8 per cent above that of a year ago. Chicago stores forged ahead with an advance of 8.3 per cent, the best this year.

Payments on Arrears.

A. M. Byers company declared a dividend of $1.25 and 34⅜c interest on the 7 per cent participating preferred shares of record April 10, payable May 1. Last payment was $2.50 and 53⅛c interest on Sept. 20, 1937. Arrears after payment excluding interest will total $39.67 a share.

The California-Oregon Power company has declared dividends of $1.50 on both the 6 per cent preferred and the 6 per cent preferred of 1927 and $1.75 on the 7 per cent preferred shares, all of record March 31 payable April 15. Arrears after payment on the 6 per cent preferred will total $6 and on the 7 per cent preferred, $7.

No Action.

Directors of the Parkersburg Rig and Reel company took no action on the common stock dividend. The last payment was 25 cents on Jan. 16. The firm paid $1.20 in 1938.

The letter "q" in the table refers to regular quarterly dividends; the letter "s" to regular semi-annual payments.

BORG-WARNER'S BUSINESS GAINS SINCE LATE '38

Upturn Reduces Loss of Earlier Months.

Business of the Borg-Warner corporation turned upward in the final quarter of 1938 and has maintained consistent improvement thus far in 1939, Charles S. Davis, president, reported to stockholders yesterday.

Charles S. Davis.

The last quarter upturn enabled the company to close 1938 with a net loss reduced to $19,966, compared with a net loss of $1,111,462 shown for the first nine months of the year.

In 1937 the company, producing a variety of automotive equipment and household appliances, had net income of $8,348,089, equal to $3.63 a share. The first nine months of 1937 had produced net income of $5,561,155, or $2.42 a share.

Sales Fall Sharply in 1938.

Detailing the "severe experience" of the company last year, Davis said sales were only 52 per cent of the 1937 volume. The improvement in business since the start of 1939, however, justified continuance of quarterly dividends at 25 cents a share, the same rate as was paid in December, he said. Each month of 1939 has produced a profit, he added.

Davis pointed out that last year's loss was figured after two items of extrordinary expense, $71,047 in settlement of royalties applicable to prior years, and $163,746 in transferring equipment to new plants.

Taxes of various types, he said, took $1,700,686 out of the year's income, the equivalent of 69 cents per common share.

Outlines Dividend Policy.

Davis said the company will follow its policy in dividend payments of maintaining "proper balance between the right of stockholders to receive a liberal distribution of current earnings, and prudent provision for ample working capital and extension of the business."

He divided 1938 sales into these classifications: Products directly related to the automotive industry, 52.8 per cent; refrigerators, other household equipment and oil burners, 31.88 per cent; agricultural implement parts, 6.54 per cent, and specialty steel and miscellaneous products, 8.78 per cent.

Orders for household appliances received in the first quarter of 1939 "indicate that 1939 will be much better than 1938" in this division, Davis told stockholders. The company spent $340,306 last year on research engineering in developing new products, and expended $2g7,143 in improvement of existing products, he said.

EDISON REVEALS TERMS OF NEW LOAN OFFERING

Stockholders of the Commonwealth Edison company will be permitted to subscribe to its proposed issue of 3½ per cent debentures on a basis of 36 "rights" for $100 of debentures, the company announced yesterday. Subscription warants, which are to be issued to stockholders of record at the close of business yesterday, will evidence the right to subscribe to 1-36th of a $100 debenture for each share of stock held.

The issue, which is due 1958, will approximate $25,300,000. It was registered with the Securities and Exchange commission on March 16 and a period of twenty days must elapse before it can be offered publicly. Subscription warants will be mailed if and when the registration becomes effective.

It is expected that the period during which stockholders may exercise their rights will be between April 5 and 18.

Wholesale Bacon Prices Lowest Since August, 1934

Wholesale bacon prices have been declining steadily since last fall and in the last few weeks have been at their lowest level since August, 1934, the Institute of American Meat Packers announced yesterday. The institute's analysis placed dry cured No. 1 smoked bacon at 18 per cent under the price of a year ago, with declines in the No. 2 grade ranging from 19 to 22 per cent.

Buys 48 Flat Building in Evanston for $176,000

Harry L. Drake, one of Chicago's most active buyers of apartment properties, yesterday purchased the forty-eight flat building at the southwest corner of Sherman avenue and Noyes street, Evanston. According to the revenue stamps on the deed Drake paid $176,000 to the Tower Castles Building corporation. The property is 164 by 200 feet.

New York Bank Clearings and Deposits Are Lower

The New York Clearing House association yesterday reported clearings in the week ended March 24 amounted to $3,242,240,597 compared with $4,005,592,467 in the preceding week. Total surplus and undivided profits were unchanged at $918,899,900. Total net demand deposits [average] decreased $24,329,000. Time deposits [average] decreased $209,000.

Overseas War Risk Insurance Rates Boosted

New York, March 24.—(AP)—War risk insurance rates on shipments to Europe will be doubled and tripled beginning Monday, placing them at the highest level since last September's "war scare."

At that time, immediately preceding and following the Munich conference, shippers had to pay $2 to $5 per $100 worth of goods consigned to Europe. For the last several months, however, the basic rate has been 12½ cents per $100 value.

The newest increase was decided upon today by a group of leading American marine insurance underwriters, on receipt of information that British underwriters had increased their rates.

Rates Rise on Hitler's Action.

Until last September the war risk premium had stood for years—ever since the last world war floating mine was swept up—at 2½ cents. But when Hitler took over Sudetenland from Czechoslovakia rates jumped.

"We heard reports at that time," said one marine underwriter, "that German submarines were standing by in the Atlantic shipping lanes."

He asserted American underwriters had no specific information causing them to expect war, but pointed out American companies with connections in London would be penalized by a wide variance in insurance rates offered on opposite sides of the Atlantic.

"We base our outlook purely on experience," the underwriter said. "We have learned that the main destruction to merchant shipping occurs early in a war, before defense measures are in operation.

Bombing Is New Threat.

"The unknown quantity at present is just how effective bombing planes may be. The convoy system proved a defense against submarines in the world war, but aerial bombing didn't amount to much in those days. Consequently, this unproven factor adds to marine insurance companies' worries."

Meanwhile, gold shippers had to pay premium insurance rates to get large consignments of the metal on fast liners sailing from Europe for the United States.

London Rates Boosted.

LONDON, March 24.—(AP)—Marine underwriters here put into effect substantial increases in war risk rates today, which in some instances were doubled. The higher rates were applied particularly to shipments on long voyages to European waters at deferred dates.

For instance, rates from Australia, New Zealand, the east and west coasts of South America and South Africa to Europe were doubled to 10 shillings [$2.34] for each £100 [$468].

The rate on a voyage to Atlantic ports in the United States and Canada were fixed at 2 shillings 6 pence [58 cents], compared with eastbound rates of 5 shillings [$1.17] per £100. Rates to the Pacific coast of the two countries were increased to double this amount.

MEMEL EXPORTS ARE DESIGNATED GERMAN GOODS

Washington, D. C., March 24.—(AP)—The treasury today designated Memel merchandise as German for customs purposes. An order to customs collectors instructed them to charge Memel merchandise the higher tarif rates applicable to Germany, and also the extra 25 per cent countervailing duty ordered by the treasury last Saturday to offset Germany's indirect export bounty.

The Memel order will have little customs significance because the whole of Lithuania sells less than $1,000,000 worth of merchandise a year to the United States.

One Ship Carries 56 Millions, a Record.

The movement of gold from Europe to the United States gathered additional momentum yesterday. The United States liner Manhattan left Southampton, England, with the largest single cargo of gold ever shipped out of Great Britain.

Arrangements were being made to send additional gold to the United States as rapidly as cargo space became available. Steamship companies are charging premium rates for hauling the metal and have all their available space booked ahead.

The Manhattan's cargo amounted to 12 million pounds sterling [about $56,160,000]. The shipment included £11,000,000 [$51,480,000] taken on at Southampton, and £1,000,000 [$4,680,000] loaded at Le Havre, France.

Week-end Movement Large.

It was conservatively estimated the total gold leaving Europe for the United States over the week-end would reach $93,000,000, including the Manhattan shipment. Other estimates indicated the movement would be twice that figure.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced that engagements were made yesterday in England for the shipment of an additional $14,862,000 at a later date.

The current gold movement is one of the heaviest in history. Foreign countries have been shipping gold to the United States at an abnormally heavy rate for several months. Shipments have been greatly increased since Germany began its expansion drive in central Europe.

Governments Send Metal.

Governments as well as individuals are sending their gold for safekeeping. Holland is reported to have transferred about 25 per cent of its gold reserve to New York in recent months as a precautionary step against the possibility of a European war that would threaten its traditionally neutral position in European politics.

Switzerland has also shipped out of the country as much gold as the laws of the country permit. The Swiss central bank is legally required to maintain a certain gold reserve within the country. The Swiss gold has gone largely to London and New York.

Gold imports in the week ended last Wednesday totaled $92,,000,000. In the preceding week receipts amounted to about $60,000,000. Most of the gold that is coming to this country is consigned to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Some of it is taken for the account of the treasury and part of it is left under earmark [storage] for foreign account in New York.

Gold Stock Sets Record.

The latter is not included in the American gold stock which now totals in excess of 15 billion 75 million dollars. The American holdings are, by a wide margin, the largest hoard ever assembled by one nation and are about 57 per cent of the total known world supply of monetary gold.

The 15 billion dollar level was passed late last week. In a little more than eight months the supply has grown 2 billion dollars. The present movement is the largest since the Munich crisis last summer and may exceed it.

European currencies were wabbly in exchange transactions in New York. The pound sterling fell ⅛ cent at $4.68 5-16, and the French franc lost 0.00625 cent, at 2.6475 cents. Swiss and Belgian currencies also closed lower.

Students' Skyscraper Home

This is an architect's sketch of the world's tallest university dormitory building which is to be built by Northwestern university at the northwest corner of Lake Shore drive and Huron street. It will be 210 feet in height and will house 700 students attending the professional schools and evening departments on the Chicago campus.

Gen. Electric's Stockholder Total Sets Peak

Ownership of the General Electric company at the close of 1938 was divided among a larger number of shareholders than has been listed in any previous annual report in the company's history. The 1938 statement, issued yesterday, placed the number at 208,580, an increase of 7,361 during the year. Within ten years, the number has more than trebled.

This increase in the ranks of stockholders followed the trend shown by virtually all big corporations within the last few years. Many set new high records in 1937 and 1938.

Employés Have Big Holding.

Through direct ownership and investments of an employés' association, General Electric employés held a substantial interest in the company's common stock. At the end of 1938, there were 28,845,927 shares of General Electric common stock outstanding. There were no bonds or other obligations.

In their annual report, Owen D. Young, chairman, and Gerard Swope, president, announced capital expenditures made during 1938 for improvement of plants and equipment totaled $11,998,983, against $20,593,146 in 1937. The reduction reflected lessened business activity.

Number of Employés Falls.

The number of employés averaged 59,917, compared with 75,212 in 1937, and their average earnings were $1,694, against $1,933 in 1937, which was the highest level in the company's history. The pay roll dropped to $101,511,000 from $145,358,000 in 1937.

Employés benefited to the extent of $3,298,000 last year from operation of the company's cost of living wage index plan, adopted in 1936, under which a total of $8,320,000 had been added to wages.

The company's 1938 net income was $27,729,329, as previously published, compared with $63,546,762 in 1937.

McKESSON PAYS BANK LOANS; HAS BIG CASH RESERVE

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—Liquidation of secured claims against the drug firm of McKesson & Robbins, Inc., in process of reorganization, was approved today by Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe.

He received a report from William J. Wardall, trustee in reorganization, showing that payments of substantial character have been made to several banks and that it would be consistent with good business principles to pay other claims because the corporation has a cash reserve of $8,500,000.

Payments already made and approved today by Judge Coxe were $1,081,890 to the First National bank of Chicago, $877,101 to the Guaranty Trust company of New York, and $83,687 to the Chase National bank of New York.

Bank Employes Subject to Wage and Hour Law

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Calvert Magruder, general counsel of wage and hour administration, today advised all banks to consider their employés subject to provisions of the fair labor standards act.

NORTHWESTERN TO START WORK ON SKYSCRAPER

Downtown Dormitory to House 700.

BY AL CHASE.

President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university said last night that construction will begin June 1 on a $1,700,000 skyscraper dormitory for the Chicago campus. The project was first announced last July. It will be at the northwest corner of Lake Shore drive and East Huron street.

It is said it will be the world's tallest structure to be used exclusively as a university dormitory. The tower section will be 210 feet above street level. It is expected to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1940. It will house 700 students.

The building will be "L" shaped, with its longest side on Huron street and the short side set back from Lake Shore drive. It will be directly across Huron street north from the Furniture Mart.

Will Conform to Plan.

It will be built entirely of Indiana limestone in conformity with the other buildings on the Chicago campus. Most of the rooms will face south and east.

Exercise facilities, including bowling alleys and squash courts, will be available in the basement. The ground floor will be occupied by lobbies and shops. On the second floor will be a library, a large lounge, a dining room accommodating 750 persons, the kitchens, three private dining rooms, and a lounge and dining room for the faculty.

Each residential floor will have single and double rooms to accommodate fifty-six students, also two shower rooms, two lavatories, and a large lounge facing the lake. Windows will be approximately five feet wide. Asphalt tile floors will be installed throughout.

Roof Garden for Recreation.

The building will have a flat roof over one wing at the tenth floor level which will be used as a recreational roof garden. There will be three high speed passenger elevators.

Arrangements have been made so the fifteen fraternities which occupy temporary residences near the campus, may reserve a floor, or part of a floor, for their exclusive use.

According to President Scott the new dormitory will relieve the congestion in near north side housing for some of the 1,515 students enrolled in the schools of law, medicine, and dentistry.

The skyscraper dormitory will be the eighth structure on Northwestern university's fourteen acre Chicago campus where the professional schools and evening departments are located.

Union Pacific to Build 300 Cars in Omaha Shops

The Union Pacific railroad will build 300 fifty-two foot flat cars in its Omaha shops at a cost of $750,000, W. M. Jeffers, president, announced yesterday. The program will give work to 100 extra men, he said.

'EXPORT' OF AMERICAN BANKERS MAY SOON BALANCE GOLD INFLOW

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—Wall street joked today about the heavy movement of American bankers to Europe. The outbound liner Queen Mary carried among its passengers J. P. Morgan, Winthrop W. Aldrich, Chase National bank chairman, and George Whitney, Morgan partner. Also aboard was Albert L. Schomp, president of the American Bank Note company.

Wall streeters quipped that the export of American bankers to Europe may soon balance the shipments of European gold to the United States. From Southampton it was reported that the largest cargo of gold ever to leave England was on its way to the United States.

Morgan said he would board his yacht, Corsair, at Monte Carlo, for a vacation cruise. Whitney said he will join his wife in Europe for a holiday. Aldrich said he will attend a committee meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce in Copenhagan April 22. Mr. Schomp said he is taking a routine business trip.

FORD OF CANADA REPORTS DIP IN 1938 EARNINGS

Profit Equals $1.96 Per Share.

The Ford Motor Company of Canada yesterday reported 1938 net income of $3,253,176, equal to $1.96 a share. The company earned $3,773,043, or $2.27 a share, in 1937. Last year's profit included $1,651,473 of dividends from overseas subsidiaries, against $3,429,489 from this source in 1937.

The company's 1938 financial results made a better comparison with those of 1937 than did most of the American automobile producers whose reports have been published recently.

Results of the Ford Motor company of Detroit have not been made public, and never are revealed in detail, because the stock is closely held among members of the Ford family. They also hold a substantial interest in the Canadian company.

Reports Record Profit.

The report of Creameries of America, Inc., showed 1938 net earnings at the highest point in the company's history. Net income of $433,867 was equivalent to 90 cents a share. In 1937 net income was $407,432, or 84 cents a share.

Most of the other annual reports issued during the day showed less satisfactory earnings than in 1937, but several corporation executives reported improved operations since the beginning of 1939.

Net income of the United Gas Improvement company in 1938 was $26,053,950, equal after preferred dividends to 96 cents a share on common stock. The company in 1937 earned $23,957,350, or $1.05 a share.

A preliminary 1938 statement of the International Telephone and Telegraph corporation placed net income at $7,038,590, equivalent to $1.10 a share. It earned $10,236,149 or $1.60 a share in 1937.

Has Large Income.

United Public Utilities corporation reported for 1938 net income of $295,180, against $288,917 in 1937. Samuel W. White, president, said that 11 cents of each dollar of income went for taxes last year.

Operations of the Otis Steel company resulted in a net loss of $1,230,296 for 1938, against net profit of $3,320,030 in 1937.

Sales of the Jefferson Electric company thus far in the year have "gained appreciably over 1938, and prospects are more promising than at any time during the last 15 months," said John A. Bennan, president. The company's 1938 report showed net profit of $72,523, equal to 60 cents a share, compared with 1937 net profit of $471,981, or $3.93 a share.

Jarvis' Business Gains.

L. A. Jarvis, president of the W. B. Jarvis company, manufacturing automobile hardware, announced a sharp improvement in business. He placed net earnings for the first three months of 1939 at $1.25 a share, against actual earnings of 32 cents a share in the initial quarter of 1938. Jarvis said earnings per share for the first half of 1939 "will compare favorably with any similar period in our history."

Lewis H. Brown, president of the Johns-Manville corporation, told stockholders that first quarter estimates of earnings do not justify resuming common dividends on a regular basis. Such action, he said, "depends upon sustained recovery and better business and that cannot be foreseen in view of complicated domestic and international situations at present."

He said that although first quarter sales were only slightly ahead of last year, the company expected a more substantial increase in the full year 1939.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 24.—Continuing its recovery the stock market today made gains running to 2 points. Industrial stocks led the upturn. Trading was quiet, however, at only 645,330 shares.

Absence of new unfavorable developments in Europe, coupled with a fair amount of short covering were regarded the chief reasons for the market's good performance. Business news also was interpreted constructively.

The list started fractions to more than 1 point higher, with quite a few blocks of 1,000 and 2,000 shares moving in the first few minutes. After a period of quiet a flurry of buying came in to send prices up to 3 points higher.

Light selling in the afternoon brought about some concessions from the day's highs. This liquidation was attributed to evening up operations by traders who wished to stand clear to avoid possible fresh unfavorable developments over the week-end.

Among the most active higher issues were United States Rubber, up 1 point; General Motors, ⅞; Chrysler, 1⅞; United States Steel, 1⅛; Republic Steel, ¼; Bethlehem Steel, 1¼; General Electric, ⅝; Anaconda Copper, ½, and Montgomery Ward, ¾. New York Central showed the way higher in the carrier section. It gained ½ point in an active market. Minor fractional gains ruled among power and light shares. Several aircraft issues stood out with substantial gains. Douglas, United Aircraft, Boeing, and Sperry corporation gained 1 to about 2 points.

Among high priced issues Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, and American Telephone and Telegraph added about 2 points apiece.

New York Bonds.

New York, March 24.—(AP)—Bonds erased a little more of the week's "war scare" loss in a quiet session today. Gains ran to a point or more in many domestic corporate issues and to a top of more than 4 in the foreign division.

Most United States government loans were on the plus side by 1-32d to 8-32ds point. Turnover was small in a majority of the treasuries.

Rail loans turned in an impressive number of gains despite widening indications of conflict between certain carrier organizations on the desired type of railroad aid legislation.

The volatile Italian group in the foreign section accounted for some of the biggest advances. Rome 6½s pushed up 4⅝ to close at 55½. Italy 7s rose 3 and Milan 6½s climbed 2½. Belgian and German issues picked up a point or more. A few South Americans edged up fractions to a point.

Chicago Stocks.

Principal Chicago stocks sold at higher levels yesterday raising THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE average to 10.88 from 10.67 Thursday. Midland Utilities 6 per cent prior lien stock assumed volume leadership, advancing ½ to ¾ on a turnover of 9,660 shares. The company's 7 per cent prior lien shares advanced fractionally. Both issues sold at their highest prices of the year.

Zenith Radio improved ¾ and several issues closed unchanged. Commonwealth Edison, selling ex rights, closed fractionally higher. Borg-Warner was off a point in limited trading.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stock prices were most steady yesterday in more active trading, dealers said. City National shares declined $1. American National and Continental Illinois stock gained $1 and First National, $3.

COTTON

Cotton prices held within a narrow range yesterday. The unsettled foreign political situation and uncertainty regarding the outcome of proposed legislation at Washington combined to restrict trading in American and foreign markets. Closing trades on American exchanges were unchanged to .07 cents a pound lower.

Spot cotton closed .03 to .05 cent lower, with New York, 8.90 cents; New Orleans, 8.65 cents; Galveston, 8.42 cents, and Houston at 8.40 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Commodities

Most commodities moved uncertainly in a narrow range yesterday, with slight gains in the majority at the close of trading. Futures contract prices in tin straits closed ½ cent a pound higher at New York. The advance followed news from abroad that export quotas of the metal had been curtailed by the international tin committee.

Commodities which showed gains included hides at New York, up 0.15 to 0.18 cent a pound; rubber, up 0.02 to 0.05 cent a pound; copper, up 0.02 to 0.04 cent a pound, and cocoa, up 0.01 to 0.03 cent a pound.

Cottonseed oil, sugar, and silk were on the downside or unchanged. Season's lows in May lard and general uneasiness throughout the commodities list dropped cottonseed oil futures prices to net losses of 6 to 8 points. Short covering at New York steadied the market slightly above the day's lows. Domestic sugar prices finished unchanged to 0.02 cent a pound lower. Silk was steady to ½ cent higher. Santos coffee futures advanced, but Rios were unchanged.

WESTERN RAIL HEADS OPPOSE FEDERAL PLANS

Proposals of Roosevelt's Committee Flailed.

Proposed legislation designed "to save the railroads" was discussed yesterday at a regular meeting of the Association of Western Railway Executives at the Union League club. Discussion among about forty executives brought out, according to reliable reports, a continuation of the opposition to some of the key proposals in the program for rail relief set up by the committee of six appointed by President Roosevelt.

The western railroads are opposed especially to the proposals for the setting up of a transportation board and for the creation of a special court to handle railroad bankruptcies.

Censure Resolution Tabled.

It was reported that two resolutions were tabled at the meeting, one of which would have censured the directors of the Association of American Railroads for having approved the Roosevelt committee's program.

The tenor of yesterday's meeting was harmonious, it was said, because almost every one attending opposed the committee's program.

Most of the western executives, it is said, favor the railroad relief program set forth last spring at a full meeting of the Association of American Railroads. Among other points the program advocated revision of legislation governing labor relations, repeal of the land grant act, and other items.

Fletcher Explains Plans.

Judge R. V. Fletcher, vice president and general chairman of the Association of American Railroads, addressed yesterday's meeting at the invitation of C. E. Johnston, chairman of the western executives' association. He commented on the various legislative programs being presented to congress.

The western roads are centering their attacks on the proposal for a transportation board and the special court. They say they want no more control over their affairs than they now have.

Creation of a transportation board, they assert, would compel them to make more reports, increase expenses and result in dual authority.

TWO BIG RAILS' NET OPERATING INCOMES CLIMB

Totals Are Far Ahead of Year Earlier.

A substantial increase in net operating income for February compared with February, 1938, was reported yesterday by the Pennsylvania and New York Central—two of the nation's largest carriers. The Pennsylvania's net operating income showed a $1,952,530 increase and the New York Central's gain was $2,150,440.

The Pennsylvania's February net operating income was $3,735,617 compared with $1,783,087 a year ago. Gross revenues totaled $29,472,537 against $25,519,900. The New York Central's February net operating income was $561,651 compared with an operating deficit of $1,588,789 in February, 1938.

Rock Island Improves.

The Rock Island showed a substantial improvement. Its operating deficit for February was $201,471 compared with an operating deficit of $300,984 a year earlier. However, the road had a net operating income of $66,877 for the first two months of this year compared with an operating deficit of $459,527 in 1938.

The first twelve roads to report net operating income for February had a 246.1 per cent gain over February, 1938. Gross revenues increased 8.9 per cent.

Net operating income is income before provision for bond interest and other fixed charges. Net income is income after provision for these charges.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Saplings Damaged.

March 24, 1939.

WINTER has left scars on scores of small crab and thornapple trees which are growing north of the big farm pond. You have to blame winter for the damage that has been done to the saplings although actually the cottontail rabbits did it. When the snow covered the ground and deprived the rabbits of their usual food supplies, the animals put their sharp teeth to work on the bark of the small trees. They gnawed scores of these saplings, most of which are only three to five feet high.

When we walked through the grove of haw and scrub oak trees north of the big pond this week we couldn't help notice the large number of scarred trees. Standing in just one spot we counted more than a dozen of them. One four foot sapling has been so bent over and splintered near its base that the cottontails could work on the whole length of it. The animals did a thorough job on this one. They stripped just about all of the bark from it.

Nesting Season for Geese.

The Canada geese on the big pond no longer move around in one large flock. During the winter months or late in the fall you will see these handsome birds together in a more or less compact group. Now they move in pairs. March has come and nesting season is at hand, so the birds have paired off and shortly will begin to build their big nests around the water. The flockmaster was saying this week that it won't be long until the honkers move back into the grass and brush around the pond and start their nests.

The black swans are going to take part in a little rodeo stunt that they don't know about as vet. Ever since they managed to slip out of their winter quarters and move out to the big pond the flockmaster has been figuring on a way to get them over to a smaller pond. This smaller body of water is known as Round pond. It's a pretty little pool with a clump of cattails on one side and it makes an ideal spot for water birds. One spring a pair of king rails came up on the spring migration and nested around this pond.

Swans Worry Honkers.

According to the flockmaster the most practical way to move the black swans to Round pond is to sort of "herd" them through the woods to their summer home. In other words he is figuring on a slow, leisurely swan "drive" to get the birds to their old summering place. The birds will be persuaded to go through an opening in the fence around the pond where they now are, and then slowly shooed along until they reach the other pond. If left with the geese the swans worry the honkers so much that the poor geese can't enjoy a quiet, peaceful nesting season.

The traps used to catch song birds on the farm are going to be cleaned out, baited with a grain mixture and put into operation next week so that more migrants may be banded. [The farm has a federal banding permit for this purpose.] Last fall and winter a number of species of song birds including juncos, cardinals, towhees, and catbirds were caught in the farm traps, given a band with a number on it and then released. This spring several more traps will be added to the battery in use last season.

WHEAT CLOSES LOWER DESPITE BELATED RALLY

Wheat futures declined about ½ cent a bushel in the early trading yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. The May contract sold at 67 cents at one time, or within ¼ cent of the lowest price so far this year. Buying by brokers who frequently act for cash interests absorbed the offerings on the decline and a rally followed. Closing trades were ⅛ cent a bushel lower.

Operations in corn and other grains were restricted. Corn closed unchanged and oats were unchanged to ⅛ cent a bushel lower.

Lard futures declined 5 to 7½ cents per 100 pounds yesterday to a new low price since 1934. Final trades were at the low point. Selling by cash interests more than offset commission house buying.

The Department of Agriculture estimated yesterday that the 1939 American wheat crop would be about 685,000,000 bushels if yields on indicated acreage are about average. Such a crop would be materially smaller than last year's production of 930,000,000 bushels and about equal to domestic requirements for one year.

The department also estimated that surplus wheat on July 1, when the new crop marketing season begins, would be about 275,000,000 bushels. The surplus on the same date last year was 154,000,000 bushels.

Michael J. Meehan's Son Buys Stock Exchange Seat

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—The New York Stock exchange today announced that Joseph A. Meehan, youngest son of Michael J. Meehan, noted market operator, has contracted to buy the seat of Edwin D. Blumenthal for $60,000. The transfer will be considered by the exchange's committee on admissions on April 6. Young Meehan is a senior at Fordham university. If his application is approved he will probably be the first undergraduate member of the exchange.

WHAT CIGARS?

Investors' Guide: I noticed your recent comparison of the 1938 sales and net income of the "big three" cigaret makers. This prompts me to ask for more data on American Tobacco company. What cigars does this company make? Also, what is its relationship, if any, with American Cigarette and Cigar company?—E. K. J.

Answer: American Tobacco company manufactures and sells several brands of cigars. These include Cremo, Chancellor, Childs, El Roi Tan, Anthony y Cleopatra, and two brands of "little" cigars—Piccadilly and Sweet Caporal.

American Cigarette and Cigar company is controled by American Tobacco. The former leases an American Tobacco company plant at Durham, N. C., and under a lease arranged in 1936 American Cigarette and Cigar makes Pall Mall cigarettes. This lease calls for a yearly rental of $52,000 and extends to Dec. 31, 2030.

OTIS DIVIDENDS.

Investors' Guide: Can you please tell me the dates and amounts of dividend payments made during 1938 by the Otis Elevator company on its common stock? Also, what were the record dates for these payments.—C. G.

Answer: Four quarterly dividends of 15 cents each were paid in 1938 on Otis Elevator common stock. These were as follows:

February 25	March 21
May 27	June 20
August 31	September 20
November 11	December 12

SOCIAL SECURITY CLAIM.

Investors' Guide: I reach the ripe old age of 65 next week. Since Jan. 1, 1937, my employer has deducted social security payments regularly from my weekly pay check and, of course, now that I soon will be entitled to these payments I want to file a claim. I know that ordinarily payment would not be made until 1942 but that one can collect before that date on reaching age 65. Where do I go and what do I have to do?—M. J. C.

Answer: You may start the ball rolling toward filing your claim by writing or calling at the Chicago office of the Social Security board. This office is located at 225 South Clark street. Give them your name and social security account number. You will then be given the necessary papers, including a "wage earner's application" and a "statement of employer." Fill these out, have your employer take care of those he is required to sign, and then return them to the office from which you received them. They in turn will forward these claims to Washington.

If your claim is approved by the Social Security board, it will be certified to the treasury department which will send you a check.

CUT IN TAX AIDS GEN. HOUSEHOLD TO REORGANIZE

U. S. Agrees to Reduction in Its Claim.

The government yesterday agreed to a sharp reduction in its income tax claim against the General Household Utilities company, paving the way for reorganization of the company and reëmployment of 3,000 workers.

Assistant United States District Attorney David Bazelon consented to a plan filed with Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan, who has jurisdiction over the company's reorganization proceedings. He said the company plans to put 1,500 men to work when production is begun on a new type refrigerator in its plant at 2638 North Pulaski road.

Will Sell Indiana Plant.

The company's plant at Marion, Ind., is to be sold to the Farnsworth Television and Radio corporation, which will employ another 1,500 in producing television equipment, Bazelon said.

The government agreed to reduce its income tax claim to $76,000 from the original $110,000. The company will pay the collector of internal revenue $30,000 at once and pledge 8,334 shares of Farnsworth stock as security for payment of the balance in periodic instalments of $3,000, concluding March 3, 1943.

Terms of Plant Sale.

For its Marion plant General Household will receive $270,000 in cash and 25,000 shares of the Farnsworth company, which recently registered an issue of 660,000 shares of $1 par value stock with the Securities and Exchange commission.

Bazelon said General Household has already paid $100,000 in back taxes since reorganization proceedings were instituted in 1936. The company is an outgrowth of a consolidation of the United States Radio and Television corporation with the Grunow corporation. Its chairman is William C. Grunow, former president of the Grigsby-Grunow company.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Hogs declined mostly 10 to 15 cents in an unsatisfactory trade yesterday. Supplies were small, but warmer weather and some slowness in wholesale pork channels restricted buying.

Weakness prevailed in most branches of the cattle trade yesterday. It was cleanup day and demand was slack, due partly to the plain quality of offerings.

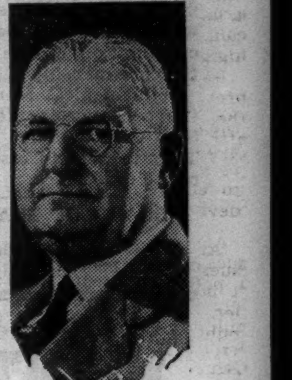
THREE BIG FIRMS' SALARIES, STOCK HOLDINGS LISTED

Revealed in Solicitations of Proxies.

Salaries of certain officers and stock holdings of directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, the Inland Steel company and the Brunswick-Balke Collender company were disclosed yesterday in solicitations for proxies sent stockholders. All three have their headquarters in Chicago. Brunswick makes pool and billiard equipment, bar fixtures, and other items.



E. G. Seubert paid $115,400 in year.

Several other companies also disclosed similar information in proxy solicitations.

Salaries paid Standard Oil executives were: E. G. Seubert, president, $115,400; C. J. Barkdull, vice-president, $65,400; Allan Jackson, vice-president, $59,400.

Stock Holdings Given.

Stock holdings of Standard directors were: Seubert, 15,961 shares; Barkdull, 3,843; Jackson, 1,600; Amos Ball, 2,330; E. J. Bullock, 5,914; H. F. Glair, 788; Bruce Johnstone, 125; Roy F. McConnell, 853; Max G. Paulus, 2,026; A. W. Peake, 2,409; L. L. Stephens, 2,554 and Judson F. Stone, 700.

The Inland solicitation said L. E. Block, chairman of the board, was paid $56,250 salary in 1938; E. L. Ryerson Jr., vice chairman, $56,250, and W. Sykes, assistant to the president, $48,250.

Stock holdings of directors, including stock held directly in their names and that held beneficially, follow: J. L. Block, 10,090 shares; L. E. Block, 27,018; P. D. Block, 24,858; E. D. Graff, 5,041; G. H. Jones, 55,526; W. A. Hendrick, none; Louis Kuehn, 12,686; August J. Luedke, 6,683; C. B. Randall, 835; E. L. Ryerson Jr., 56,783; J. T. Ryerson, 45,304; H. H. Straus, 1,060; Sykes, 890; W. D. Truesdale, 300, and J. H. Morris, who is a candidate for the board, 110.

R. F. Bensinger, president of Brunswick, was paid $25,210 salary. Directors' stock holdings were: 49,741; B. E. Bensinger, 50,080 shares; J. O. Matteson, 140; Julius J. Hoffman, 900; William C. Lawson, 250; John M. Hancock, 5, and H. A. Friedlich, 100.

Woman Holds Most Stock.

Mrs. Marjorie Post Davies, daughter of the founder of a predecessor company, was the largest stockholder among twelve nominees listed for election as directors of the General Foods corporation. Her holdings were 358,225 shares. The company paid Colby M. Chester $122,000 as chairman, Clarence Francis $107,999 as president, and Austin S. Iglehart $79,999 as vice president.

Rufus L. Patterson received $40,000 in 1938 as president of the American Machine and Foundry company and in addition was paid $148,000 as a percentage of the profits of a subsidiary, International Cigar Machinery company. He was the largest stockholder, owning 38,806 shares.

GATINEAU POWER FILES $62,599,000 REFUNDING LOAN

The Gatineau Power company, which operates hydro-electric power plants in Canada, yesterday filed with the Securities and Exchange commission an issue of $62,599,000 of first mortgage bonds, 3¾ per cent, series A and series B, due 1969. This is said to be the largest Canadian corporate issue ever to be registered with the SEC.

E. Gordan Gale, president of the company, said that proceeds of the sales of the bonds and of 35,000 shares of the company's 5½ per cent preferred stock, together with a $7,300,000 bank loan, will be used for payment on June 1 of the company's $68,014,000 first mortgage 5s, due 1956. The bonds will be retired at 104.

It is expected that a group headed by the First Boston corporation will underwrite the new issue.

Cook County Tax Warants Sold on 1.47% Yield Basis

The Cook county board yesterday sold $5,150,000 of 1939 tax anticipation warants at an average interest cost of 1.47 per cent. Clayton B. Smith, president of the board, said the interest rate sets an all time low for Cook county and that it was the result of a "healthy financial condition." The buyers were an investment house group headed by Stifel, Nicolaus & Co., and A. C. Allyn & Co. The warants represent 62 per cent of the 1939 tax levy.

SMITTY—DELAY

STOCK EXCHANGE ASKS DELAY IN NEW TRADE RULE

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—The New York Stock exchange is reported to be negotiating with the Securities and Exchange commission for a postponement of the April 1 effective date of the regulation prohibiting trading on margin by member firms which handle commission business from the public, and by general partners of such firms.

It is believed that the extension will be granted. One of the reasons for the request for the postponement is said to be a desire on the part of officials of the exchange to make a more complete study of corporate affiliates of brokerage firms.

The proposed rule was an outgrowth of the recommendations made in January, 1938, by the special committee which was appointed to study the reorganization of the exchange under the chairmanship of Carle C. Conway.

NEAR NORTH SIDE

NEAR THE LAKE

and near so many interesting things, with only a short walk to and from your office in the loop? [Perhaps you need that walk.] You will really feel at home if you live in the Cook Estate. We have and other things to make you comfortable, and we try to take care of you after you do get in. Do you like a huge living room most unusual in design, flooded with both north and south light with 4 other rooms and 2 baths? Or a little heated 2 bedroom shaggy-roofed house in a little Pomander Walk at the second floor level? Or apartments with bay windows and combination dressing and sleeping rooms? 1 to 6 rooms. All on or near North Michigan-avenue.

A BRAND NEW BUILDING

Answers Your Question:

Must all apartments be alike?

They certainly need not be—but only a NEW building can possibly have all the lovely modern features and artistic touches you have long hoped for.

Apartments of the future will be like these—full of atmosphere, beauty and finesse; livable beyond words. You'll exclaim with delight at the amazing wall effects, the parquet floors, the gleaming metal kitchens, the great daylight windows, concealed radiation, private parkway, and many other features too numerous to mention.
